DREWSEY CITIZEN GOES TO G. A. R. CONVENTION

J. A. Bartlett was over from Drewsey the fore part of this week to be installed as a full fledged G. A. R. man. He had not affiliated before. Mr. Bartlett is going to take advantage of the opportunity to go to Columbus, Ohio where the National Convention of the G. A. R. meets this year. He and Mrs. Bartlett have brothers and sisters in the east and since all concerned are advanced in years they feel they want to have one more visit. The convention gives the old soldiers a rate of one cent per mile each way and includes stop over privileges with a return date of October 31.

HIGH PRICED LAND CHANGES HANDS.

Several local citizens made investments in hay land during the fore part of this week in this vicinity.

Grover Jameson bought 80 acres of meadow land in Section 19, Chester Dalton took 65 acres more of the same section and Byron Terrill 40 acres. They paid $90 an acre for it. Carey Thornburg bought 50 acres on the same section and H. Hotchkiss 105, the two latter paying $100 an acre for it.

This sets a new price on meadow land. It is well located and irrigated with fine crops on at the present time and from present indications hay is going to be rather short again this season therefore it was good business to buy. We understand very attractive terms were given on these purchases.

SULFUR GETS SPIDER MITE.

The spider mite, mobilized just across the Snake river from Eastern Oregon, is best combated by some form of sulfur, says F. H. Lathrop of the O. A. C. experiment station. Commercial sulfur sprays or dust sulfur applied when no wind is blowing are effective. The mite is a tiny red pest no larger than a pin head, but it sucks the juices from the leaves and webs up the twigs, weakening or even destroying the tree.

THE MIRACLE OF CHILDREN.

The wonder, aye the miracle of children, our own children, seldom impresses us because this is a busy little world, and pork chops are 50 cents around these days.

And baby's shoes cost more than mother's did four years ago.

But sometimes the worthy parent will catch a gleam in his offspring's eye, a quirkish twist to the nether lip; a glint, a high light, a sudden flash, and he knows that there's a bit of light that never was on land or sea.

Before we stamp, rather stomp, on the soft wax of childhood the hard impressions of mortality, before we channel the seas of infancy, and drive them between the cliffs of iron convention, there are sweeps, and surges, and whispers of infinity there that we barely hear the murmur of, but that be very, very vivid to the child.

What strangers are these that come in a night to our door, and abide with us through the years, and go

Lieut. Bruno Roselli Comes to Chautauqua

Noted Italian Soldier and Scholar to Discuss Italy's Peace Plans

Lieut. Bruno Roselli, Italian soldier and scholar, Chevalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy, lecturer and author, is one of the figures of international standing on the Chautauqua platform this year. Early in 1918 the Italian Government granted him a leave of absence and sent him to America for the purpose of acquainting Americans with the almost desperate situation in Italy at that time. He comes now to present a subject of vital interest, "Italy at the Peace Conference." Lieut. Roselli is a man with the international experience and the international outlook so eagerly sought after in these days of Reconstruction.

out to a man's work, and yet are never wholly of us?

Children, souls in a mould of flesh, visitors from eternity, stopping with accidental hosts for a season!

Aye the miracle of it occasionally hits us hard, and for the moment we vaguely glimpse the mightiness of eternal life, wrapped in its little round dimpled bale of mortality.

And then baby opens his mouth a yard and bellows for his bottle, and we get busy and forget all about his ethereal qualities.

But be sure that our children bear in the veins, as in their heart of hearts, as much alien blood and alien thought, that far outreaches the parents' brief span of life and experience, as the bit of a spotted pig, in the otherwise white litter, proves that in him is reversion to distant great, great granddaddy, who was a big, black, brute of a wild fellow.

As well boast of having comprehended the thought of eternity, world without end, amen; as pride yourself on knowing your eldest.

