FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD JERSEY RECORD BREAKER

Sophie 15th of Hood farm, Lowell, Mass. A former champion Jersey cow, at the age of 15 years and 9 months, has broken her ninth official world's record and has come into her own again as the world's champion butter producing cow. In her nine yearly records she has given 119,218 pounds of milk and 6353 pounds of butter fat; her average is 12,324 pounds of milk and 706 pounds of butter. The cow carries life insurance and accident policies aggregating $50,000.

any community, provided its possession is not limited to horses.

A MODERN MENACE

We believe the average man who owns an automobile is reasonably considerate of the rights of other people. Were it otherwise the fatality list would be appalling.

But there is a limited class who respect neither person nor thing.

They tear through the country at forty and fifty miles an hour, seldom slackening speed as they pass other cars on the road, and rendering the highways of travel more dangerous than a modern battlefield.

These men are a menace to every community through which they pass.

If they possessed either brains or decency they would be otherwise—but possessing neither, they become a public nuisance and should be sent to an asylum or a penitentiary.

Our laws are too lenient and their enforcement is too lax.

We consider it a justifiable act to kill a man who attacks us without provocation.

Yet the speed maniac, without provocation or excuse, kills and maims and is let off with a nominal fine—or escapes entirely.

A snake is a snake, whether it crawls in the grass or races at the wheel of an automobile.

It is time for the public to begin a campaign of extermination.

WHY NOT?

It would be difficult to find a community where there is no fault finding, or back biting, or criticism, or covert sneers, for human nature is peculiar, and indulging in such questionable pastimes is one of its peculiarities.

But suppose human nature in this town should reverse itself for once—for an entire month.

Instead of saying or thinking unkind things of others, suppose each of us considered only the good in our friends and acquaintances and neighbors.

Suppose we were generous in our praise and lavish in our commendations, and each had something good to say about each other person.

What a revolution we would see!

We would behold the unheard of spectacle of every man and woman gradually outliving and forgetting the petty weaknesses of life.

We would each be filled with pride at the good things said of us, with no unkind word to mar our pleasure.

We would be striving to live up to and deserve the plaudits of others.

In time we would become in fact what others saw of us in fancy.

Close to the millennium, yes, but—Why not?

Muscles Were Tied in Knots

This is the Way Driske Says They Felt—30 Years Trouble Ended.

"My muscles actually felt like they were tied in knots," said A. T. Driske a well-known carpenter of 2421 Forty eighth Street, Southeast, Portland, Ore., "but I declare, since taking Tanlac I haven't a sign of rheumatism and I believe I could get out there in the street and push any man in a foot race."

"It was thirty years ago that my troubles started," he continued. "I contracted a severe case of pneumonia and ever since then up until the time I got hold of Tanlac I was in miserable health. We were living at Medford, Ore., and as I thought a change of climate would help me I moved here to Portland, but it did little or no good. I had rheumatism so bad that I could hardly get about and I kept getting worse and worse I had to quit my trade as a carpenter, I had cramps in my arms and legs so that it was impossible for me to get a night's rest. I had a poor appetite and was gradually losing my strength and energy. I was badly constipated all the time and had a tired feeling about me all day long. I was in such a weak, run-down condition that for the past five or six years I had pneumonia every March.

"I started taking Tanlac because I saw where it was helping so many people all over the country. And I tell you it has certainly fixed me up fine and I am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am never troubled any more with rheumatism and I have as good use of my arms and legs as ever. My appetite has come back and as what I eat gives me strength and energy I never have that tired feeling any more. My constipated condition has been relieved entirely. I have been built up in every way, sleep like a child every night and when morning comes I feel as spry as a boy. I am sixty-nine years old but I tell you I don't feel it, and it's the way a man feels that counts."

Tanlac is sold in Burns, by Reed and in Crane by Crane Mercantile Co. —Adv.

We rise to remark that there is but little this week worth remarking about.

Wise and Otherwise

The fellow who thinks before speaking speaks less often but to greater effect.

"B. P." bids fair to live in history as signifying "Before Prohibition." But a good joke is seldom forgotten.

Take a week off—catalogue your many virtues and good qualities—resolve that in future you will double them—and then live up to your resolution. You will have no regrets.

Mothers do you want to know how other little girls will be dressed when they answer the call of the school bell real soon? The big stores in the city are showing this new model for early wear—a broad striped gingham with white pique collar and cuff. That hat is a soft light-weight loghorn.

and neither will the town.

No, we haven't an unkind word to say of any human being. It's only when we don't consider them human that we tear loose and rip off a few.

China is short on kegs, casks and barrels, but in this country we are mainly short of something to put in 'em.

Wise people are always willing to profit from the wisdom of others. That's the reason you read this column.

Some people are never able to make up their minds. It, however, is quite difficult to make up something that doesn't exist.

With Cox and Harding both handsome men, the male persuasion is at its wjt's end to figure out how the women will vote.

It is reported that the former crown princess of Germany is to marry an American, if she succeeds in obtaining a divorce from her husband. But that is by no means surprising. A charming woman is always ambitious to rise in the world.

There is a man in this community who is the personification of wisdom, prudence and sagacity. Perhaps it is you.

Don't expect others to believe every thing you say. If they did there would be no fun left in arguing.

Just keep right on voicing your own opinions. Some day you may believe them yourself.
