

Memorial Day

On May 30th we honor the memory of our departed—especially those who gave their lives that this nation might live.

It is a noble impulse that prompts this nation-wide tribute to our cherished dead and we go forth in deepest gratitude and cover their graves with the choicest garlands of spring.

In thus honoring those who have died for us, let us fully realize the One Real Tribute that we—the living—can render, is to Live for our Country, and PRESERVE—PROTECT and ENLARGE, for our children, the rich heritage left us by our forefathers.

J. E. Loggan and family were over from Crane yesterday to attend the Memorial exercises.

P. G. Smith came down from his sawmill Thursday for a short time to attend to some business matters.

James Young and J. W. Davies were in town yesterday attending to some business matters.

James McCulloch went to Portland last Sunday, going out by way of Bend.

Archie McGowan and son Burns, John Mothershead and Vernon Horton made up a fishing party that left here Sunday for the Deschutes country to be gone for the week.

It isn't much satisfaction to know that other sections of the northwest are suffering from lack of moisture. However, we are better off in that respect than some of our neighbors.

Lee Caldwell has received the fixtures for his new barber shop and is now busy installing them. He has three chairs and will also have baths in connection.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cook and their daughter, Miss Jeane, expect to leave tomorrow morning by motor for Portland and coast points. They will be met in Portland by Jo Cook on the close of the university of Washington where he is a law student and he will make one of the party to visit the coast recreation places. Later Miss Jeane will go to Seattle to attend summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Williams were over from their Silver creek ranch home yesterday for a short visit with relatives and friends and to look after some business matters.

The Cole Hotel is undergoing some improvements. The old porch in front has been removed and is being replaced with a new one also with a stairway that will give access to the second floor from the street.

The dry weather with consequent lack of good range is the theme that fills the "Those Who Come and Go" column of the Oregonian. Yesterday's paper has quoted several eastern and central Oregon stockmen as deploring the situation.

Mrs. F. E. Foren and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Everett Foren and children, are here from Prineville. Mrs. Foren would like to return to Burns if she could find a suitable proposition to induce the move but so far has not been successful in her efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Allen and little son departed yesterday for their home at Wallowa after spending a week with relatives and friends in this city. They went out by way of Canyon City taking the John Day highway down to the junction with the highway running east through Pendleton, preferring the longer distance home to the rough roads encountered in their journey over. The John Day highway is becoming quite popular with tourists from this section going out to the west.

The delegates to the Odd Fellows grand lodge sessions have returned home with the exception of Gus Bardwell, who really never reached Hood River where the sessions were held, but is spending his vacation time in the Willamette valley with relatives, and Mrs. Homer Reed and daughter, Miss Roselle, who went on to Portland for a short visit arriving home Thursday evening. Messrs. R. E. Drake, James Taylor, John Hodder and Mrs. Donald Hotchkiss returned home immediately from Hood River.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Blackaby and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Emison, of Ontario, were visiting in this vicinity during the fore part of this week. The gentlemen are officers of the Ontario National Bank.

H. Humfeld, of Portland, representing a loaning concern, is in this vicinity looking after his interests. His concern has a considerable acreage of real estate in Harney county and also interested in an irrigation district in the Denio section.

H. A. Hegeman, an insurance adjuster of Portland, was here the latter part of last week making an adjustment in the loss of the Jewett car recently wrecked at the Smith ranch above town. The car belonged to Robt. Drinkwater.

Fred Tregaskiss, a former Burns boy, came in the fore part of this week. We did not learn whether he contemplates remaining in this vicinity or merely visiting with old time friends and relatives. He made the journey in his car.

Died—E. B. Hagerman, aged 80 years, died at the King hospital last Monday evening and was buried the following afternoon, the services being held at the Nazarene church. Mr. Hagerman was highly esteemed by those of this community who knew him. He was an unassuming man of kindly disposition and high moral character. He had no relatives in this vicinity.

A. W. Gowen, one of the successful candidates for presidential elector in the recent primaries, was among the few who did not spend a cent on his campaign, according to the report of the secretary of state. E. P. Mahaffey, of Bend, elected as a delegate to the national republican convention, was another who didn't spend any money. Geo. L. Baker spent $1054 on his campaign and sums were spent by others in his behalf.

Geo. Benson, federal game warden on the Malheur lake bird reservation, was in town this week.

G. E. Stanfield is in this section looking after the interests of the Stanfield stock company.
