C. W. McClain is visiting in Burns this week. The roads were in fine condition for sleighing during the holidays.

Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Shewmaker attended the Harney balls, the 24th. Harry McClure and J. C. Buckland of Harney, were in Burns, Monday.

Geo. Zumalt, deputy sheriff, left town, Monday, on the Canyon City stage. Dr. Cameron, the jovial Canyon City man, arrived in Burns, Saturday.

Charges reasonable for livery service at the Red Front Livery and Feed stable. Mrs. Ray Thompson was quite ill at the residence of Mrs. Coatsworth, last Wednesday.

For best of Feed stable accommodation go to the Sayers & Sillman Livery & Feed Stable. Mrs. Reinman dined at the Parker House, Saturday, and says her two little ones have the prevalent cough.

Water is reported standing within 4 ft. of the top of the 150 ft. bore for water in the Sayers & Sillman barn. When coming into Burns with horses, be sure to call at the New Livery & Feed Stable, where you will find all necessary accommodations.

The Burns Band Boys are to be congratulated upon the result of the successfully conducted balls on Christmas Eve, Christmas Night, and New Year Eve. Miss Gunther having made arrangement with the Gage Sisters, has opened a dress-making business in connection with the millinery establishment--cutting and fitting a specialty.

Band Boy's New Year dance was not given THE HERALD for an announcement until all but the Burns and Harney papers were printed; our reason for not informing our readers of a very agreeable, social affair. Last Saturday evening T. J. Morrison came very near having an expensive blaze at his house, some clothing, having been left near the hot stove-pipe by the children upstairs, took fire, and was the cause of enough excitement to save the house and all in it except two suits of clothes belonging to a man and a boy on the place.

The senior of THE HERALD received a beautifully lettered initial hat-mark from Miss Bessie Stenger, now attending the St. Francis Academy, as a token of kindly remembrance. This is a Christmas gift we can take most delight in, as there is double pleasure in knowing our little girl-friend does not forget us while away, and is advancing rapidly in her studies; a Christmas letter to her parents shows remarkable progress, both in composition and penmanship.

Miss Jackson, of Baker City, has taught her school in Diamond, so acceptably, that she is re-engaged for the next session. This is a move in the right direction to be of benefit to the pupils; if a district secures the services of a good teacher, it will, beyond the shadow of a doubt, do it and every patron of the school justice by retaining that teacher from term to term as long as the money holds out.

The Poison creek Bible school met at No. 3 school house, on Christmas day, where they enjoyed a pleasant and profitable season in singing the sweet songs of Zion, and reciting from memory 300 verses of the Sacred Writ, of which number Austin W. Culp and Johnnie H. Culp were master of 150.

Deceased was born in Minden, Schaumburg Lippe, Prussia (then Germany), June 22, 1818, and came to America in 1845, forty-four years ago. He left to mourn his loss, an aged wife, Mrs. Christina Ritterbusch, four sons, A. F., F. W., L. F., and J. A. Ritterbusch, and one daughter, Mrs. E. Fisher, in Oregon, and a son T. L. Ritterbusch, and a daughter, Mrs. Emma Lyons, in Wisconsin. The sympathy of the whole community is with this family in its bereavement.

The accident referred to in the above occurred, as we learn, in this wise: On the 20th inst., while the deceased was about three-hundred yards from his door, he was attacked by a bull, and was barely able to make his way to the house, where his words and actions showed confusion of mind. Dr. Embree was in attendance, and, although everything that skill and good nursing could do, was done for him, his life was not saved.

In St. Vincent hospital, Portland, Or., Dec. 19, 1889, at 11 p m, of cancer of the stomach, Fidele Gibblin, of Burns, aged about 51 years. Burial 21st inst., in Long Fir cemetery, East Portland.

A letter from Sister M. Theresa, of St. Vincent hospital, dated Dec. 20th, was received by Mrs. Annie Gibblin, Dec. 30th, announcing the death of her husband. When the deceased started away last November for Portland, he had small bones of returning. He leaves a wife and one child; his property and business in Burns are left to them; his gold watch, the Sister writes, was bequeathed to his little son as a token of remembrance; the watch and balance of money taken with him will be forwarded to the widow, who has the sympathies of all her neighbors and friends, and we hope to see the business she so industriously aided her husband in building up in Burns, prosper as it has hithertodone.

Religious Revival. A Revival Meeting commences in Burns, on 5th of January, 1890. Everybody cordially invited to attend these meetings; ministers and christians of every denomination are specially invited to come--having a life a precious, every, s i, "and the sin which doth so easily beset us," and let us come in the spirit of our Saviour, who went about doing good to all men. We trust at these meetings there will be no arguing, debating, or edification, on the part of any one, but that we will endeavor to keep the unity of the faith, and knowledge of God, exhibiting from our lives and conversation that influence which will build us up in the most holy faith. A. M. McCART, Burns, Dec. 30, '89. Pastor.

FROM HARNEY.

HARNEY, 25-12-89. Continuous storms prevailing cause rapid reduction in the wood piles.

