

WAS AFRAID TO CROSS THE STREET

Could Hardly Stand up—Suffered Thirty Years—Restored By Taking Tanlac

"Daddy Smith's Home Garden Market. Fresh Vegetables and Plants of all kinds for Sale Here."

Nearly everybody in Los Angeles will remember having read the above sign at 2711 South Main street, and hundreds of people are personally acquainted with J. F. ("Daddy") Smith over, whose place of business the sign appears.

"Daddy" Smith is not only thoroughly posted on business affairs, but he is also well up on matters of general interest. He talks especially interesting on the subject of medicine, having, as he says, tried everything during the past thirty years in his efforts to overcome a chronic case of indigestion. In relating his experiences a few days ago "Daddy" Smith had a great deal to say about Tanlac, declaring that it is the only medicine he has ever found that did him much good. Here is his statement:

"For at least thirty years I have suffered the worst kind of indigestion. After eating I would bloat up as tight as a drum and just feel miserable for hours. During the past three years especially I just suffered agony, and no matter what I ate, if only a piece of bread the results were the same. I often had to get up three or four times at night and take soda or something else trying to get relief from my misery so I could sleep. I had no appetite, and with only two or three hours sleep at night and not eating much of anything I got so nervous and weak that I could hardly keep going.

"For sometimes before I took Tanlac I would not attempt to cross the street alone, for I was so weak I was afraid of falling. I was dizzy all the time and would tremble all over like a leaf. Well, I was completely down and out not worth a nickel, so far as any kind of work was concerned. I have read and studied a great deal and believe I have tried every medicine I ever heard of and I will say right here that I have never found the equal of Tanlac. At first I thought Tanlac was going to fail me like all the rest had, as the first bottle seemed to do me little if any good. But I stuck to it and wrote on my fifth bottle my stomach began to feel like a new one. Well sir, to-day I am in better condition than I have been in for many years and I am still gaining both in weight and strength right along. I work every day without tiring easily, eat just anything I want and sleep like a log every night. For a long time I have been bothered with my kidneys, but since taking Tanlac they are better and my whole system has been built up splendidly. I want to say to any one suffering from stomach trouble and a run-down condition, take Tanlac by all means, for my experience is that there's nothing like it."

Tanlac is sold in Burns by Reed Bros., and in Crane by the Vale Trading Co.—Adv.

How To Make Fish Scent To Attract Animals

An effective fish scent for use in trapping wolves, coyotes, wild cats, and other carnivorous animals may be prepared in the following way, according to the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture:

Any kind of fish may be used, but such oily varieties as sturgeon, eels, trout, suckers, and carp are preferred. A sausage mill, placed in warm tin or iron cans, and left in a warm place to decompose thoroughly. Each can must be provided with a small vent to allow the escape of gas, otherwise there is danger of explosion, but the aperture must be screened with a fold of cloth to prevent flies depositing eggs, as the scent seems to lose much of its quality if a considerable number of maggots develop.

Time Gives Strength
This scent may be used within three days after it is prepared, but it is more lasting and penetrating after a lapse of 30 days.

Fish scent alone has been used with excellent results, but several modifications are highly recommended. Using the decomposed fish as a basis, mice, beaver castors, musk glands from minks, weasels, muskrats, and the bladders of coyotes and bobcats may be added. Oil gives body to the scent and to a certain extent prevents freezing in zero weather. If the mixture appears too thin, glycerin, brains, fish oil, butter fat, or such other animal oils as fat from woodchucks and ground squirrels may be added.

Good System for Hunters

An excellent system for a hunter to follow is to commence with a quantity of ground fish placed in large iron containers, similar to a milk can. As the original lot is used on the trap line, it should be replenished by adding more fresh fish and others of the ingredients to time of new material seems to improve the quality of the scent mentioned. The addition from time to time of the fresh should be ground in mixture.

WHAT ARE YOU?

Are you willing to admit that you are not as good as other people in Democratic America?

Do you agree that there is a strata above you, as well as below you?

If so, the middle class union, recently formed in New York, will welcome you with open arms—provided you are not a capitalistic profiteer or a member of a labor union.

The middle class union has for its object the protection of the interests of what it terms the middle class—the lawyers, doctors, teachers, and all others who are not capitalists or affiliated with labor unions. It maintains that this great class is at the mercy of both capital and organized labor, and is further trimmed by the profiteers in other lines. Emancipation is its object.

The object is a worthy one, and organization is needed among these people. It may in time grow to respectable and even formidable proportions—after a new name has been selected.

The average American likes to think that he is just as good as any other man—that the self-styled American aristocracy are just a bunch of scheming, unscrupulous, profiteering financial buccaners, moral degenerates aping the ways of the old world.

Middle class?
Not on your life. Every man is seated serenely on the top of the ladder—at least in his own estimation.

Wise and Otherwise

Rumor has it that modern man, in order to keep pace with the women will soon be tripping daintily down the street garbed in decolete shirts and short pants.

Sooner or later we'll get in on this profiteering game ought. Have you an automobile you want to trade in on subscription?

Our daintiest little maid says she has one grave criticism to pass upon the year 1919. There was too much sameness to the figures—of the year.

And yet it is quite easy for any weary pilgrim to perk up, when he has the perkings with which to do the perking.

Mr. Hoover, at least, is entitled to one form of distinction. He admits that he is not a candidate for president.

What, we wonder, portends this ominous quiet south of the Rio Grande? Vic Carranza hasn't erupted for at least 24 hours, and that is some record for he of the whiskers.

America is large, and we have much room to spare, but not one inch for the cuss who seeks to overthrow the government of the United States. We may, or we may not, be of the party in power but we are American all, and we want nothing but Americanism 100 per cent pure. That's our creed.

Yes, every man has a will of his own—provided he is not a politician or his wife is not around.

Now that about every state has its favorite son in the wild and woolly presidential scramble, it is time for the cities, towns and villages to trot 'em out. Who's ours?

In some quarters it is suggested that a tax of $1,000 a gallon be placed on liquor. And about how much, at that rate, would be the price of a common, ordinary sniff?

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration.

Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of a tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.
