

Perspective of O. A. C. Memorial Union Building for Which Funds are Being Raised Among Students, Alumni and College Friends

The accompanying cut illustrates the massive size of the proposed building to be on the O. A. C. campus to commemorate the active part Oregon heroes played in the Spanish-American and World wars.

The O. A. C. Memorial union campaign to provide $500,000 needed to construct a building which will be a permanent memorial to the college and state heroes of the Spanish-American and World wars...

More than half of the sum needed was raised on the campus in an intensive drive of a week. Inspired by the record of O. A. C. and Oregon heroes in the war, the undergraduates and faculty of the college pledged more than half of the total in three days...

The great Memorial union project will seek to draw together the four component parts of the college: students, alumni, faculty and friends. It will be a great gathering place for college interests, a magnet to attract students and alumni in all walks of life...

California pledged $1000 to the cause and many contributions of $250 and more were received.

More than $325,000 of the total is now subscribed and construction on the building will begin in the late summer of 1925 and will be completed by the fall term of 1926...

The building will have rooms for student activities, faculty meetings, assembly halls for large gatherings, trophy rooms where athletic awards of thearsity "O" association may be permanently kept...

The Memorial union building will release much needed class room in the buildings provided by the state, said E. B. Lemay, registrar. "College life is highly organized and many of the student groups require accommodations which are needed for instructional purposes..."

Of much interest to students and faculty is the plan for the theater in the building, says the governing committee. One thousand persons will be seated in the well-appointed theater where campus productions, lyceum numbers and other forms of entertainment may be given for the campus from time to time...

A massive entrance to the building will lead into the main lobby to be called "Memorial Hall." Finest examples of art and sculpture will decorate the hallway. Leading back from it will be the rotunda, where alumni gatherings will often be held...

A cafeteria for students and faculty is another feature planned for the new building, which is expected to be ready for the use of the campus one year from next fall.

Atty. J. S. Cook, who was representing the plaintiff in the tax case, did not go to Salem to be present at the hearing before the supreme court as was his intention. He suffered an attack of lumbago and its much as the bargain that he can get up when down. For once Mrs. Cook has the best of things in the family and she ought to take advantage of it.

Mrs. M. R. Biggs arrived here last Friday evening in company with H. M. Horton and his wife. Mrs. Biggs was en route to Vale where she was going to join her sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Hayes. Mrs. Biggs had received a telegram stating Mr. Hayes was seriously ill and she was hurrying to her sister. She continued on to Vale on the Saturday morning train.

Mrs. Lola Millar has been seriously ill at the home of Mrs. Holland for the past week but is reported considerably improved at the time this is written. Mrs. Millar has long resided in this city and has been identified with the business and social life of the community for so long that her illness has caused universal concern. Her friends are glad to note the improvement and hope she will continue rapidly to regain her health.

Geo. W. Wright, the attorney-homesteader of the Drewsey section, was in Burns last Saturday, returning from a visit to his former home at Albany. Mr. Wright is a pioneer of Oregon and was for many years a prominent attorney and capitalist of Albany. He is now devoting his energies to farming and stockraising in the Drewsey country. Mr. Wright is prominent in fraternal circles and takes a great interest in the Odd Fellows.

Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Horton arrived here last Friday evening from Bend in a fine new Willys-Knight Sedan. Doc told a reporter that he lost confidence in the old Cadillac that had been bringing him to and from California for so many years and decided he'd try another car. He and Mrs. Horton spent the winter in southern California but had come to Bend earlier in the month. Doc went back to Bend on Wednesday as he had to be on the job for a while. Mrs. Horton remained here with relatives for the present.

W. W. Brown, one of the largest sheep men of the Central Oregon country, and who is also known as the horse king of the state, was a business visitor on Tuesday. Mr. Brown conducts an extensive live stock business and now that Burns has railroad service he is turning his business to this point as it is his nearest railroad point. Mr. Brown announces that he will not begin his lambing season until about the middle of April when his ewes will be in good shape and the weather will be better. He will not lamb at his Gap Ranch this season but further back.

"Russia is short on horseflesh, and when Russia manages to re-establish its credit, it will come to this country for a supply" said Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, at the Benson. "The best authorities say that there has been a terrific depletion in the horseflesh of Russia. At one time the people were reduced to eating horses, and some humans contracted glanders from the animals. There is a story that 129 school children, affected with were killed because there was no way of saving them. According to report, two Russian agents have been scouting around in Washington and parts of Oregon looking into the horse situation. Speaking of horses, the legislature enacted a bill for disposing of range horses, and I am informed that there is a man in central Oregon who is preparing to put up a plant to use the hides, make the bones into fertilizer and the meat into chicken food."—Oregonian.

GOVERNOR VETOES

TRAPPING APPROPRIATIONS

One of the appropriations vetoed by Governor Pierce of Oregon was the sum of ten thousand dollars, that the predatory animal hunters wanted to add to the State's expense, and which the taxpayers at large were expected to pay.

TOM CALDWELL.

For Mr. Caldwell's information we are publishing below what the governor did with the appropriation for predatory animal control in this state:

In H. B. 491—Predatory Animals

Section 1. The sum of $50,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, and no more, is hereby appropriated out of the moneys in the general fund of the state treasury of Oregon, not otherwise appropriated, for the two years commencing the 1st day of January, 1925, and ending the 31st day of December, 1926, to carry out the provisions of chapter 296 of the General Laws of Oregon, 1923, relating to the control and destruction of predatory animals by the state live stock sanitary board, in biological survey of the United States department of agriculture.

"I hereby approve $40,000 of the item of $50,000 appropriated in House Bill 491, and disapprove $10,000 of the item as referred to in Section 3 of Chapter 296 of the General Laws of Oregon for 1923, wherein it is provided that $10,000 of the amount hereby appropriated shall be set aside for the payment of bounties in the counties which elect to pay bounties."

IMPROVEMENTS STILL CONTINUE

A representative of this paper strolled around over town the other day and witnessed much evidence of improvement. The terminal grounds buildings are nearing completion; the work on the Standard Oil Co. site is progressing with the frame work of one large building up and being rapidly enclosed; the concrete foundations for the big storage tanks are in place, the foundation for the pumping plant installed with the engine and pump in place.

In Bennett's addition several new homes are under construction and several completed residences are receiving the painting and interior decorations; the Burns Power Co. has extended its lines into this district and that portion of the town is now being served with electricity; the Central Oregon Telephone Co. has also made extensions in that district and other localities in this vicinity recently and is serving a larger number of citizens with telephone convenience. In all it looks prosperous and that Burns is going forward as rapidly as weather conditions and the general financial situation will warrant.
