EXPERIMENT STATION NOTES

(Obil Shattuck, Supt.)

Mr. Chambers and Brad Moss of Drewsey were station visitors during the week. They are both trying out Hard Federation wheat, Hanchen barley, and Sixty Day Oats.

Mr. Drinkwater of Drewsey was a station visitor during the week. While here he made arrangements for securing two tons of Hard Federation wheat. He stated that they were figuring on installing a 35 barrel capacity flour mill in that section and wanted to get a start of good milling wheat. His selection of Hard Federation is a good one as the results of the Milling and Baking experiments conducted at Washington D. C. with this variety grown at the Harney County Branch Experiment Station, proves that it is equal to Early Baart and Pacific Bluestem.

Mr. Hall Hotchkiss was a Station visitor the 19th. He secured some Hanchen barley to grow during the coming season.

Mr. C. E. McPheeters was a Station caller the 19th. He secured some Hard Federation wheat to try out during the coming season.

Mrs. Katy Barber secured 100 pounds of Grimm Alfalfa for her father Mr. Pick of Catlow Valley. Grimm Alfalfa is the best variety for Central Oregon.

Mr. L. E. Seely secured some Hard Federation wheat to try on his farm during the coming season.

Curtis Smith and his helper Mr. Barber were Station visitors the 20th. Curtis loaded 1 1/4 tons of Federation wheat to grow on well subirrigated land. Curtis led his big bay horse on the scale and it weighed 1910 pounds.

County Agent Paul Carpenter, of Baker was the first man to purchase field peas this season. He secured 10 bushels and wanted to know how many more he could get.

Mr. Tacker, County Agent of Crook County is also taking an active interest in the Field Pea situation.

Few Farmers seem to realize the value of field peas as a legume grown in the short rotation.

The Station seed supply is moving rapidly. The supply of Grimm Alfalfa, Hanchen barley, and Sixty Day oats are entirely sold out.

Field Peas

Field peas are well adapted to the subirrigated and irrigated sections of Harney Valley. Experiments at the Station have proved them to be one of the very best legumes to grow in the short rotation. Wheat grown on Field Pea Sod, under irrigation, outyielded land cropped to grain continuously for six years by 37.1 bushels per acre. Sunflowers grown on field pea sod produced from 25 to 54 tons per acre. Field peas grown in combination with oats, wheat, or barley furnish one of the best ensilage crops that can be produced in the Valley and yields from 10 to 15 tons per acre, green weight. When cut and cured for hay the yield averages about 5 or 6 tons per acre. As a crop for finishing hogs, the field pea is in a class by itself. It produces a firm, sweet, marbled flesh that commands the top price. The field pea has produced as high as 43.6 bushels of mature seed at the Station, under irrigation. This crop can be hogged off, thus eliminating the cost of harvesting, and returning practically all of the fertility to the soil at the same time. Another important point in the production of field peas is the fact that they inoculate readily and thus aid atmospheric nitrogen to the soil, free.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

By referring to thirty years ago in this issue we find quite a contrast in reference to the flood water. Thirty years ago the roads between Harney valley and the railroad were impassable because the high water had washed out the bridges and the streams were too deep to ford, leaving the interior without mail for over a week. Harney valley was covered with water but this year of 1924 we have very little water and this condition applies to all of the interior country from the Cascades east to the Rockies.

James Fellows was here for a few days during the week looking after his musical instrument business and renewing acquaintances. Mr. Fellows was on his way back from California where he had spent several weeks and which he thoroughly enjoyed with old time friends from this section who are now residents of Los Angeles and other southern California cities. While down there Mr. Fellows traded his ranch land in the neighborhood of Weaver Springs for some city property. After a few days in this vicinity, having driven up from the south in his car by way of Winnemucca, Denio and the southern part of this county, Mr. Fellows will go on to Prineville and The Dalles, other portions of his territory, but will be in Burns again at intervals during the coming spring and summer.

WILLYS ANNOUNCES REDUCTIONS IN PRICE

No better indication of the increased demand for Willys-Knight and Overland closed cars during the current winter can be given than the announcement from Willys-Overland headquarters that prices on two of its most popular enclosed types have been slashed as a result of a factory output in excess of all original anticipations.

According to the announcement the price reduction affects the Overland Champion model, which has been reduced to $655 from $695, a cut of $40, while the Willys-Knight standard sedan has been reduced $100 to $1695. All these are Toledo factory prices.

Accompanying the announcement is a brief statement from John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, setting forth the reasons for this remarkable action:

"January and February production has exceeded all expectations. During the first month of the new year we manufactured 22,045 cars, more than double the output of a year ago. In February we maintained an average shipping record of more than a thousand cars daily, closing the month with total shipments of 22,136.

"This remarkable increase in demand has stepped up production to a point where our production costs per car have been lessened. In the case of the Overland Champion, for example, we find that we are able to maintain its position as the lowest-priced enclosed car on the market, with doors front and rear, because of the tremendous demand that has ensued since the original announcement of this model last Fall. We have stepped up our schedule on this model and even now are unable to cope satisfactorily with our dealer's demands."

Con Liebig, the local representative of the Willys-Knight and Overland, is receiving a car load shipment of these cars this week and some of them are now on display. He is just completing his new service station and is adding a corrugated iron shop with sufficient space to accommodate four cars at once with pits and all necessary equipment to handle a volume of business in that line. His new service station is an attractive structure and situated on the highway street where it will be convenient for tourist travel as well as handy to the depot when it is built.
