

A big story of the Colorado—the 2,000-mile river that dug the Grand Canyon, the Great-Yellow-Dragon-That-Cannot-Be-Harnessed of the Indian—when it burst its banks and threatened to turn the Imperial Valley of California into an inland sea.

"Stop the river; d—n the expense!" said President Marshall of the Overland Pacific to "Casey" Rickard, engineer.

"The River" is the story of that titanic struggle to balk the Colorado of its prey that thrilled the nation; of the man who saved the Imperial Valley and lost his heart to the girl who hated him.

"The River" is the story of Innes Hardin, whose hatred of the engineer turned to love as she watched him lead the battle against the Great Yellow Dragon for the lives and homes of the settlers.

"The River" is the thrilling story of that thrilling time.

"The River" is our new serial.

Wrigley Buys Catalina Island in Big Resort Project

A four million dollar investment in buying an island, shows in a small way the development of the winter resort idea in America. William Wrigley Jr., the chewing gum manufacturer, at his winter home in Pasadena, Cal., is reported to have paid that sum for the controlling interests of the famous Santa Catalina Island, near Los Angeles. Included in the sale was the new $400,000 Saint Catherine hotel, two large tourist steamers and a fleet of the famous glass bottom boats. "The island has an area of 48,000 acres; room for a half million cottages," said Mr. Wrigley recently while referring to plans for the development of the project. Here are new pictures of the famous island where millions of Americans have gone on pleasure trips. The insert photo shows the big rocks which guard the harbor entrance at Avalon.

PROFESSORS OF FINANCE WARN NO BANK LOAN

U. of C. and Stanford Experts Point the Way to Sound Reconstruction Finance

The banks of the United States must be left free to finance the reconstruction of productive enterprise and must not be cluttered up with the Victory Liberty Loan. That is the composite, thought-out opinion of two of the West's most noted professors of finance, Carl C. Plehn, professor of finance in the University of California, and Murray L. Wildman, head of the department of economics and finance of Stanford University. Both agree that the money needed to finish paying for the war should not come out of working capital, but should be raised out of individual savings of humble and wealthy.

"If the people take the Loan, as they must," Professor Plehn says, "the banks will be left free to lend to the manufacturer, the farmer, the grocer, the butcher, and the baker, so that they can get busy again on a peace time basis. Then production and business will grow and, by the formula, prices will come to normal. If we leave it to the banks, they will have no funds left for business, big or little. We, ourselves, will not profit and the day of our redemption will only be postponed."

Professor Wildman, whose ability caused him to be called from Stanford to Washington for war finance service, agrees with the California economist, adding: "It would be a grave mistake to saddle the banks of the country with the Victory Loan at this time."

When two professors agree, it's time to sit up and take notice. When two professors not only agree with each other, but agree with the Government, that settles it. Finance is their business—particularly Government finance. They have spent their lives studying it and are paid good salaries for teaching the principles of it to the men who are going to run the nation tomorrow.

Finance is not the business of the wisecrack who screws down the corners of his mouth and says, "Let the banks do it." Better take the advice of scientists who know.

Leper Colony Reaches $62 Per Capita W. S. S.

Hawaii's War Savings Stamps reports for the year ending December 31, 1918, show total sales of $2,026,900 worth of War Savings Stamps sold, which is $20,000 over their quota.

Two thousand dollars of this amount was sold to thirty-two lepers at the Penikese Island Leper Colony, which amounts to $62 per capita, or three times more than the per capita quota for the United States, namely: $20.

Will SOMETHING Happen to make you rich?

A rich uncle may die and leave you a roll, but few rich uncles have this habit.

If you get rich, the chances are you will first have to save enough money in order to make an investment that will pay.

There are plenty of investments for the man with a little ready cash.

But it is up to you to save cash. The best policy is to deposit a portion of your salary.

A Bank is better than a hole in your pocket through which your money can slip away.
