

LOOMS FIRST WOMAN AMBASSADORETTE

The first woman ambassador looms in the immediate future. She is Rosika Schwimmer and has been nominated by the new Hungarian government for a post in Switzerland, where she now resides. Madame Schwimmer is said to be the Ford peace ship originator and was a member of that futile mission.

MR. HOOVER'S MESSAGE.

Again in full confidence, I call upon the American people to set aside Sunday, December first, and the week following, for the consideration of America's opportunity for renewed service and sacrifice.

Last summer, when the military situation was acute, we assured the inter-allied food conference in London that whatever the war food program of the Allies required, we were prepared to meet; that the conference need not consider whether or not we had the supplies, we were prepared to find them; we pledged ourselves by the voluntary economy of our people to have the reserves in food to supply all necessities. The ending of the war does not release us from the pledge. The same populations must be fed and until another season has passed they cannot feed themselves.

The change in the foreign situation necessarily alters the details of our food program because the freeing of the seas from submarine menace renders accessible the wheat supplies of India, Australia and the Argentine. The total food demand upon the United States is not diminished, however. On the contrary, it is increased. In addition to the supplying of those to whom we are already pledged we now have the splendid opportunity and obligation of meeting the needs of those millions of people in the hitherto occupied territories who are facing actual starvation. The people of Belgium, Northern France, Serbia, Roumania, Montenegro, Poland, Russia and Armenia rely upon America for immediate aid. We must also participate in the preservation of the newly liberated nations in Austria; nor can we ignore the effect on the future world developments of a famine condition among these other people whom we have recently released from our enemies. All these considerations mean that upwards of two hundred million people in addition to those we are already pledged to serve, are now looking to us in their misery and famine. Our appeal today is therefore larger than the former appeal to the "war conscience" of our people. The new appeal is to the "world conscience" which must be the guiding inspiration of our future program. The President of the United States has asked me to take charge for this government of this work; to perfect and enlarge the arrangements for food stuffs to the populations of Belgium and France now being released and to organize and determine the need of provisions to the liberated peoples of Southern Europe to prevent such debacle as has taken place in Russia.

The determining factor for the success of such an enlarged appeal will be the vivid consciousness in every individual in each community of obligation and opportunity. It is that common recognition of obligation that we now wish to create. Such an intelligent "world conscience" in the American people must be the main dependence of the stricken countries of the World until normal conditions are once more restored.

America by her participation in the war has accomplished her objectives of self-defense, of vindicating the efficiency of a government in which the people and the people only are sovereign. She has established the foundations of government by the people throughout the enemy countries and is thus the real bulwark of world peace. We have yet to build on these foundations. No government nor nation can stand if its people are starving. We must do our part if the world be not consumed in a flame of anarchy.

The American people in this most critical period of their history have the opportunity to demonstrate not only their ability to assist in establishing peace on earth, but also their consecration by self-denial to the cause of suffering humanity.

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER.

ANNOUNCEMENT

It affords us a great deal of pleasure to announce that we have completed our new garage building, which is frost and fire proof, and are now in a position to take care of the trade in a satisfactory manner, as we have enlarged the shop and are installing the latest modern machinery to do all classes of automobile work, acetylene welding, battery charging and repairing.

We have enroute a car load of Ford touring cars, also a Fordson Tractor will be on display in a few days.

Any one desirous of obtaining a Ford Car or a Fordson Tractor will please call early as the supply will be very limited until late next summer.

HERE ARE SMILES YOU HELPED GET

Did you help get the smiles of these two faces. It is a new picture of two great women leaders, Commander Eva Booth, head of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. Henry P. Davidson, head of the Y. W. C. A. They are smiling while being told that the United War Work fund had "gone over the top." As all know, this fund of $170,500,000 was needed for relief work despite the fact that the armistice was signed the day the campaign was launched.

Great for "Flu and "Grip" Cough

"I had an awful cold that left me with a dreadful cough," says Mrs. E. Smith, Benton, La. Bought Foley's Honey and Tar of our druggist and it cured me completely. This granule remedy should be in every household at this time, when influenza, grip, coughs are so prevalent. Contains no opiates.

PURPOSES OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION THE DAY OF ITS BEGINNING.

The hopes of the Food Administration are threefold: So to guide the trade in fundamental food commodities as to eliminate vicious speculation, extortion and wasteful practices and to stabilize prices in essential staples.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917.

SEVEN LOAVES OF BREAD FOR EVERY PERSON IN U. S. SAVED FROM WASTE

Farmers and Threshermen Patriotically Respond to Call of Food Administration.

From information received by the U. S. Food Administration from the principal grain growing states, it is now possible to announce with fair accuracy the amount of wheat saved last harvest by improved methods of handling. According to official calculations, efforts toward cleaner threshing saved fully 10,000,000 bushels of wheat with corresponding savings of other small grain harvested and threshed in a similar manner. In addition, other states, though unable to furnish figures, reported greatly reduced harvest losses.

The figure for wheat alone is equivalent to seven one-pound loaves of bread for every person in the United States and represents food that formerly was either an absolute loss or was recovered to only a slight extent by poultry and livestock. While opportunities in this branch of conservation were large, the quantity of grain recovered surpasses early expectations. It is noteworthy also that results were secured principally through voluntary co-operation.

No conservation measure of the Food Administration, it is declared, has received more wholehearted support than that pledged and rendered by farmers and threshermen toward reducing grain waste at its source.

Do you remember when food control by voluntary action was deemed a daring adventure in democracy?
