FAMOUS VILLA BORGHESE AT ROME PICTURED IN

"THE MAN FROM HOME" Beautiful Scenes Showing Historical Structure and Grounds Seen in Paramount Picture

The famous Villa Borghese at Rome with its beautiful gardens furnishes an historical setting for some of the many fine exteriors in "The Man From Home," produced by George Fitzmaurice in Italy for Paramount, and which is due for screening at the Liberty Theatre Sunday, May 25.

The villa itself was built for Cardinal Scipio Borghese in the early part of the sixteenth century and was in reality the setting of a miniature court to which the Cardinal, a warm patron of art and letters, delighted to attract the most distinguished artists, architects and sculptors of his day.

Attached to the villa is the Borghese Museum, designed for the Cardinal by a Dutch architect, Jan van Saens, and considerably enlarged by Antonio Anselmi for Prince Maria Tomaso Borghese towards the end of the eighteenth century.

The gardens, which once formed the park of Cardinal Borghese's estate, are now the property of the municipality of Rome. They are the resort of all the fashionable in the capital during the evenings of the spring and early summer, mingling among the throng of smartly dressed women one can see strangers from every quarter of the globe, officers from the various nations in their uniform, and monks in their robes, and in their midst, a smiling group of the most typical aspects of Roman life.

In showing this famous beauty spot of Rome as one of his locations, Mr. Fitzmaurice, doubtless will be assured of the gratitude of the millions who are deprived of the pleasures of travel, but for whom all the wonders of distant countries are thus brought within their reach through the medium of the screen.

WHY MARRY?

Why marry? For love or for a living? That is the theme of May McAvoy's picture, "Everything For Sale," which will be seen tonight at the Liberty Theatre.

The story is announced as full of that sympathetic appeal at interpretation of which May McAvoy is such a consummate mistress. The story is of a girl, fresh from finishing school who finds herself confronted with the old problem of marriage for money or for love.

Her reactions and the consequent situations, are handled in a deft and entertaining manner, not the least enthralling being scenes where the girl rescues her childhood play-mate from the waves which are battering him against the rocks.

The heroine also has a tense scene in which she is accidentally locked in a closet and is slowly overcome by gas, until she falls against the door and thus attracts help.

Identifying plant diseases keeps the plant pathologist at the experiment station busy now. This service is free to all citizens of Oregon. Some of the common diseases identified are Blossom blight of fruit trees, twig canker, western bacterial blight of alfalfa, rose disease, apricot canker, peach leaf curl, peach blight, and foot rot or tar, all of wheat.

Jed Brown tossed his hat into the political ring last week. He says it can't cost any more than checking it at some of these big city hotel dining room doors.

GLORIA SWANSON HAS GREAT ROLE IN NEW PROTOPLAY

Women Picture Fans Will Admire Her Gowns in "Bluebeard's 8th Wife"

Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, produced by Sam Wood, is a picturization of Charlton Andrews' adaptation of Alfred Savoir's celebrated French farce, "Bluebeard's 8th Wife." It is said to afford Miss Swanson one of the strongest roles of her screen career, and what her women admirers will relish most perhaps, provides her with ample opportunities for the display of amazing gowns.

The story is that of a beautiful daughter of French nobility whose father is impoverished and wishes to marry her off to a man of wealth. His wish becomes reality when a rich American meets and falls in love with her. She also loves him.

Then it is also learned that the American is a "youthful Bluebeard" and has been married seven times. One wife, it is learned, died. The other six he divorced. Miss Swanson as the 8th wife is shocked by the cold-blooded business arrangement made of her marriage and determines she will not be like the other wives, divorced.

So she becomes his wife in name only and exasperates him to continual outbursts of temper. But she also awakes his love and the real manhood in him. As a final touch, she causes herself to be found in a compromising position with another man. Her husband is jealous and both realize he really loves her. She agrees to give him a divorce but he, realizing what she means to him, does not want it. Instead, he goes to her humbly her sweetheart.

Miss Swanson's leading man in "Bluebeard's 8th Wife," which will be shown at the Liberty Theatre Sunday, May 19 is Huntley Gordon, a popular player. Paul Welgel, Frank B. Butler, Robert Agnew and Irene Dalton are in the cast.

HERE THEY COME, WHO?

Lancaster and Baird Comedians to Open a Three days Engagement Starting Wednesday, May 21

At last the theatre goers of Burns will have an opportunity to see Lancaster and Baird's Comedians when they open a three days engagement at the Liberty Theatre Wednesday, May 21st. This clever company comes well recommended and judging from press reports the theatre goers of Burns have a real treat in store for them.

Lancaster and Baird's Comedians have been in stock in Seattle for the past winter and will now tour the Eastern Oregon territory until September 1st when they will again return to city stock for the winter.

This is the only company now touring the Pacific North west that carries a complete scenic production of ever play they produce. It is therefore rated in theatrical circles as the highest class stock company now on tour.

From a repertoire of nearly thirty plays that the company use they have selected three of their favorites namely "Fair and Warmer," "Bought and Paid For" and "Pecks Bad Boy" or "The Barrier." Owing to the fact that the school exercises will be held in the Liberty Friday, May 23 the company will conclude their three day engagement Saturday, May 24th.

Among the well known players who will appear in the cast are Cliff Lancaster, Alvin A. Baird, Dolly Daye, Dorothy Randall, George Reuth, Carl Caldwell, and Elmer White.

TWO MERCURIES NEEDED IN FIRELIGHT CONTROL

lone.) Both cyanide and bichloride of mercury, one part of each by weight to 500 parts of water by weight, are needed to keep from spreading fire-blight and other disease bacteria in tree surgery to cut out diseased wood.

Both forms are fatal to the bacteria, but the bichloride is not effective on the tree wounds or the cyanide on the metal tools.

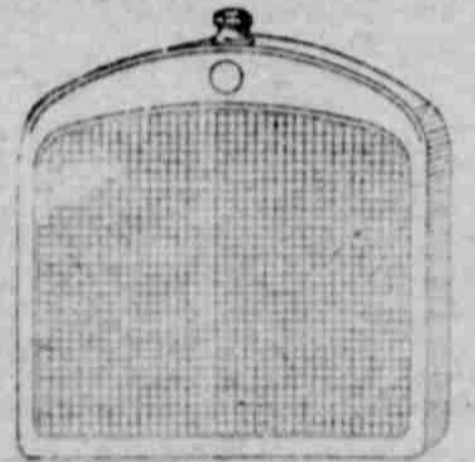

To avoid the trouble of carrying two solutions, the two mercury forms are both embodied in the Reimer solution.

Reimer solution, introduced and tested by F. C. Reimer of the Southern Oregon branch station. This has proved the best of more than a dozen different disinfectants tried out by Professor Reimer.

The cyanide form may not be carried by local druggists, and it is the suggestion of H. P. Bars, plant pathologist of the Oregon station, that orders be placed some time in advance of their intended use.

Cane fruits and strawberries make their best growth before the last of May. Many Oregon berry growers are now taking advantage of this by removing weeds and grass close to the vines. Thorough cultivation is also regarded essential by the experiment station.
