

THANKSGIVING

—1918—

Liberty loving America pauses in this war wasted world for a day, to observe the custom inaugurated by our Pilgrim forefathers. It warmly can welcome the promise of peace, because that shall mean right rather than might, kindness rather than kultur, brotherhood rather than barbarism, democracy rather than autocracy, humanity rather than brutality.

Truly all of us are thankful that a better order of things shall be left a heritage to following generations, and are sincere in that thanks for the opportunity each has been given, to make his personal sacrifice on the high altar of civilization. Inspired by such thoughts, America pledges its power for a permanent peace on this feast day of freedom.

Getting things adjusted to a peace basis is more of a job than many figured. We're going to have some work that will require much careful thought in order to not work a hardship on people.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kribs came over from Bend yesterday upon learning of the death of his brother, James. We have not seen them so do not know whether it is their intention to remain here for any length of time or not.

Rather cold weather has prevailed during the past week with a flurry of snow. It was predicted that the "Jack frost" would put a quietus to the "flu" but it seems to flourish just about as well in cold weather as otherwise.

With the cancellation of several big orders for wooden ships and the discontinuance of the spruce timber cutting by the government together with the discharge of men from the cantonments it looks like we are going to have a lot of the boys ready to help at other things at once.

Dell Dibble is carrying one arm around these days with care. He was cutting up the other day and acting like a colt in the dining room when he slipped and fell, the jar causing an injury to his shoulder blade. He has suffered somewhat but is now better.

Born—Thursday, Nov. 28, to Mr. and Mrs. Olson at the Island Ranch, a daughter. Too bad to have birthday on Thanksgiving day but it won't always come when the Thanksgiving dinner will take the place of a birthday dinner, so the little lady may enjoy that distinction just occasionally.

With the war closing down without previous warning and the "flu" continuing to hold forth the newspaper man is up against it for live news these days. It is so seldom any one comes to town that we are in the habit of following strangers around when we see them like we were really a country place.

The Times-Herald learned today from a neighbor that Dell Cryder had the misfortune to get his leg broken yesterday while hauling hay out on Silver Creek. He was alone when the load tipped over and it took him several hours to mount one of his horses and get to where he could secure aid. An auto came along and he was brought to the hospital in this city last night.

Thos. Morgan was up from his homestead during the week looking after some business affairs for Mrs. H. A. Pearce. Mr. Morgan states that the neighbors have been very kind to Mrs. Pearce since the death of her husband and she is most grateful. She has been provided with vegetables and wood as well as other things for the comfort of herself and her children and that they will be taken care of in that neighborhood during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dibble were among our Silver Creek visitors this week. Frank suggested that we had better make a note of his experience with his gasoline tank in order that others might be warned. He intended coming to town in the morning of the day he came over but it was after two o'clock in the afternoon before he got his gas tank thawed out, therefore he suggests that car owners better drain their gas tanks as well as their radiators, or they may find themselves up against it.

Chas. Owen is in town today.

Do your Christmas shopping early.

G. A. Collier was over from Silver Creek in company with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dibble the other day.

G. C. Davis, B. B. Davis and H. G. Munyon, all of Filer, Idaho, are in this vicinity buying horses.

I. Wybra, who had been employed at the Lampshire Garage during the past season, left last night for Butte Montana.

Lem Lowe is down from his home at Harney today looking after some business and greeting his many friends in this city.

When the war began the Kaiser was the Man of the Hour. But now new republics in Germany seem to be the tendency of the Hour.

Lost—Between the Lawen store and my home, a ladies open face gold watch. Initials M. I. on back. $15.00 reward.—M. Iland Catterson.

Mrs. Frances Clark made a trip to Portland this week, leaving last Sunday afternoon, where she attended a meeting in connection with the food conservation.

A school meeting was held this afternoon when action was taken on the budget and Geo. Sizemore was elected a director to fill out the term until the annual election in June next.

The Times-Herald is informed that Miss Pauline Locher arrived here from Portland yesterday morning and will take care of her sister, Mrs. A. R. Olson, and the new daughter. Miss Locher is a trained nurse who has had much experience.

A. C. Volmer is in town and navigating with difficulty as he bursted a blood vessel in his leg the other day. He said it came suddenly and felt as though his leg had been hit a severe blow. After a short time he was unable to walk but it gradually got better and he finally went to work but it grew worse again and he is here to consult a physician and will follow his advice by staying off his feet until it is better.

This brings the Harney County Abstract Co., of which Mr. Faulkner is the owner, an additional fire insurance business that makes it the biggest concern writing insurance in this section. Mr. Faulkner has some of the best and strongest companies and his insurance business will require considerable attention.

AFTER THE WAR—180,000,000 people in hungry lands will look to America for food which no other people can give them. In their misery and famine, Belgium, Northern France, Central Russia, Servia, Montenegro, Poland, Rumania and Armenia will cry to us. From us food must come. We must save that we may give. It is America's mission, our opportunity to serve.

Millinery's Air Fleet Arrives

The air division of winter millinery has arrived. Like "over there," they go up in the air. Instead of wings of silk, though, satin and velvet rule in these high climbers. On the left, the towering folds of satin has a mafine edge, which slightly shades the eyes. In the center, black and gray checks top a turban flaunting small black wings. On the right, is a black velvet turban with mole squares, in lovely effect.

When we think we're getting the best of the "flu" it breaks out new again and therefore we are going to let the matter take its course and when the time arrives when it is entirely safe to resume the schools and restricted business concerns we will announce it.

Well, there's a place for every Harney county boy who comes back at some job or other, as we are all short handed, but incidentally we might add we're also short "funded" by the higher cost of living and aiding the several war enterprises and buying Liberty Bonds. Uncle Sam says to hold on to your bonds, so guess we'll have to ask the banks to help us over the high tide.