The toboggan comes with lightning-like speed down the glide from the abrupt raise in the rear of our city. No broken limbs as yet, but the doctors of our town look at the slide with an expression of satisfaction and a malicious grin, as they say "ah! fine slide;" well knowing they will have plenty to do in the immediate future in the way of repairing broken bones.

Our people rejoice at the arrival of numerous freight teams for the holidays. Rev. McCart preached a very able sermon on Sunday night, such interest was manifested that it was decided to hold a series of meetings in the near future, assisted by Elder Taylor, of Harney, and Dr. Embree of Boat Ford.

Harney can be proud of her citizens for the liberal manner in which they contributed for the Christmas tree, and the thanks of the management is sincerely tendered every one for their generosity, through which every child was remembered.

The singing was excellent, the declamations good. The two balls passed off harmoniously--the Court House afforded lots of room and the arrangements were complete; the floor in splendid condition.

Go to Tupper's. Horse shoes, nails, and all kinds of wrought iron worked into shape to suit the public. Horseshoeing and other blacksmithing done on quick time at Tupper's.

New Where is Mrs. Dambacher? The Baker City Democrat is in receipt of a letter from Miss Sarah Herriman of Beaver Falls, Beaver co., Penn., asking for information of the whereabouts of Mrs. Mary Dambacher, who left there in search of her truant husband sometime last Sept., failing, in her search, on a homeward bound train, she was taken sick and had to stop over in this city. Mrs. Dambacher's relatives are very uneasy concerning her absence, and it seems strange that she has neglected to inform them of her whereabouts, as she left a large family of children that need a mother's care. If this item should come to her notice or if there is anyone that knows anything concerning her the Democrat desires to be informed.

This is the extent of THE HERALD's knowledge concerning that erratic lady and her husband. In August last, a writer from Saddle Butte, a city on paper as yet, reported a man named Dambacher as intending to put up a store in that place.

In September during the races, a man most remarkable on account of a long white linen duster worn instead of a coat, was said to be Dambacher, who was to put up a store at Saddle Butte.

In October, an elderly lady named Mrs. Dambacher, called at THE HERALD office, and told of her husband's desertion of her, and we inserted a notice free of charge for her. During her stay we learned she had traced her husband to Roseburg, near which place he had owned and sold a farm; had seen and been advised by the lawyer that had transacted his business for him.

The above extract is our latest information, and, as it is more than likely that Dambacher himself will read this item, we suggest that he add to the interest his wife has given to his odd name, by setting out in search of the faithful lady. If he will, THE HERALD will bloom his start, if he will let us know in time; he needn't be restrained by fear, as she looked while here more like a faithful, earnest, forgiving (rather than a revengeful) wife in search of an unappreciative husband.

The Herald's

John Smith. 35 Lady of the Lake. 36 Paul and Virginia. 37 Sandford and Merton. 38 Boys and Girls. 39 Through the Looking Glass. 40 Book of Stories and Games and What Alike Verses. Found There.

We have sent for the above named books of Poems and will soon have them on hand to turn over to every New Cash Subscriber at $2.50, and to every subsequent subscriber thereafter $2.00. Look out for our great offer to Getters up of Clubs next week.

The New York Ledger for 1890. From this time forth the New York Ledger will contain sixteen pages. The publishers have been urged for years by their subscribers to make this change, so they would have the Ledger in a form convenient for binding. In making the change from eight to sixteen pages, Messrs. Robert Bonner's Sons have utilized the opportunity to introduce important improvements into the Ledger, and to add many new and costly features. The new number of the Ledger (November 16th) leads off with the opening chapters of an extraordinary story from the pen of Anna Katharine Green, (author of the "Leavenworth Case") entitled "The Forsaken Inn."

This remarkable story was written in a white heat--dashed off almost without rest from commencement to end. It has been the habit of Anna Katharine Green to deliberate for a long time before taking pen in hand to begin a new work, and then to devote at least a year to its completion, but "The Forsaken Inn" presented itself to her in a way so forcible and vivid that all her former methods were discarded, and she wrote the story under the spur of overpowering inspiration. The result was the production of an exceptionally brilliant and glowing literary gem.

In addition to Anna Katharine Green's great story the Ledger of November 16th contains the following brilliant articles: Nihilism in Russia by Leo Hartmann, Nihilist; Old-Fashioned Fashions, by James Parton; Dr. Hohnagle's Strange Story, (illustrated), by Julian Hawthorne; A Missionary's Life in the Wild North Land, number one, (illustrated), by Rev. E. R. Young; A Scientist's Bright Thoughts, Editorials, etc.; The New South, by Hon. Henry W. Grady; American Cookery, by Miss Maria Parloa; The Lady of the Rock, a Poem, (illustrated), by Thomas Dunn English; An Original Temptation, (illustrated) by Marquise Clara Lanza; Paying the Penalty, the 7th installment--illustrated--by Maj. Alfred Calhoun; Correspondence, Science, Wit and Humor, and a fine variety of miscellaneous reading matter. Notwithstanding the vast outlay to which the publishers of the Ledger have gone, the price of the Ledger is only two dollars a year. Considering its extraordinary excellence, the New York Ledger, at two dollars a year, is the cheapest--as it is the best--family paper in the world.

THE HERALD and Ledger for 1890 only $3.75.
