LOCAL NEWS NOTES.

We'll do your Job Printing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Schmitz are home from their holiday visit with relatives in Metolius.

Jake Hughes, one of the energetic stock growers of this county, was in town the first of the week on some business.

The mild weather is proving a benefit in that it is thawing out the ground thus giving the moisture which falls a chance to seep in rather than run off.

J. R. Jenkins, C. R. Peterson, O. O. Jetley and Albert Oakerman were among the out of town men here attending the annual meeting of the directors of the Inter-Mountain Tel. & Tel. Co.

FOR SALE: Registered Herford Bulls, March On and Disturber strains. Also 150 head yearling & two year old Heifers.—E. E. Bain & Co., Glenus Ferry, Idaho.

P. D. Saunders, connected with the Swift interests, with headquarters at Portland, was a visitor to this city during the week.

Born—Wednesday, Jan. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. James Rycraft, a daughter. The mother and child are both reported doing fine at the Firewood hospital.

James Weston was a business visitor Thursday from Crane. Jimmie states he is doing a good business in his garage down there, keeping his mechanics quite busy.

Albert Smith, the merchant at Blitzen, in Catlow Valley, was in last Monday making proof on his land. Mr. Smith states the rabbits are not so plentiful in that region as they had been in former times.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott, of Orian, Mich., are in this city visiting with relatives. Mrs. Scott is a niece of Mrs. Mary A. Smith of the Summit hotel. This is their first visit to the west and Mr. and Mrs. Scott are delighted with this big country.

The Times-Herald is informed that Ralph J. Weaver has resigned as cashier of the Crane State Bank. Our informant knew nothing of the circumstances leading up to his resignation. Mr. Weaver had been connected with the Bank since it started. Sidned McNeil is acting as cashier at the present.

We will do your Job printing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDade were up from their home in the southern part of the county during this week.

Mrs. Cassie Smith was over from Diamond early in the week. She was accompanied over by her niece, Miss Ethel Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weaver, Miss Ethel Turner and Mr. Bolton were all over from Crane last Sunday the guests of friends in this city.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BURNS. CAPITAL AND SURPLUS $100,000. "THE BANK THAT MAKES YOUR $$$ SAFE." ACCOUNTS INVITED.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beeler sent word over from Vale to their friends in this county that they have a new baby girl at their home. The exact date was not given us of this arrival.

James Young, the sheep man, was in town this week on some land business. Mr. Young is stopping temporarily over at Ontario where he is feeding a part of his flocks. Mr. Young believes we should use every effort to get irrigation in order that we might have the advantage of keeping this stock at home.

George Foon recently returned from Portland where he had been for several months. His brother Joe, who has had charge of the restaurant here for the past several months, is making preparations to move into the stone building between Reed's grocery and the Masonic building. This is a nice location for his restaurant.

A. E. Brown was here during the week having come over from Diamond. He went on out to Ontario where the family is residing this winter. We are informed that Mr. Brown has purchased some cattle. He was formerly in the sheep business and disposed of his flocks not long ago, but as he has always been actively engaged in the stock business he couldn't quit so this time has bought cattle.

Mrs. Walter Cross and her granddaughter, Miss Cora Shepard, were down from the family home on Trout Creek the fore part of this week. Mrs. Cross informed the writer that she had recently undergone a siege of influenza. Her daughter had an attack previous to that and the mother went to take care of her with the result that she contracted it also. She has recovered, however.

E. J. Shipman left last night on a business trip to Caldwell, Idaho. He may visit other points before returning to this vicinity. "Dad" Shipman has been spending a portion of his time since returning here at the oil well at Dog Mountain. He has put in many days at that well and owns a considerable number of shares. He informs us they have gotten the water shut off and mostly bailed out and will await the return of the experienced driller to pull the tap at the bottom when they hope to get a flow of oil. Those who have been active at the work wanted "Dad" to remain here or return to see this finish, but he told them that if the oil was there it would come whether he was present or not.

Archie Cross was in town this week.

Peter Egoscue was up from his home in the southern part of the county the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hamilton were in town yesterday, having come up from their home near Denio.

Born—Yesterday, Jan. 17, to Mr. and Mrs. Huffman, a son. Mother and boy are doing fine at the Firewood hospital.

Albert Oakerman was in town the other day attending a meeting of the stockholders of the Inter-Mountain Telephone & Telegraph Co.

E. Ramirez, one of the extensive sheep growers of this territory, was looking after some business affairs in this city during the week.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BURNS. CAPITAL AND SURPLUS $100,000. "THE BANK THAT MAKES YOUR $$$ SAFE." ACCOUNTS INVITED.

James Young, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Young, who has been attending school at the O. A. C. at Corvallis, arrived home this week. He is a Harney county high school graduate.

Cheap power is going to make a vast difference in things in this Valley. It will all produce if we can have water and that is possible with the irrigation district and means of pumping on the higher land.

The Times-Herald had hoped to learn of quite a snow fall in the mountains to the north of us during the storm of Thursday but was disappointed to find there was very little more snow fell in the mountains than right here in the valley.

E. W. Donnelly, forester on the Snow Mountain division of the Ochoce Reserve, is in this city on business in connection with his duties. He has been over on Silver Creek for the past week and stated to a representative of this paper this morning that he would remain here for perhaps ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett and their son Chester came down from the Silvies home Thursday, bringing Merle, an older son, who had just returned from Camp Gordon, Georgia. Merle came through here a few days ago and went on up home for a short visit. He was mustered out at the southern camp and is now home to remain. His parents and brother returned home that same day.

J. E. Rounseville is having the old wooden building torn down on his lots between the Odd Fellows Building and John Gemberlings and will replace it with a concrete building to be used for offices and store rooms. Mr. Rounseville informed The Times-Herald that he would likely extend the building back at least 80 feet and possibly 100 if he found tenants who desired such. This will be a vast improvement and make that a solid fire proof block. It is fine to see that people have confidence in the future of things even though hard times are possible to follow the war closing.

Say, but it's going to be dry, not altogether from lack of snow, but because the papers say this morning that 38 states in the union have ratified the dry amendment to the constitution and the entire United States is going to prohibit the manufacture, sale and importation of intoxicating liquors. This goes into effect next year. Now we must have more water under the circumstances.

Patients receive the best of care at the Firewood Maternity Hospital.

It had been the intention of local stock men to hold a meeting in this city during the coming week to discuss matters of interest to them but on account of the influenza Forester Robt. Bennett informs us there will be no meeting.

Married—Wednesday, Jan. 15 at the Haas Hotel in this city, Oscar Slater and Miss Blanche Heinz, Justice J. J. Patterson performing the ceremony. The Times-Herald had mentioned this approaching marriage a couple of weeks ago. Mr. Slater was one of Harney county's boys who responded to the call to colors but did not get further than the training camp. He returned recently after being demobilized. His bride is a Harney county product, having been born and raised in this section. She is a daughter of J. J. Heinz, one of the pioneer residents of the county. She lost two brothers during the war, both having died from illness, however. We wish the young people every good thing possible during their wedded life.
