

STRIKING SCENERY FOR BIG STORY IN "THE MIRACLE MAN"

Crooks in Clover in Dramatic George Loane Tucker Production

From the sordid slums of New York's Chinatown to the grandeur of high mountains and the majesty of the ocean—that is the range of the setting in "The Miracle Man," a big new Paramount-Artcraft picture, produced by George Loane Tucker, which is coming to the Liberty theatre next Thursday and Friday. The same expansiveness of vision is reflected in the absorbing story, written by Frank L. Packard, later dramatized by George M. Cohan, and produced with striking success on Broadway.

The central figure is a white-haired patriarch, who lives in the hills near the sea and who has reputed power to heal the sick and crippled. Tom Burke and his band in their hunt in the New York underworld read of his miracles and conceive the idea of capitalizing them for their own gain. So they go to the town where the old man lives and frame up a miracle for him. To their surprise they discover that he really possesses the healing powers accredited to him.

Gradually under the beneficent influence of their new environment there is worked a transformation in the hearts of the crooks that makes Rose the gangster's beautiful decoy, the charming girl she is at heart, that evolves a farm hand out of a dope succeeds, and also falls in love with a rich man. But the rich young man, who seems the ideal lover at first, soon shows Jane that his qualities are not the best, and she can't and, finally, brings out the better nature of even the hardened, sophisticated Tom Burke himself. In the hands of such capable artists as Thomas Meighan, Elinor Fair, Joseph J. Dowling, Betty Compson, and others of similar merit, this powerful story becomes a vital, living thing and one of the greatest dramatic spectacles the screen has yet revealed.

The picture was directed by George Melford, who was assisted by Claude Mitchell. Paul Perry was the cameraman. The story was written by Edith Kennedy. Miss Martin is splendidly supported.

"JANE GOES A-WOOLING" HAPPILY COMBINES ROMANCE AND TRUTH
Vivian Martin Has Excellent Role in New Paramount Photoplay

A combination of realism and romance is offered in Vivian Martin's new Paramount picture, "Jane Goes a-Wooling," which will be presented at the Liberty theatre next Wednesday. Vivian is seen as a courageous little Irish girl who is left with the care of her twin sisters when her father, who is an irresponsible vagabond, deserts and leaves his three children destitute.

Mickey Donovan, who runs the White House lunch cart, wants Jane to marry him, but Jane does not care enough for Mickey. She sets out to make a living herself and she help but compare him to Mickey, to the latter's favor. In the end we see Jane and Mickey happily united.

Vivian Martin is a vivacious and appealing Jane. This is announced as one of the strongest and most dramatic stories little Miss Martin has had in some time. Niles Welch plays the rich young man and Casson Ferguson is Mickey Donovan. Both are young actors of splendid ability.

Spottiswoode Aitken portrays an elderly playwright and Herbert Standing is Derondo, a theatrical manager. Others who are reported to do excellent work are Helen Dunbar, Byrdine Zuber, Clyde Benson,

SUMMER STYLES TO FILTER SUNLIGHT

No glaring lights to show up defects in lady's complexion this year. Bright sunlight is to be filtered through lace parasols and filmy veils. These art sketches from the metropolitan shops show all that is new in parasol, veil, handbag and gloves—the longer lengths in gloves being due to the short sleeve popular in all garments this season.

Wise and Otherwise

Even one lone man can do much for the community in which he lives, but when all men pull together there is no end to the possibilities.

The wise man takes a hint in time. The fool regrets when too late.
