

Getting Ahead

There are a thousand and one ways of spending money to one good way of saving it.

Here are a few good rules for getting ahead.

They have helped others

They may help you.

Spend less than you earn.

Keep out of debt.

Never spend profits or wages before they are earned.

Keep an accurate account of income and expenses.

Open a bank account and give it careful attention.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Jack Ivy is up from his Willamette home on a visit with friends in this county.

The series of meetings being held at the Presbyterian church closed on Wednesday night. Regular services will be held in the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening as usual.

Mrs. Louis Schwartz, who has been visiting with Mrs. E. F. Schwartz of this city for a few weeks, took her departure Sunday for her home at Portland. She made the trip to Bend in company with L. E. McDaniels.

Miss Cecl L. Schreyer, Assistant State Advisory Nurse of the Oregon State Board of Health, came in last Monday evening by way of Bend from Portland to consult with Mrs. Martz in connection with the public nurse work in Harney county.

Miss Martha Hanley arrived home the fore part of this week from Portland where she had been for a few weeks. She brings back word that Mrs. Remhold, who has been so seriously ill, is slightly improved. This is certainly good news to her many friends in this city.

County Agent McDaniels was called to the state fair to be present at a conference of county agents.

James Lampshire and wife arrived home last week from their trip to Eugene where they went to take Mrs. Linton and Miss Gwendolyn Lampshire. They report some rather disagreeable weather encountered on the trip but no mishaps in any way to mar their pleasure.

When the hunting party of Irvine S. Cobb reached Burns last Friday it was found a bag belonging to Mr. Cobb had been lost. The telephone was used and wires sent to different places but the bag was not located and had not been up to a day or two ago. A liberal reward will be given for its return. The bag contained clothing but Mr. Cobb is under the impression there was no distinguishing marks either on the clothes or the bag.

Ben Ausmus left Sunday morning for the State Fair at Salem with some oats and barley taken from the field that is growing on the lake bed at Malheur lake. This is a portion of the proposed Roosevelt Bird refuge that Mr. Finley claims is not fit for agriculture. The field of grain is grown between two and a half and three miles inside the meander line or the line of the present reserve. Some of this grain is also at the fair this grounds in Burns and will later be seen at the Commercial Club rooms.

I. M. Davis brought over a stand of honey bees for exhibition at the fair.

Joe Morris is up from Narrows on a short vacation trip to take in the fair and look after some business affairs.

Ed. Stallard and family are over from their home on Otis creek taking in the fair and visiting with relatives and friends.

The aeroplane arrived from Bend early Thursday morning to take part in the fair festivities. The wind got us "back up" somewhat and interfered to some extent but we just go right along.

Mrs. Julia McGowan, formerly Julia Grooley, is here on a visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. McGowan has many friends in this vicinity who are glad to greet her on her occasional visits. Mrs. W. D. Huffman, who is here to attend the institute for teachers, is a sister to Mrs. McGowan.

Relatives have received word from Walla Walla that the 15 months old boy of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKinney had carried off first prize at the county fair last week, scoring highest in the baby contest. His "granddaddy" Capt. A. W. Gowan, says "Harney county born kids get there every time."

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Hopkins were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gemberling for a few days during the week. The Hopkins reside at Juntura where he is engaged in the garage and transfer business. He needed a Ford and had to come to Crane for it. Upon reaching there they decided to come on over to visit with old time friends and drive back to Juntura.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kelley and their son have been guests of friends in this city during the fair. Kelley started over with some of the Cat low Valley products but had them packed so solid in the back of his car that they were in no shape for exhibition upon their arrival. They were accompanied over by Miss Larson, their school teacher, who attended the institute.

L. C. Bradfield, one of the old time horse men of this section of the county, was over from his home near Drowsey to take in the fair and races. Lou has some fine running horses but did not bring any over to compete in the speed events this time. He misses the former gay times with turf men when we had big stables of running horses come to take part, but said he enjoyed the fair. Mr. Bradfield hopes we will begin early to plan for next year's fair and have one of the old time programs.

Celebrities are becoming so numerous in these parts that they fail to give the "thrill" they once did.

Mrs. R. D. Cooper was here during the week visiting with friends. She was a guest at the W. L. Blott home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Lillard and their son were over from the "Valley of the Moon" home to take in a part of the fair and attend the institute of the teachers. They were also present at the meeting of the union high school board at Crane Wednesday afternoon.

L. C. Kelsay, the civil engineer who made the preliminary investigation of the water, sewer and light possibilities for Burns, was here for a short visit during the week. He took in the fair and consulted with the city authorities. Mrs. Kelsay accompanied him on his visit.

O. O. Jetlay, chairman of the republican central committee of this county, secured petitions at this office yesterday for circulation to have the name of S. M. Bolton placed on the ballot at the November election as a candidate for county commissioner. Mr. Bolton is well known to many of the people of this county. He formerly conducted a warehouse and forwarding business at Crane but recently disposed of that business and is now on his farm a few miles east of Burns.

Teachers' Institute

The Harney County Teacher's Institute just closed was one of the most successful ever held in the county both in regards to the number in attendance and the quality of instructors from the state schools. Of the fifty teachers in the county there were forty-five present and the other five were excused either because of illness or because they had already attended institute this year.

The instructors of the institute were: Supt. J. A. Churchill; J. F. Brumbough of the Psychology Department and Miss Winiger of the Physical Training Department from O. A. C.; Alfred Powers of the Extension Division of U. of O.; W. G. Beattie, instructor in Rural School methods from the Oregon Normal School.

At the business meeting held yesterday afternoon D. M. McDade, principal of the Harney County High School was elected delegate to the Oregon State Teachers Association which meets annually during December in Portland. Mrs. Huston of the Burns school was elected to succeed Mr. McDade in case he should be unable to go.

Resolutions were passed but owing to the crowded condition of the paper they will have to be published next issue.

Your worthless TIRES are not worthless.

WHY

Because vulcanizing puts new life into them and adds many more miles to their capacity. We vulcanize scientifically and economically.
