

READING CIRCLE COURSE FOR TEACHERS.

Through the kindness of Principal Sutton of the public school we are able to publish the list of books prescribed by the department of education of this state for teachers to read. In fact is necessary that these books be read according to extracts from the law. During the period that schools are closed because of the influenza epidemic is a good time to read these books.

The following is taken from the pamphlet sent out by the state superintendent of public instruction.

Extracts From The Law.

All certificates issued by the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be valid and entitle the holder thereof to teach in any district in any county of the State upon being registered annually by the county superintendent.

but no certificate shall be registered in a county until the county superintendent has satisfied himself that the applicant has done the reading circle work prescribed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for the teachers of the State.

(Section 41. School Laws of 1917.)

To Teachers

All persons who expect to begin teaching after November 1, 1918, should read one of the nineteen books listed in this circular. Between November 1, 1918, and November 1, 1919, no certificate may be registered with a county superintendent unless one of these books has been read. The county superintendents have entered into an agreement among themselves whereby they will take as evidence of the careful reading of one of these books, a certificate issued by the University of Oregon for any of the first sixteen books, or a certificate from the Oregon Agricultural College for any of the last four books. The book, Our Schools in War Time and After, may be read under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural College, or of the University of Oregon. For questions on any of the first sixteen books address the Extension Department, University of Oregon, Eugene; for questions on any of the last four books, address Secretary of Reading Circle, Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis. Teachers who have already read one of these books, should read a different book this year. The Oregon State Library, Salem, has a limited number of copies of each book, which will be loaned to teachers, the only expense being the postage.

Reading Circle Books

The books will be sent postpaid by the J. K. Gill Co., Third and Alder streets, Portland, Oregon, at the prices indicated.

The University of Oregon will supervise the reading of the books numbered 1 to 16, inclusive. The reading of those numbered 17 to 20, inclusive, will be supervised by the Oregon Agricultural College.

How To Enroll For Reading

Upon making application to the Correspondence Study Department of the Extension Division of the University of Oregon, or to the Department of Industrial Education of the Oregon Agricultural College, study helps, questions and suggestions upon any book in this list, will be sent free of charge. After the book has been read, the answers to the questions should be written out and the manuscript sent to the University or to the College, as the case may be. There it will be read by a member of the faculty, and if the papers are found to be satisfactory, a statement will be given, showing that the reading circle work has been completed. This statement should be sent with the teacher's certificate, when the latter is filed with the county superintendent for registration.

Suggestions To Teachers

Write on one side of the paper only, unless legal cap is used.

Be sure to state on your application blank the name of the county in which you wish to register your certificate.

Teachers will get much more value from the reading circle work, if they do it during the time school is in session.

Be sure to sign your name to your manuscript before sending it to the College or University to be graded; otherwise there may be no way to determine from whom the work has come. It is not sufficient that the name and address be on the envelope.

If possible, get your reading circle work done as early as you conveniently can. If you wait until the week before you wish to register your certificate, you may be disappointed. Papers are read as rapidly as possible, but at rush times the readers may be unable to keep up.

Sometimes several teachers read a book together, and in a few instances have sent in identical papers. In such cases, certificates of reading can not be granted. While it is all right for teachers to read a book together, each teacher should work out the questions alone.

The College and University are ready and anxious to be of assistance to teachers in solving all problems concerned with their work, which properly come within the scope of their activity. Any questions which can better be answered by the State Department of Education, the State Normal School, or the State Library, will be referred to them.

All of the questions sent out on reading circle books are in the nature of "open book questions." This means that they are not strictly examinations, and you need not close all books when writing on these questions. It is preferred that you use not only the book upon which the questions are based, but any other books which you may have, in working out full suggestions.

Remember that the questions are worked out for the teachers of Oregon, and that each set of questions is based upon the reading of a single book. You will, therefore, be disappointed if you expect to find the questions as difficult and as inclusive as would be the questions in a college course for credit toward graduation.

President Wilson did well to test the freedom of the seas before he spoke for them.

TRIBUTES FROM SECRETARY BAKER

Following a tour of South England, Secretary of War Baker made this comment on the work done by the American Red Cross for our boys:

"These are the things which count. The American Red Cross is to be congratulated on the way in which it is looking after our boys. It is doing fine work."

Following his return from France, Secretary Baker wrote this note to the American Red Cross in London:

"I left London so shortly after my drive to Winchester that I had no early opportunity to thank you for the courtesy of the touring car which you placed at my disposal for the trip. On this trip to Europe I have received fresh and noteworthy evidence of the astonishing efficiency of the American Red Cross operations in France and England. I have been delighted to see how much the American Red Cross has done to weld hearts of the allied people together."

Replacing the Orchards.

The American Red Cross has given $10,000 to assist in the replanting of trees in the orchards laid bare by the Germans. With this sum 40,000 fruit trees will be replaced in the devastated orchards of Belgium and northern France.

Our Americans can now certainly be called seasoned troops. Their fighting showed no lack of pepper.

Dutch Cleanser is wonderful for black stains. During his sojourn in Holland it would be well for Wilhelm to try it on his conscience.

Let us all spread our o'coats and sit down on the piers of our great joy to await the ships that bring home sons of marvelous mothers and the granite pillars of a great nation.

If the proposed international police fleet has the characteristics of a city police force, is it not likely to be pretty constantly stranded on a bar?

France inspires a wonderful patriotism in its people. Alsace and Lorraine had been separated from their mother country for forty-seven years. They had been entirely under German domination. The German language had been enforced in the schools, in the courts of law and in the churches. Comparatively few people are now alive who were of mature age at the time of the cession of the provinces to German.

Yet the prospects of a return to France are received with delight and the entry of American soldiers took place among public acclamations.

Fortunate indeed is the country which inspires this special brand of loyalty and affection.

SALADS FOR ALL WINTER.

For those who live away from the large markets, where green salad material is procurable the year round, before the other salad material is placed on it, suggest Department of Agriculture specialists.

A salad without lettuce, to many, is like mince pie without the mince, but necessary as lettuce seems, attractive salads may be served without it. Cabbage, if treated as follows, may almost take its place. Cut part of the stem of one off and set it in a bowl of water for several hours. In a moisture which will be drawn up through the stem will wake the flabby leaves crisp.

The tender center thus treated may be used in the same manner as lettuce leaves or it may be shredded before the other salad material is placed on it, suggest Department of Agriculture specialists.

Small raw carrots or turnips put through a meat grinder may be successfully added to cooked vegetables for a salad. Apples raw and sliced thin will furnish crispness when fresh plants are not available.
