The world is full of pep, but apparently many people have a constitutional objection to being called the world.

They tell us that the early bird catches the worm. Well, that ought to be a good argument for some people to advance in defense of the habit of sleeping until nine or ten o'clock every morning.

Take an hour off from business cares. Center your mind on the very best and most practical method of improving and developing this town. Then tell us. Your views may well deserve publication. You may even solve the problem. Do it!

Want to have people running after you and begging permission to take your picture free of charge? Easiest thing in the world. Just get yourself nominated for the presidency.

Some men are lavish in the extension of praise for work well done—but most of it is given to themselves. Don't be too hard on the fellow who delivers free lectures on the street corner. It's probably the only place he can induce people to notice him.

Matches that are supposed to have been "made in heaven" should stay there. The divorce court's jurisdiction does not extend that far.

Some men talk loudly of justice, and roar quite as loudly when they get it.

Hit the pace and you'll get there—provided it doesn't hit you.
