PIONEER REUNION

ed at the dictation of interests out of sympathy with the people.

Now, what remained for the settler to do? There was no use to kick up a row for there was no jail or lawyer to defend him. He could not become religious for there was no minister. He could not get sick for there was no doctor, or die for there was no undertaker. So he just got along without doing these things. The cemetery up on the hill is a modern institution.

But the past is behind us. You have county organizations, offices, registers, doctors, undertakers or land offices at your door. In fact everything this fast age will afford. In pro rata prosperity this country will compare favorably with any district in the State. Your soldier boys sent so freely to make the world safe for democracy were not attracted by the flowery field of France of the cottage homes of England. In their dreams they inhaled the pungent odor of the sage and juniper. When released from their country's service they hastened home to "This land of Heaven's peculiar grace The heritage of Nature's noblest race This land of beauty, virtue, valor, truth, This tutored age and love exalted youth.

The wealthiest isles, the most enchanting shores Views not a realm so bountiful and fair Nor breathes the spirit of a purer air In every clime the magnet of his soul Touched by affection, trembles to that pole

It is a land of every land the pride Beloved by Heaven o'er all the world beside."

The pioneers were not given any particular thing to do during the day, but left to choose their own amusement to a great extent. There were no long winded speeches or trying programs, therefore they just visited among themselves, recalled old times and renewed acquaintances.

PIANOS WE CARRY

Our lines consist of the most renowned standard makes of America. Our leader is the KNABE. We also represent the celebrated Francis Bacon pianos, in baby grands, players and uprights. One of our most popular lines is the five well-known pianos of the "House of Baldwin," which includes the Baldwin, Ellington, Hamilton, Howard and Monarch. Then we are agents for the Hazelton Bros., and the famous Autopiano. The Autopiano is probably the most popular and durable player-piano in the world. Already, more than 43 million dollars worth have been sold to music-loving people of the globe.

OUR USED PIANOS

One may nearly always find a good bargain in a second hand piano in our piano exchange department. This month we are holding our semi-annual clean up sale of these instruments. The prices are remarkably low.
