FROM WASHINGTON, D. C.

Ed. HERALD: The stately dullness of the senate has been disturbed of late by the street railways of the city of Washington. The commissioners of the District of Columbia have authorized a railway company to use electricity as a motive power, and to place elevated wires on poles, between the tracks, to carry the current. Senator Edmunds denounces this grant as an open defiance of the will of congress. Most of the senators agree with him. Senator Sherman is almost alone in his defence of the commissioners.

Some days ago it was rumored that Mr. Blaine had sent a message, by Senator Hale, to the republicans in congress, to the effect that he approved of their purpose to present a substitute for the Mills tariff bill. Now the rumor is that he disapproves of that purpose. Both rumors cannot be true, unless Mr. Blaine has "changed his mind" on the subject. Republican senators deny both rumors. Some democrats believe both.

The bill for the punishment of the vile scoundrels who send indecent matter through the mails, was passed by the senate on the 17th. The federal capitol will leave a very beautiful city when it shall be removed to the interior of the continent, as it probably will be sooner or later, if the American republic shall equal in duration either the Roman or British empire.

As stated last week, the senate, on the 21st, rejected the fisheries treaty, by a strict party vote. On the 23d, it was rumored on the streets and in both houses of congress that the President was preparing a message on the fisheries question. All morning the democrats were visibly excited and eager and the republicans uneasy. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon the message was received. The senate precipitately adjourned without allowing it to be read. This act of discourtesy toward the President was the work of Senator Edmunds. In the House, the message was read immediately. It was listened to by the republicans in dead silence, while the democrats applauded heartily, and gave every evidence of unbounded delight.

The message is certainly one of Cleveland's best, and has made a deep impression on the people. It is manly and patriotic in tone, and while not heaping vain reproaches on the senate for allowing partisan zeal to overcome good judgment, and bringing the country into conflict with the leading naval power of the world, makes the best of a serious situation and asks for the power to render effective the only line of action now open for the protection of the rights of American fishermen.

The message spread general dismay among the Canadians, who, while greatly dissatisfied with the treaty, were willing to accept it for the sake of peace. They at first declared the message to be a campaign document, but have now settled down to the conviction that the President means what he says and that within the next three months the retaliation act will be enforced.

It certainly places the senate in a ridiculous situation. Having for months "twisted the British lion's tail" and roared for "vigorous action," it must now stultify itself by refusing to grant to the Executive the power asked for, or by granting acknowledging that it deliberately prefers war to peace.

The English minister says but little on the subject, except to express a hope that the matter may yet be amicably settled. G.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 28, '88.

In the apportionment of school funds for the present year, Grant county, having 2250 persons of school age, receives $2812.50. The whole number of persons of school age in the state is 86574, and the amount apportioned is $108,217.50 --$1.25 per head.

THURMAN ON THE STUMP.

At Delaware, Ohio, a very enthusiastic crowd gathered at the depot to greet Judge Thurman as he passed through on his way to Port Huron. Hon. E. F. Poppleton and a committee boarded the train and brought the Judge out on the platform. When the cheering subsided the Old Roman spoke as follows:

"If Mr. Poppleton had the making of the next Vice-President of the United States, I have no doubt but I would be the man [laughter and applause], but they are a great many others who would be glad to say upon that subject. I can tell you this, my friends, that if you want this old fellow to be your next Vice-President, you must go to work. [Applause and cries of "We'll do it!"] As I have so little time, I can't do better than confine myself to a single idea. You have heard a great deal about the tariff. That is a great subject upon which speeches are now made.

I have heard, in a long practical experience, a great many attempts to humbug the people, but of all attempts that ever I saw or heard of, the pretensions that a high protective tariff is for the benefit of the laboring man is the greatest humbug. [Applause.]

What is a tariff? It is a tax. A tax levied by the government upon the commodities that the laboring man, as well as others, use. It is a tax that takes hold of everything, from the crown of your head to the sole of your feet; that taxes your hat, your coat, your vest, your breeches, your boots, your shirt, on each and every implement which you use in your mechanical or agricultural operations, and now to tell me that to take the laboring man and tax him from the top of his head to the soles of his feet, and tax him on everything that he uses in his trade, and to tax him heavily, is to benefit him, seems to me to be nothing but absurdity." [Applause.]

Here the speaker was interrupted by a train hand, and jumped on as the train pulled out, amid enthusiastic cheers.

At Upper Sandusky, Judge Thurman spoke a few moments to the immense throng gathered there. He said:

"Under the time limitations as to stoppage of the train at any one place, you will not expect me to make a speech on the great questions that now agitate the people of the United States and the people of Ohio. If I had time, nothing could give me greater pleasure than to say something to you upon this much discussed question of the tariff. I would like to expose some of the humbugs that are sought to be made use of. When a man tells the laboring man that the tariff tax (for the tariff is nothing but a tax) which taxes him in the price of everything he wears is a good thing for him, I answer that it is an absurdity. [Applause.] What man ever got rich by having his hard earnings taken out of his pockets by taxation? And to say that a country would be made rich by heavily taxing its people is an absurdity that nobody but a high protectionist would dare assert. [Here supper was announced.] So, my friends, all I can do now is to thank you most heartily for the honor you have done me in giving me so great a welcome, and to thank you and say to you, one and all, that I am truly sensible of your kindness. I bid you goodbye."

At Carey he said, addressing an audience of 10,000 people gathered at the depot:

"It is a long time since the people of America had such a fair and square issue before them as now. [Applause.] You have in the treasury of the United States more than a hundred million dollars utterly idle, for not one dollar of which has the government any use, but which is kept out of the pockets of the people, who might use it in their business and to their great advantage and prosperity. Now the democratic party says that ought not to be, and I say so!" [Applause.]
