

CATTLE MEN FEEL ENCOURAGED WITH PROSPECTS

An article in a recent issue of a financial paper in which it is announced that recent advances in prices of cattle have placed the industry on a much healthier basis, has given local growers encouragement. According to this article cattle in Texas have advanced from $10 to $20 a head over the 1920 prices and that now sales are reported at $55 a head down there.

The same article quotes steers at fully $10 a head more than in 1924 and fat cattle in the Kansas City yards were $1 per hundred weight higher than the previous week.

With such prices prevailing the local stock man may be able to get out of the hole he's been in for the past several years and such an event would mean great prosperity for this country. We have a good season ahead of us to all appearances, and with such prospects in prices the local financial institutions will give every encouragement to the grower who shows a disposition to make good and continue.

IDAHO FLOCKMASTER HERE LOOKING FOR SUMMER RANGE

W. J. Plusey, of Ontario, a representative of the Oregon & Western Colonization Co., arrived here on yesterday's train. He was accompanied by W. H. Gess, Homedale, Idaho, wool grower, who is interested in securing some pasture lands for his flocks during the summer. They met Frank Johnson, another representative of the Colonization Company, here and together are making an inspection of some of the range lands of the concern in the mountains to the northeast of Burns.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 A. M. You are especially invited to Sunday School and church services next Sunday, Easter. We trust the epidemic of "Flu" has abated so that all will be able to be in their accustomed places by Sunday. There being so much sickness has interfered somewhat with plans. Come and join in the Easter songs and share in the Easter joy and hope. Come and be one with the boys and girls.

Divine worship at 11 A. M. Special Easter service and Communion of the Lord's Supper. Theme, "The Resurrection." "The Lord is risen indeed."

Sir James Simpson, a noted physician and the discoverer of anesthetics, erected an obelisk on the grave of his eldest child. At the base of the monument were inscribed these words, "Nevertheless I live," and above the words was carved the form of a butterfly, suggesting his faith that in Christ, death is only a transition. With an abiding faith in the hope and power of the resurrection, this great physician lived and died.

A gentleman in Portland claims to be able to restore withered roses of the previous summer to their freshness and color. Only he who is the "judge of the quick and dead," can recall the body from the dust of the tomb and give us a glorious body like that of His own resurrected body. A cordial welcome to all at every service.

SAMUEL HARRIS, Minister.

J. L. Bradeen, the Blitzen merchant, was a business visitor during this week.

You should read the classified ads in this paper. There's always some good things there for you to see.

W. B. Johnson and Carroll Cecil are over from their Silver creek homes. These two old timers are among the pioneers who have retained their early ideas of life, in that their friendship and hospitality are constant and nothing seems to mar the serenity of their lives so far as it applies to the personal affairs of either. Such friendships are rare; and by the same token, such men as Carroll Cecil and Bill Johnson are rare.
