PICTURE OF THRILLS
 "The Heart Raider" Will Appeal to All Screen Fans

Filled with thrills from start to finish, Agnes Ayres' new Paramount star picture, "The Heart Raider," will be on view at the Liberty Theatre tonight. Mahlon Hamilton, a popular screen and stage player, is leading man and heads an excellent supporting cast.

The story deals with a headstrong young woman of wealth who has advanced ideas and rather too much independence. She boasts that she will cause a rich bachelor and woman hater to take her in his arms, and she has a difficult time in making good her boast. Before the bachelor realizes that he loves the girl, there is an exciting runaway, a thrilling pageant, a night swim to a yacht, a storm and exciting rescue at sea. Of course, all ends happily, but until the final climax, the fate of the heroine, played by Miss Ayres, is in doubt. It is just such a picture as the average screen fan will enjoy. The supporting cast is excellent.

"CHILDREN OF JAZZ" IS MOST DRAMATIC
 Four Prominent Screen Players in Featured Roles

Embracing in its story many situations of dramatic power and thrill "Children of Jazz," a new Paramount picture featuring Theodore Kosloff, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Cain and Eileen Percy, will be the feature attraction at the Liberty Theatre Sunday night.

The story deals with the jazz existence of Babs Weston, daughter of a financier, who becomes engaged to three men simultaneously. Richard Forestall, son of a man who maintains the social ideals and customs of the folk of the 1850's, is devoted to her, but when he hears of her escapades, he denounces and quits her.

Subsequently, Babs is induced to take a trip in a hydroplane with two of her admirers and the machine is wrecked in a storm off an island. The quartette is rescued with difficulty and they find Forestall on the island with his father and servants. Forestall is skipper of a schooner, the crew of which matines and many dramatic scenes follow. It is through these that the jazz-loving men and women find themselves, the climax of the picture being exceptionally strong and filled with novelty.

STATE MARKET NEWS

(C. E. Spence, Market Agent)
 Probably but few people in Oregon know that over 45 million pounds of clover, grass, millet, rape rye and vetch seeds were imported into this country from July 1, 1923, to January 31, 1924, a period of six months. What is this country thinking of to make markets for these products for other countries, when every pound of these forage plant seeds should be produced in this country? One of the several causes for the condition agriculture is in today is that we let foreign countries grab too many of our markets—that we buy abroad what we can produce here. Agricultural products should have the same protection that manufactured

The reports of Basil Manley, director of the Peoples, Legislative Service of Washington, D. C., says: "The present high price of bread is not only levying heavy tribute upon every man, woman and child who eats the bakers' product, but this indefensible high price is in large measure responsible for the deplorable." He declares that English bread, made from American wheat, retails for 3.5 cents per pound, in American currency, and he says: "If any government should levy taxes as oppressive as private industry now imposes on the bread of the American people, revolution would be inevitable."

The Christian Science Monitor of February 2 has a lengthy article written by a staff writer from Los Angeles, Cal., stating that an initiative movement is being considered by that state to help producers to better markets and elimination of the middle handlers by establishing a chain of state markets in different sections. The idea is that the market department shall act in place of the present middle interests W. E. Brown, former senator, is heading the movement. He declares that state markets over the state would set a standard of quality and service; would be distributing centers where producers could consign their products; would sell the products at the best possible prices and return the grower all the proceeds, less the actual selling expense; would stabilize markets and be of great benefit to both producer and consumer. Mr. Brown believes that if state markets are once established by any state, that the movement will extend all over the nation and finally result in a national marketing departments that will eliminate glutting and over-production.

Governor Bryan of Nebraska says that the state coal agency has forced down the price of coal from $3 to $4 per ton; that it is supplying 164 cities and towns and that this has been done without an appropriation from the state treasury.

The Dairy and Food Commissioner's office has put into effect new rules and regulation regarding eggs, effective March 1. All eggs sold or offered for sale must be graded and candled. The producer who sells directly to the retailer must candle and grade his eggs before sold. Eggs sold to retailers must be graded and before the retailer can sell them to the consumer he must candle them. The purpose is to establish standards and to guarantee to the consumer that he shall get what and all he pays for, and Commissioner Mickle believes that it will result in better prices to the producers who take pains to grade and put first class goods on the market; will be of benefit to the consumer and will put Oregon eggs in the best markets of the country. Full explanations of the new rules and regulations are sent to all the newspapers in the state by the commission.

Over 400 wheat growers and business men in the five big wheat raising counties of Oregon have organized a state branch of the Export League and are urging the passage of McNary-Haugen bill before congress.

(From O. A. C. Experiment Station)
 An ounce or more of salt a day is required by the dairy cow. A little salt mixed with the feed and rock salt mixed with the feed and rock salt placed where the cow may reach it is the common practice of handling the salt problem.

Hawks, owls, skunks, and snakes are the farmers best friends in rodent control.

A milk fever apparatus, sterilized and in working order, is kept constantly available on the most successful dairy farms. Plenty of exercise for the cow up to a week or two before calving will go a long way in preventing milk fever.

Sludge feed directly after milking will seldom taint the milk.

Prevention is cheaper than cure in handling the fly problem. A single female house fly lays about 120 eggs at a time in animal excrement or filth. These eggs hatch and in ten to fourteen days are ready to lay eggs of their own.

Round worms are the cause of unthriftiness, loss of appetite, rough feathers, loss of flesh and in severe cases of infection may cause death. Now is the time to clean brooder houses and yards well. Keep the drinking water and feed clean and disinfect the feed troughs.

CARE OF GARDEN SOILS IS SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

Plenty of Manure Said to Be Better and Cheaper Than Heavy Analysis Made

Garden soils, even though carefully selected sometimes do not produce as expected. The many inquiries coming into the department of vegetables gardening at O. A. C. prompt the following recommendations which is carefully followed by the grower will enable him in most cases to produce profitable crops.

A chemical analysis of the soil is seldom of any benefit to a home gardener although an acidity test or an examination of the physical qualities of the soil may be useful.

A liberal application of manure is generally the best remedy for a peppy soil. Well rotted horse manure is preferable to any other fertilizer. This material should be well mixed with the soil but not too deeply or much of its benefits will be lost.

Lime is very often useful in improving the texture of the soil which will help to make it productive. A good application rate is 10 to 15 pounds per square rod of soil. Wood ashes will not take the place of lime. If wood ashes are applied in too large quantities they will ruin any garden soil converting it into alkaline conditions.

In addition to the manure application it is oftentimes desirable to apply 4 pounds of a complete commercial fertilizer per square rod of garden soil. This is best broadcast over the soil and lightly worked in before spring seeding or transplanting.