"PINCH," DIP OR BRUSH TO FIGHT POULTRY "COOTIES"

Recent experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture have shown that a very satisfactory way of eliminating lice from poultry is to treat each fowl separately with sodium fluorid. Commercial sodium fluorid may be purchased at most drug stores at from 30 to 60 cents a pound and may be applied either by the so-called "pinch" method or by means of a duster made by punching small nail holes in the bottom of a can having a tight-fitting cover or by dipping. If the pinch method is used, the bird is held on a table while a pinch of sodium fluorid is applied next to the skin under the feathers, as follows: One pinch under the head, one on the neck, two on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on the tail, one on each thigh, and one on the underside of each wing. The feathers should be ruffled to allow the powder to get next to the skin. If the bird is held in a large, shallow pan, the small quantity of powder which falls off will be saved. If the powder is dusted on by means of a shaker the amount of sodium fluorid used may be reduced by using 4 parts of road dust or flour to 1 part of the chemical. This method requires the services of a second person to hold and turn the fowl.

When large numbers of birds are to be treated the sodium fluorid may be used in the form of a dip, using 1 ounce of commercial sodium fluorid to each gallon of water. The bird should be held by the wings and plunged into a tub full of the solution, leaving the head out, while the feathers are ruffled with the hand to allow the solution to penetrate to the skin. The head is then ducked once or twice and the bird allowed to stand a minute to drain and then released. Dipping is just as effective as the other methods, but should not be used on very weak or young birds or in cold or damp weather.

One pound of sodium fluorid will treat 100 birds. Figuring a person's time at 20 cents an hour and the drug at 40 cents a pound, it has been estimated that it costs about $1.25 to treat 100 fowls by the pinch method.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Fresh chocolates, Welcome Pharmacy.

Work in the M. M. degree at the regular meeting of Burns Lodge, No. 97, A. F. & A. M., Monday evening, eight o'clock.

Clarence Miller is taking a short lay off on account of a bad finger, the nail of which was mashed off. The cause for the accident could not be learned.

Almost the only things that have not gone up in price are thrift stamps and war saving stamps. Take note that they are still to be had at the same old figures.

The Germans style the conditions of the peace treaty "ruinous." We wonder how they would describe the condition in which they left Belgium and northern France.

Ten per cent reduction on all toilet articles during Chautauqua week. The Welcome Pharmacy.

Lost—Between town and Allen Jones, a small package containing a blue crepe collar baled on paper also some tan net. Finder please leave at Times-Herald Office.

Miss Lola Sweek accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKinness and family, on their return to the ranch last Tuesday morning. Miss Sweek has given up her position with Page's Sweet Shop, and will rest and study during the summer months in preparation for her school next winter. Mrs. Alice Sheehan now presides over the sweets in her stead.

The little baby boy of Wm. McKinness fell off the porch at the C. A. Sweek residence while the folks were stopping in the city last week, and cut a four inch gash in his scalp. Dr. J. Shelley Saurman was called to dress the young man's wound, and found it necessary to take several stitches. "Buster" is doing nicely at present, and his parents were able to return to the ranch.

T. J. McDonald made a trip to Crane, Diamond and Narrows Thursday in company with Roy McGee. Mr. McDonald is taking an active interest in the Chautauqua program, being one of the committee in charge of the affair, and the trip was made in the interest of the coming event. He distributed some advertising matter and placed some season tickets at places for the convenience of those who desire to take advantage of the special rate it gives. Mac found the Chautauqua already quite well advertised and the people are going to attend.

WAS ON A TORPEDOED SHIP.

Thomas A. Breslin, 615 Broadway, Albany, N. Y., writes: "Having been on a torpedoed ship coming to this country from England, I had a cold ever since. I was advised by a friend to take Foley's Honey and Tar and before long I was cured." You can stop that cough or cold that has been lingering since Spring. Sold everywhere.

BUY IT FROM US IT PAYS

This is a general store and we are supposed to sell everything, and we live up to the general supposition.

You can buy anything you want here, from hardware to groceries, from needles to a good smoke.

It pays to buy from us, because we sell for cash, and an enormous amount of goods, and we can therefore sell at a closer margin of profit.

You CAN'T lose, and you WILL gain. Now doesn't this line of argument appeal straight to your good common sense?
