big top went up. It was a regular circus in every particular, prepared solely for this picture. When it appears before the public in screen form, this story by Florence Vincent, will be found to contain many thrills and will perhaps afford Miss Bennett more opportunities to display her rich talents as an actress than any of her previous Paramount pictures ever has done.

In this photoplay Miss Bennett will be seen as a lion tamer. She enters a girl's academy to be educated and after the romance of love has entered into her life, she succeeds in saving her father's circus from a riotous mob, by taking the place of a frightened tamer and performing her lion taming act in the presence of a huge crowd. This is an exceptionally thrilling incident, and doubtless will serve to render this picture one of Miss Bennett's most popular vehicles. A fine cast supports the star in this photoplay, which was directed by Jerome Storm.

An ideal cast has been provided for Wallace Reid in his latest Paramount photoplay, "The House of Silence," which will be the feature at the Liberty Theatre, next Wednesday. Chief among his support is Ann Little, one of the most charming of screen actresses, who appeared with him in "Nan of Music Mountain" and "Rimrock Jones," both Paramount pictures. Others in the cast are Adele Farrington, who will be seen as an adventuress, Winter Hall, Ernest Joy and H. A. Barrow.

As its title indicates, "The House of Silence" is a mysterious romance that involves the slaying by a young woman of a man in defence of her honor, she employing a hatpin for that and immensely entertained by seeing this striking drama unfold before your eyes when "The Social Pirate" comes on next Friday to the Liberty theatre.

June Elvidge is the star of this production. She is seen in the role of Dolores Fernandez, the fiancee of Bruce Ridgeway. Dolores is a South American girl. She has beauty and exceptional talent as a violinist but upon the death of her parents when she comes to the United States to win fame and fortune she meets only with misfortune and heart-ache until she meets Bruce. Then she falls deeply in love.

It is certainly an unusual and gripping drama that is told in "The Social Pirate." It is the sort of a drama that you remember for a long time and also talk about for a long time. Show yourself a good time by seeing "The Social Pirate."

fell purpose; the tracing of the slayer by an amateur wealthy detective, and the revelation of the secret of the house by him after a series of tensely interesting happenings. The picture is one of exceptional merit, the photography excellent, and it is in every respect worthy of the commendatory reviews which have been accorded it elsewhere since its release.

RABBITS ARE OUT ON HILL RANGE NOW

Ed. Morgan was in town Monday with a load of seed grain. He lives in the Weaver Springs section and since so many of his Sunset neighbors have gone away he is looking after a big area of lands in that vicinity. He has just added the Chas. Newell Dog Mountain ranch to his lease holdings and hopes to increase the output of crops during the coming season provided the rabbits can be controlled.

The crops suffered from these pests during the present season, the 300 rats also taking their toll, until it was much as the bargain who had the best of things. There are so few people to fight these pests that they are about taking the country. However, Mr. Morgan says the rabbits have gone to the bunch grass range since the recent rains and are playing "hon" with the young tender grass that is sprouting. Mr. Morgan says that he has some fine pasture now from his spring seeding as it did not come up until the fall rains.

Let Prosperity Begin at Home

Community prosperity is, or is not, as we of the community make it. Much money will be spent around here during the coming Christmas holidays. It is right that it should be so, for every normal person likes to partake of the joys of the yule time.

But where will that money go? Will the profits remain here, and continue to circulate in our midst, and enrich our local community? Or will they go to foreign houses, and be forever lost to us who have produced them by our energy and our thrift?

The answer is in our own hands. Our local merchants will be well equipped for supplying our demands. The goods will be on their counters where we can see them, judge as to their quality, and know what we get. And the name of a local dealer stands as a guarantee for everything he sells.

But if we buy abroad we lose from our midst both the dealer's cost price and his profits. We never see them again.

And our community is the poorer to the extent of the profits on every

Farmers Advised to Strike Back

The boycott of many manufactured products and the renewed use of family-produced food and clothing supplies was recommended to Kansas farmers by H. B. Walker, irrigation engineer, according to the agricultural college news bulletins. "We can't have the farmers work 18 hours a day to feed the laborer on a six-hour a day basis," he told the farmers. "Much of the labor shortage is not due so much to lack of men as to decrease in working hours and inefficient labor. Intensive, one family farming must come back into more general use. This is the most efficient productive basis for the greatest net profits to the family. It would go far to settle the labor problem."
