

The Muscle of Independence

CULTIVATE THE HABIT of SAVING

Your saving capacity is the nucleus of muscular development in the world of dollars and cents.

A savings account in this bank helps you to concentrate on the habit as a necessity. You are constantly wanting to "add to your pile" and to "watch it grow."

This makes saving a fixed principle with you and leads you to financial independence later in life.

All men make money now-a-days, but only the wise man saves it, and saving was never easier than today.

This bank knows you by sight, or by name—it desires to know you by business contact.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

The Burns Garage has recently received two car loads of Fords. It has on hand ten touring cars, one coupe, two trucks and two run-arounds.

Miss Nora Martin arrived home from her school at Nampa Wednesday night in response to a telephone message that her sister, Mrs. Ben Seaward, was dangerously ill.

Cory Smyth and wife and little son were in from their Diamond home during the week attending to some business affairs and calling upon friends.

Chas. V. Reed has spent the past week in town. He came up to visit the family over the week end and his children took down with influenza so he remained to aid them.

Chester Carter returned Wednesday from an extended fur buying trip which took him to the Nevada line. He brought back a fine assortment, among them being a cross fox which is quite valuable.

Census Enumerator Monroe has about completed the enumeration in town and is now devoting his time to outlying portions of his district which includes both North and South Burns precincts and takes him some distance to the north.

C. R. Peterson was in town from his home over on Crane Creek during the week to attend a meeting of the telephone company officers. He reports the recent thaw took off the snow very rapidly over in his territory and caused a young flood.

Thos. H. Douglas was over from his home in the Steins Mountain section during this week looking after some business affairs. Mr. Douglas stated they had quite a good deal of moisture in that part of the country but ought to have more to make range conditions up to normal during the coming spring and summer.

R. A. Allen, the highway superintendent and contractor, left Thursday morning for a short visit to Portland. He was accompanied out by Mrs. Allen. F. A. Fessler of this office also went out for a short trip on business. The party went out by way of Bend and expect to return the first of next week.

C. T. Miller came up from the ranch at Lawen Wednesday upon learning that influenza had been developed in this town. He has taken his children out to the ranch for the present as he felt they were safer from the flu there and should any member take it there were others to take care of them. Here at the town home the children were alone and he would have worried considerably had he left them. However, with the Red Cross nurses arriving it looks as though the situation is going to be handled without any one being neglected.

YOU KNOW, it's funny
An' happen to all of us,
The way things come about
An' the town and state
We live in.
An' some of them are so good
An' some so darn bad,
That it makes us sit up an' take notice
Of the town we live in.
An' the town we don't live in, but
Hear of repeatedly—
Hear about all the good things they've got,
Fine big churches an' school houses
An' Public Libraries and big brick an'
Stone Stores an' a city hall an' clock,
An' a Commercial Club
That folks go to an' thrash
Out their difficulties
An' to get new industries
Into the town. An' payrolls, an' irrigation,
An' we notice that that town
Is a town where folks buys
Home produce an' trades
At Home too.
An' the other town an' their
Folks an' stores,
Can look for themselves,
'Cause maybe they'er clear out
Of the country an' state
We live in.
An' you can see if you're
Half as liberal minded
As we hope
That by your cooperation an' mine
An' a liberal amount
Of Civic Interest,
Which same you have,
An' can exhibit by trading at Home an' boosting,
We can bring into being
Them things we both
Want an' strive for.
A better Burns for
You an' me an'
Our Posterity.
If we're that lucky.

I. S. Geer & Co.

Carroll Cecil was in town for a few days during the week.

Born—Saturday, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young, a daughter.

Born—Monday, January 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, a son.

John Hunter was down from his Spring Creek ranch during the week.

Ferd Tipton was greeting his old friends in town during the week.

Will Keisenbeck was up from his home in the Lawen neighborhood during the fore part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nollie Reed took their departure last Sunday for Portland where they will remain for a time.

Geo. Cawfield was up from his home at Narrows the fore part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Egli were over from the ranch at Wagontire during the week.

Frank Davis was in town the other day on a visit to his brothers and to attend to some business affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Smith have moved into the Ben Brown residence since Nollie Reed and wife vacated it and went to Portland.

Mrs. Oakerman was over from her Silver Creek home Tuesday looking after some business affairs and calling upon friends.

Charles H. Adler, a traveling man representing a Portland wholesale drug house, was calling upon the trade here during the week.

Mrs. Etta Cummins was over from the stock ranch near Jordan Valley during the week looking after some business affairs and calling upon her many old time friends.

