Frank Catterson and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christensen were up from Lawen Wednesday.

I. M. Davis and his son Percy were over from the Drewsey country during the week calling upon friends and attending to some business matters.

Milton Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brown, has been quite ill at the family residence in Berkeley where they are staying during the school year. He had an attack of influenza but is recovering.

Mrs. Leah Miller arrived home the latter part of last week and is again at her place of business. She has been visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Griffith during the past several weeks. She reports D. Griffith recovering from his recent severe illness.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid is going to have a regular party at their meeting on Wednesday, March 24. This meeting will be held in the Sunday School room at the church. Two o'clock is the time and all members are urged to be present.

C. R. Peterson was among our visitors during the week. He was in on some business and while here met with the committee in charge of the coming stockmen's convention where he took an active part in the discussion and made valuable suggestions.

R. W. Rea, an irrigation engineer who has been on the Ochoco project for the last four years, was in this city Tuesday to meet the directors of the Harney Valley Irrigation District. Mr. Rea is practically through with the work on the Crook county project and is open for another job. The gentleman met the directors and discussed the local project with them.

R. J. Williams was over from his Silver Creek home yesterday.

Mrs. William Hanley has returned from a visit to outside points.

J. H. Henderson is an inmae of the St. Joseph hospital for a short time.

Frank Flister was in town Thursday from his home down on the Malheur.

W. L. Best was in town Thursday. Considerable moisture has fallen during the week and indications are favorable for more.

James Taylor is in town having arrived here Thursday night on a visit with relatives and friends. He is a guest at the home of Assessor John Caldwell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dollarhide were in town for a short time during the week, having come in to have some dental work done. They spent a portion of the winter down in Coos county but it was too wet for Ross and he wanted to get back to the sage brush and a bronco.

M. A. Johnson, of Spokane, a land appraiser connected with the Federal Land Banks, is in this part of the country. Mr. Johnson is merely looking over this section, as his official territory covers other states. He was in Ontario on some business and decided to come on over to view this big valley. He is most favorably impressed with this section and states he is sure it has a great future.

Geo. Bollenbaugh was in town during the week.

John Borax is able to be out of the hospital where he had been confined for several weeks.

S. H. Seaward was over from Diamond yesterday looking after some business.

C. B. McConnell arrived home last night from a trip to outside points on business.

Mrs. Anna Pearce was up from her home yesterday calling upon friends and attending to some business affairs.

The local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs have decided to celebrate the anniversary of the order on April 25. Definite announcement will be made soon of the program for the celebration.

F. E. Towaley has been down from his home on Spring creek during this week. He says there is practically no snow in that part of the mountains, so we must depend upon that rain which weather prophets are predicting.

Frank O Jackson arrived home last night from Vale where he had been called to the bedside of his step-father, Frank O'Neill, who died last Tuesday. Mr. O'Neill was a good man and was well known to many residents of this part of the country.

Rev. N. B. Herrell, District Superintendent of the Nazarene church, will arrive here from Nampa to begin a series of meetings in the Nazarene church of this city on tomorrow. The meetings will continue for a week.

Nathan Brown was up from Narrows Wednesday. He returned the same afternoon as he is kept quite close to the job since taking charge of the store at that point. He is looking as though hard work was good for him.

Dr. R. C. Buerkl and his wife arrived here from Boise the fore part of the week. The doctor comes with the intention of making this his home and he will engage in the practice of medicine. He will be found for the present in the office rooms formerly occupied by Drs. Saurman & Brunet. Dr. Buerkl comes well recommended as a physician and surgeon.

Chas. Wilson was up from his ranch near the oil well during the week. Mr. Wilson is busy, developing an alfalfa field down there but he takes a little time to discuss other development projects at the same time and says he has very encouraging word from the workers at the oil well. They fully expect to recover a big bit within a day or so that has obstructed the hole for a long time. In the process of recovering this obstruction they are encountering oil.

A bunch of fellows went from this city to Bend this week where they were initiated in the Elk's Lodge. The candidates were: Grover Jameson of the Harney County Abstract Co., Dell Hayes, farmer, Harry Z. Smith, mail contractor, Glenn Brown stockman, E. H. Conser, cashier of the First National Bank. It proved a good bunch of fellows and they were given their money's worth. Nollie Reed and Frank Deveney went along to give the novitiates what aid they could in their perilous adventure. No visible battle scars mar the good looks of any of the candidates, so guess they were equal to the occasion.

TRAIN SCHEDULE CHANGED FOR BETTER

The Times-Herald has been informed that the schedule of the Crane train has been changed so that the east bound train from Portland makes connections at Ontario. This is a change long desired and has been asked for in the past. Formerly this train arrived a few minutes after the Crane train pulled out—some having been able in the past to catch the Crane train at Vale after getting off the main line train. The change is not only a convenience to the traveling public but it should make the western mail arrive earlier.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD

Many estimable people are fondly of the opinion that the troubles of America are at an end—at least in so far as our relations with foreign governments are concerned.

They believe that because we raised an army of 4,000,000 in a few months and sent 2,900,000 to France we have demonstrated our superiority in such a striking manner that the rest of the world will be glad to let us alone.

They are in error, as was clearly shown when England and France calmly ignored the threat of President Wilson on the Jugo-Slav question.

England and France expected enormous additional credits from the United States government. They did not get them.

They expected the United States to assume much of the burden of rehabilitating devastated Europe. They were disappointed.

They charge that we commercialized the war and annexed the wealth of the world, and that now we will not open our money bags for the alleviation of humanity.

They are disappointed—chagrined—sore.

They will bide their time until the proper opportunity presents itself, and then they will strike, either commercially or with the mailed fist, or both.

Just what particular form that retaliation will take, no one on this side of the Atlantic knows.

But Europe has a long memory. It never forgets.

Will power is God-given, but the devil often takes possession after delivery.

The pathway of life is beset with many troubles, but without them it would be a monotonous existence.

No man has a mortgage on the good things of life. Some, however, just take them.

The man who goes out with a firm determination to seek and conquer fortune generally finds that it was with him from the start, for fortune deserts no man who doesn't desert himself.
