

OH, FOR THE GOOD OLD GALLERY DAYS
Melodrama Satirized in "East Lynne With Variations"

Oh, for the good old gallery days when we used to sit in the front row and curse the villain as we wept for the heroine! How we did thrill when the heroine was tied to a log in a saw mill and the big buzz saw set agoing! How we reviled the scoundrelly wretch who sought to deprive the heroine of her darling child! Those happy days are gone to return no more, alas!

All this has been made the basis of a delightful Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy, "East Lynne with Variations" which will be shown at the Liberty theatre next Wednesday. It is a travesty on the ancient melodrammer of the days of our forefathers. Ben Turpin, the great comedian whose only defect is ocular distortion of retinas, and who has the fixed habit of looking two ways for Sunday, is the chief funmaker in this comedy, but he is ably assisted by Charles Lynn and Marie Prevost. The comedy is clean, wholesome and thoroughly enjoyable.

Fred came down the rope head-first at break-neck speed, while three cameras "shot the scene," and numerous people about the Lasky studio watched breathlessly, wondering if he would land safely. He did, and everyone agreed that when it came to doing startling stunts, Fred Stone was in a class by himself.

This is one of many similar hair-raising feats which Mr. Stone performs throughout the action of the story of "Under the Top." As Jimmie, he loves Pansy McNeil, a circus girl whose guardians plot to deprive her of her inheritance by wedding her to one of them. They cause her to be hypnotized and the marriage is to be celebrated while she is in a hypnotic trance. But Jimmie takes a hand in the proceeding with the result that the villains are foiled.

Mr. Stone's leading woman is Ella Hall, a beautiful and talented actress and chief among the supporting players are Sylvia Ashton, James Cruz, Guy Oliver, Charles Ogle, Noah Beery, Jane Wolf and J. Cummings.

"Wig-wagging"

Dorothy Dalton
in "QUICKSAND"

distributed about the building reading: "It can't be done—go do it." is one of the strong features of "Quicksand," a Paramount picture from the Thomas H. Ince studio in which Dorothy Dalton is starred and which will be shown at the Liberty theatre next Wednesday.

In this photoplay Miss Dalton is seen as a young wife whose husband is wrongfully accused of forging and imprisoned. Determined that she will prove his innocence, the wife becomes a cabaret singer and in this capacity lures the man who really committed the crime into a confession. This frees the husband and all ends happily after a narrow escape from the quicksands of life, which abound on every hand and trap us if we are not wary.

Miss Dalton is said to have been given a particularly powerful emotional role in this production which was directed by Victor L. Schertzinger and written by John Lynch. R. Cecil Smith did the scenario.

The supporting cast is a powerful one. It includes Ed Coxen who plays the role of Jim Bowen the husband who suffers imprisonment, Philo McCulloch who is seen as a wastrel, Henry A. Barrows who plays the part of John Boland, keeper of a dance hall, and little Frankie Lee. The photoplay by John Stumar is said to be excellent in every respect.

STONE DOES SOME PERILOUS FEATS IN "UNDER THE TOP"
Photoplay Affords Noted Star Many Opportunities for Fun-Making

In the early part of "Under the Top," the new Artcraft picture starring Fred Stone, which will be shown at the Liberty theatre Sunday, July 4, the famous comedian has to do a dive down a rope from a church steeple. The scene comes when he, as Jimmie Jones, a young village painter, quits for the noon hour.
