

MOTHER'S LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

(By Carolyn Lisberge)
 This is the will of a mother. I leave to my children a heritage more precious than possessions, I leave to them a part of myself. Believing that true motherhood is more than birth and physical care, and knowing that at any moment the slender thread of life may snap, I hereby leave to my children these bequests, to be held legal and sacred after my death. I give to my children, first, a rock bottom faith in the genuine worth of people, I pass on to them my knowledge that highminded, decent men and women far outnumber the petty and the false. I bequeath to my children tolerance. Let them not hate any individual, but let them fight, if they must, social wrong. I bequeath to my children a shelf of biography, personal memories of great men and women. For my baby, I charge that a merry nurse be sought, a buoyant spirit with the gift of song. For my children's home, I ask only that it be a home with a garden. For my children's school, it matters little, whether large or small, public or private. But I gravely charge their guardians that my children be taught. To thing straight. To concentrate upon whatever task they face, and to complete it. To use their fingers as alertly as their brains. To find an outlet for imagination, be it in music, literature, or any art. Thus I leave to them the key to the door of beauty. To each of my dear children, who read your mother's will and testament, I write: Dearest One: Do not sprun this, your mother's legacy, as mere words. My words are of greater worth than gold or silver. For they hold my love to cherish and guard you down the years. Love is the treasure word of life. Never let it turn into dull self-deception, never let it fasten upon possessions, husband, wife, children. Rather let love glow and widen until it embraces all humanity. In this making my will, I am leaving more than a fortune to my own. I am bequeathing to the next generation the best of all gifts—the men and women. The egoist, the self-seeker among you, my children, I disinherit. But to you who accept this heritage, I know that I have not given, life fruitlessly. I am proud to clear myself. Eternally,
 Your Mother.

FARM POINTERS

Look out for larkspur and water arispe. Both these plants may be found in the pastures now and are poisonous to stock. Where stock are fed from poisoning before, pasture land should be carefully watched for these plants. Preventive methods rather than treatment of the trouble are the best means of controlling the poison. Watch the chicks more than the thermometer. They will show you if the temperature is right—no matter what the thermometer reads. Watch them constantly during the first week as this is the critical period. If you did not select hills of potatoes in the field last fall now is a good time to pick out especially good tubers for the special seed plot this spring. Medium sized potatoes well filled out at the ends, free from knobs, not misshaped, and without any tendency toward being spindly are best. Potatoes with rather deep eyes for the variety are often more free of disease. Those with the stem end discolored are not suitable.

Girls! Have Pretty Eyes

No girl is pretty if her eyes are red, strained or have dark rings. Simple camphor, witchhazel, etc., as used in Lavoptik eye wash, keeps the healthy, sparkling and vivacious. Dainty eye cup free. Reed Bros. Druggists. —Advertisement

Gas on Stomach May Cause Appendicitis

Constant gas causes inflammation which may involve the appendix. Simple glycerine, buckthorn bark, etc., as mixed in Adlerika helps any gas on the stomach in TEN minutes. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on both upper and lower bowel and moves all gas and poisons. Excellent for obstinate constipation and guard against appendicitis. Reed Bros. Recovery From Influenza Hastened by PE-RU-NA

Mr. C. A. Allen, R. R. No. 2, Bondurant, Iowa, gives testimony to the healing power of Pe-ru-na. Influenza left him much run down in health with catarrh of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes punctuated with attacks of asthma. He writes: "While recovering from the Influenza I was so weak I could not gain any strength for two months. The latter part of the winter, I bought six bottles of Pe-ru-na and began taking it. My weight increased to 175 pounds, the most I ever weighed. My usual winter weight is 155. If you can use this letter for any good, you are perfectly welcome." Such evidence cannot fail to convince the rankest unbeliever of the merits of Pe-ru-na. Insist upon having the old and original remedy for catarrhal conditions. Sold Everywhere Tablets or Liquid
