RESERVE MUSKRATS FOR FUTURE YEARS

Narrows, Oct. 23

To the Editor:— Will you please place this notice in the columns of your paper on behalf of those who are expecting to trap on the Malheur Lake Bird Reservation? I received word a few days ago from the officials of the Biological survey that no permits for trapping would be given this season on the Reservation, owing to the condition of the low water and the scarcity of feed. The Muskrats have concentrated to a smaller part of the lake because of this condition and trapping would tend to exterminate Mr. Rat. Of late years the trapper has made a good thing out of the fur taken from the reserve and it is partly up to the trapper to reserve Mr. Rat for future trapping. I find the water is too low to run a boat in most places. By reserving the rat this season it will make it well worth trapping when the old lake comes back to its high water mark; so help reserve the rat. The birds have been compelled to change their feed ground and are concentrated more closely to the rat-bonality and trapping would tend to disturb the birds. So all interested in the fur business and the welfare of the reserving idea should help reserve for future years. Thanking every one for the kindness in helping to reserve the interest of the reservation, I hope to retain the good will of all.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE M. BENSON, Warden.

I'YSEED, CR PL'ICRAT?

Not so many years ago the term "ha seed" was locally applied to the American farmer.

And the farmer didn't resent it—because he couldn't.

He lived from hand to mouth, and often there was but little left by the time it reached the mouth.

But now? Say, just watch the old boy's smoke!

There are no plasters on his farm. He is out of debt, with a comfortable surplus stored away.

His stock is fat and of the best grade. His acres are teeming with the products of the soil and the result of his fertile brain.

He comes to town in his automobile, smokes the best cigars, and his family has a college education and buys the best clothes.

Once he went into the bank with his hat in his hand. Now he owns its stock, is a director, or perhaps the president.

In other days he asked favors. Now he issues orders.

A hayseed? Well, hardly. A plutocrat? You bet! Horse sense and opportunity did it.

NO BOXING CONTEST TONIGHT.

There will be no boxing exhibition at the Liberty tonight. It was scheduled to follow the picture program but owing to a misunderstanding it will not materialize. Liberty management is not in the boxing promotion game but consented that the house could be used for an exhibition on the usual percentage basis. The principals in the contest absented themselves from town during the week following the announcement and it was reported that one of them was going to demand a guarantee, therefore the matter was deferred awaiting a definite understanding. There is a possibility of some fast bouts being pulled off at Tonawama on the evening of Nov. 11, Armistice day. Should it be definitely decided upon announcement will be made early the coming week.

THE RIDERLESS HORSE!

O. A. C. Says Grimm Alfalfa Is the Best

The college endorses Grimm alfalfa as the best variety for the cool, dry sections of the state, Klamath, Lake, Harney, Malheur counties, and the Blue Mountain section. This variety has proved its superiority over the other types in winter hardiness, yield, and adaptability. It was selected in 1858 by a man named Grimm who brought the seed to Minnesota from Germany. After nine years he had enough for commercial purposes and it has been resistant to frosts and winter freezing. It is a variegated type, having flowers that are smoky, greenish, blackish, and yellow. Trials by the United States department of agriculture, the Minnesota station, and the eastern Oregon station have proved its hardiness. Its hay yield is greater than of the common varieties and its seed yield practically the same. The seed is higher than other varieties and is sometimes adulterated by dealers. For this reason care is necessary to get the genuine Grimm seed. The county agents can be of assistance in finding reliable sources.

Donagan, Miss Ethel Stadler, Mrs. Rose Henderson. The following resolutions were adopted: RESOLVED, That we favor the establishment of classes for the purpose of giving the foreigner instruction in the language of our country, in our history, government and altogether such knowledge, habits and ideals as will make him a useful and desirable citizen. We pledge our support to the doctrine of "One language and one people" for America. RESOLVED, That we endorse the movement for the collection, preservation, and study of Oregon history, to the end that community pride may be stimulated, and the study of history motivated by the socialized method, and due credit given and appreciation shown to those men and women of our own state who have made contributions to our history; to the pioneers, to the war veterans, and to deserving public spirited citizens of each community and of the state. We recommend that a standing committee be appointed to further this purpose. RESOLVED, That since efficiency in time of peace and in time of war, and the daily happiness of our people are dependent upon the possession of good health, we favor such a campaign as will result in the better protection and promotion of the public health and in the observance of the rules of hygiene, sanitation and right living in order that the inherent right to healthy bodies and minds may be insured. RESOLVED, That we favor the re-organization of our whole educational system resulting from a larger participation in educational affairs by our national government, endorse the provisions of the new Towner Act establishing the national department of education with the secretary as a member of the president's cabinet, and giving federal aid in Americanization work, to rural schools, to a health program, and to the wider extension of educational opportunities. RESOLVED, whereas there is a committee appointed to prepare and present to the legislature a law providing for teacher's pensions, and Whereas, the general nature of the law is such that the interests of the teachers are fully protected and it is recognized that the teacher is an employee of the State, and that therefore the State will contribute to provide a fund to be used in purchasing annuity for teachers placed on the retired list, and Whereas, such a law will be a powerful influence toward maintaining morals, be it RESOLVED, That we endorse the proposed Teachers' Pension Law and pledge our support toward its enactment. RESOLVED, That since the cost of living has increased so as to appreciably affect all lines of industry and the professions, and since in the past teachers have been forced to accept what has been occasionally less than a living wage, and since as a result of such a condition a shortage today exists, we favor the enactment of a law placing the minimum of teachers at $1,000 per annum. WISE AND OTHERWISE.
Enthusiasm is an asset in business, but it works most smoothly when the brake of common sense is applied. Start the "red" back from whence they came, and keep them on the run. Its time to agitate the agitators right out of this country. Now just try saying something nice about your home town, and see how delightfully bully you feel afterward.

'Tis said that the glory of our nation lies in the fact that all men are born free and equal. The shame is that they do not remain so.

"What is common sense?" inquires a would-be intellectual light. If he would acquire a little he would possess the answer to his own question.

The man who keeps others at a respectful distance more often dominates those with whom he comes in contact. Too great familiarity breeds indifference, and often contempt.

Friendship difficult to obtain is frequently the most lasting. That which comes easily goes quickly.

An editor makes his living by writing stuff for others to think and talk about. But he values his life too much to make public his inmost thoughts.

The Bible (or some other book) tells us that "truth is mighty and shall prevail." But there would be an unholy uproar if the whole truth were suddenly let loose in this or any other community.

Never accept a woman's smile as indicative of her secret thoughts. The latter are not for you.

We concede the fact that clothes do not make the woman, but we insist that at times they are a slight aid to beauty. Go to it, girlie!

Don't complain of annual, sister. 1920 will soon usher in a new year of thrills—and bills.

Christmas saving is again in full swing. And, in a few weeks, the spending will be a veritable blast.

Life, like the wilderness, is full of pitfalls. The wise avoid them, but the foolish see in them only the tinsel joys of an earthly existence.

Light and reason guide the footsteps of people with brains. But without brains there is no light, and no reason, and the footsteps just mill around without beginning and without end.

It's easy for a hardened sinner to put on a frock coat, a plug hat, a black tie, and pass muster in a crowd of respectable people. But the devil knows his own wherever they are found.

"Goodness creates smiles," says a writer. True, but not all smiles are indicative of goodness, we opine.
