C. F. HOLLOWAY, Administrator of the estate of Jesse G. Holloway, deceased.

Strange truths often find themselves in the public print. For instance, one of our newly rich women was flaunting her diamonds in Newport recently when a gentleman, between puffs, heaurely remarked that "dressing that woman up is like putting gold harness on a mule."

$1500 Reward!
The Oregon, Nevada and Nevada Live Stock Protection Association of which the undersigned is member will give $1,000.00 reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of any party or parties stealing horses, cattle or mules belonging to any of its members.
In addition to the above, the undersigned will pay the same condition $500.00 for all horses and mules shod on both or either jaw, had recorded in eight counties, Range 27, Lake and Crook counties. Horses and mules sold.
Horses and mules sold and only in the bunches.

Twenty-six per cent of the men mobilized by France were lost in the war. The injection of American blood in the repopulation of the country would do much toward raising France again to the proud position of eminence it once occupied in the community of nations.
The daily annoyance of swatting the fly prevents our giving due thought and consideration to the peace treaty.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

That Detroit hog that was kept in cold storage for 25 years must be cool and mellow by this time. We suggest that it be turned over to the meat profiteers for their personal consumption.
This sudden dumping of large quantities of cold storage eggs onto the market is liable to giut the chick industry.

The king and queen of England are encouraging royal princesses to marry commoners, there being not sufficient royal males to go around. But possibly their majesties are far seeing, and are providing a bulwark among the common people against the day when the throne begins to wobble.

The kaiser went up like a rocket, soared like an eagle, and came down like a chunk of mud—fattened out beyond all possibility of future mischief.
The young lady who recently remained away from a party because she "simply didn't have a thing to wear," quite overlooked the fact she would have been the observed of all observers.

BEIGE VELOUR SMACKS OF SUIT SMARTNESS

Tailleur is the newest name for the one costume in woman's wardrobe which tells best her secret of smartness in the suit, says Fashion Art. The word means perfection in line, and appropriate choice of material and trimmings. Therefore the beige velour shown below, with its trimmings of gray squirrel is the last word in Tailleurs. As for hats—these two new models from the metropolitan shops show that, milderly need not worry as to whether she can wear a large or small hat. She may have either—or both and still be correct. The popular colors for fall wear are the grays, navy blues and beige.

The Green Ribbon
Not a Patent Medicine Ad.

Attorney-General Brown saved the lives of a lots of ducks.
And geese. —x—x—x—
Mebbe. —x—x—x—
One of the Ribbon's friends intended to get up at four o'clock last Tuesday for birds. After hearing of the A.-G.'s wire, said "now I can't."
—x—x—x—
We would never look at it that way.
—x—x—x—
"Don't have to" is our sentiment about four a. m. —x—x—x—
Ducks or no ducks? —x—x—x—
The city enjoyed a period of darkness Monday night. —x—x—x—
We bet Mr. Fry's left ear burned. —x—x—x—
The C. L. in his boyish enthusiasm thinks irrigation will help that. —x—x—x—
Mr. Otley is back this week. —x—x—x—
Reminds us of the story about "co-incidence." —x—x—x—
Co-Incidence.
To illustrate the meaning of the word, the curb-stone orator said, "Suppose a man fell off the top of a ten-story building, got up, went back and did it again, without being hurt? What would you call that?" "Pretty lucky," says the C. L. "Well, suppose he did it the third time? What then?" "Oh! that would be a habit," answered the unenlightened C. L.
—x—x—x—
Writing to the paper is not like falling off a ten-story building—you won't get hurt.
—x—x—x—
Wish more people would take interest enough to get Mr. Otley's "co-incidence."
—x—x—x—
No one has claimed that yard of Green Ribbon we offered last week.
—x—x—x—
Doesn't this column look like an oasis among all these dry legal notices?
—x—x—x—
A nice Green oasis? —x—x—x—
Well, that isn't the reason. —x—x—x—
The prize ribbon is a yard long and two inches wide. —x—x—x—
C'min agin. —x—x—x—

WISE AND OTHERWISE
Andrew Carnegie made $500,000,000 in his life time, gave away between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000, and died with the small sum of $50,000,000 still on hand—enough to buy a perfectly good suit and a pair of up-to-date shoes. Andy was a "bird."
This conclusion of peace, it would seem, is something of a "watchful waiting" affair.
Yes, good roads will come to this day. But none of the present generation have a lease upon life until the end of time.
Soft drinks would be Okeh if they were not quite so soft.
Take a look at your neighbor's front yard and you can easily tell if he owns a car or not.
"What's the matter with the American dollar?" inquires an anxious critic. Nothing, nothing at all. A dollar is a dollar, and worth one hundred cents—no more, no less. But inflated prices have made its purchasing power only about one-half what it was a few years ago. Swat the price booster, and the dollar will perk up again.

C. Lovens, Judge of the County Court of Harney County, duly made and entered on the 4th day of September, 1919, directing that this summons be published once a week for six consecutive weeks in The Times-Herald, the first publication being made on September 6, 1919, and the last publication being made on the 18th day of October, 1919.
C. B. McCONNELL, Attorney for plaintiffs, residing at and P. O. address, Burns, Oregon.