W. M. Carroll is again out greeting his many friends. He was confined to his room for several weeks recuperating from ill health, but is feeling fine again.

Mr. Ben Seaward has been very ill at the hospital for the past several days. Her husband was telegraphed for and her brother also came over from his home in Malheur county. At this time she is reported to be better.

E. F. Towsley was down from his Spring Creek ranch during the week. He informs us there is but little snow covering the ground in his neighborhood, although there seems a good quantity back in the mountain territory in drifts which means it requires longer to come out of the hills, but as to quantity sufficient to guarantee much run off during the spring flood period, it is negligible.

A telegram from Portland Thursday announced that A. C. Welcome, vice president of the First National Bank of this city, was ill with influenza. He and Mrs. Welcome left here the first of this month for a vacation trip to California points, to be absent for the month. They were on their return trip and had reached Portland where he took sick. They will return home as soon as his condition will permit.

M. Saunders, the sheep raiser of the Warm Springs section, was in town this week. When questioned about the death of several of his sheep recently under circumstances that indicated poisoning, Mr. Saunders said he believed it was caused from the sheep eating saltpetre, there being a large quantity in the vicinity where the sheep passed over in coming to the ranch. He has not heard from the analysis of the stomachs that were sent to the agricultural college for examination.

J. R. Jenkins, who was in during the week to attend a meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Inter-Mountain Tel. and Tel. Co., has gone on over to Boise to visit with the family for a short time. Mr. Jenkins stated the present weather was too nice for this time of year and that lack of moisture would again be felt on the range sections of this country during the coming season unless we have considerable snow and rain in the immediate future.

While falling a tree in the hills last Monday James Shepard met with a painful accident as the tree refused to fall as he had expected owing to a severe wind blowing; Jim attempted to push the tree so it would fall as desired but the wind caught it and as he was in the path of the falling tree he attempted to get out of the way but tripped and fell. The tree severe wind blowing. Jim attempted in such a manner, as to bruise him severely and strain his back. He was laid up for a time but no permanent bad effects will result.

P. G. Smith was in from the Warm Springs section this week to attend to business in connection with the telephone company and his other interests. Mr. Smith stated he had lost some cattle out there recently and that other neighbors had also lost some. Upon investigation they did not believe it was from lack of feed as some were in very good condition and after observing some of the animals that later died they came to the conclusion that rabies was responsible for some if not all the deaths. The neighbors are speculating upon the cause of the death of the sheep belonging to M. Saunders, an account of which was published by this paper last week taken from a Lakeview paper, and it has been decided that rabies may have been responsible for their death also.

The Times-Herald Goes to Rome

This great religious weekly's subscription list covers a good big territory, including every state in the union and some foreign countries; several also going to Alaska and British Columbia. This week one of our former Burns subscribers has ordered the paper changed to Rome. At first this seems a long ways from Burns but the fact is it is but a day's drive during the summer time when the roads are good. Rome is Archie McGowan's post office over in Malheur county on the Owyhee. Archie is in town, having returned in company with Mrs. McGowan from the ranch the fore part of the week, but he is going back in a short time, that is after a couple of weeks or so.

Dr. P. P. French, of Boise, has been in the city for several days, having been called to the bed side of Judge H. C. Levens, who has been seriously ill. Dr. French is devoting his entire time to the one patient and therefore the two local doctors, Geary and Smith, are kept constantly on the job with the influenza cases.

Mrs. Cassie Smyth and Prestley Smyth were over from Diamond on business today.

Don M. Taylor, secretary of the local Red Cross Chapter, arrived home last night from a visit to Portland. While in the city he conferred with the proper authorities in connection with the Red Cross work in this county, particularly the community nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith have returned from a visit to relatives in Washington and have been at the bedside of their daughter, Mrs. Bob Drinkwater at Crane for a short time as the lady was dangerously ill with pneumonia. She is much better at this time on the road to recovery. Mrs. Dole Smith came up from Crane yesterday with the encouraging news. Mrs. Vic Gibson and Mrs. James Weston, sisters of Mrs. Drinkwater, are at her bedside, too.

Judge H. C. Levens was dangerously sick the fore part of this week and suffered a hemorrhage from a gastric ulcer of the stomach. Owing to the seriousness of his condition Dr. P. P. French was summoned from Boise to give the patient particular attention, as both the local doctors were kept very busy with the epidemic of influenza. Judge Levens's condition is very much improved at this time and he is able to take nourishment, but it will be some time before he is able to be out.
