ly 6000 pieces to be put together, and these require to be as accurately adjusted as the works of a watch.

ONE of the features proposed for the Worlds Fair at Chicago in 1892, is a tower 1000 feet in height, costing $1,500,000. This tower is to be ascended by two spiral rods, one for cars and the other for carriages, three and three quarter miles long.

SOME ranchers of our valley are through sowing grain, while others have just commenced. Those that are living along the water courses have not been able to do their seeding on account of the condition of the ground, it being too wet, but all talk that the prospects for good crops could not be better.

THE Ontario and Burns mail route is published as a daily mail. If such is the case, how is it that Burns only receives through mail once a week? There is certainly a screw loose somewhere. The people are getting tired of this kind of a farce, and the matter, we think, should be investigated, and parties who are to blame should be made suffer for this breach of contract.

IN our year under the Harrison administration, there has been made over thirty-five thousand changes in office. When questioned as to removals, invariably answer given by cabinet officers is: No charges against the persons removed. Places wanted for Republicans. And yet, the pretense is made that this administration favors the merit system.—Portland World.

THE Democratic candidate for governor of Rhode Island received about 1500 more votes than the Republican candidate, but he did not receive a majority over the Republican, prohibition and labor candidates, which throws the election of governor and other State officers into the legislature, and as the Democrats have a majority of that body, the Democratic candidates will be elected. Rhode Island will cast her electoral vote for the Democratic candidate for president in 1892.

WE HOPE to see a full attendance at school meeting, next Saturday. Every citizen in the district knows the importance of such a move, and the value of a good school building, and a central school to the town and community. We hope no one will oppose this enterprise. The value of such a school in our town, to the little children is of more importance than a great many would at first think, with out looking deeper into the matter. You have a primary school in the same town where is situated a good central school, you can every day hear the little ones remark: "I'm going to study very hard, so that I may be able the next session to go into the large school building." In conversing with any teacher who has had charge of a primary school in a town where a central school is situated, and they will tell you that such is the case. The central, or large and finely finished school building, acts as an incentive, and stimulates the pupils of the primary department, to make greater efforts. Consequently they advance more rapidly, and with a great deal less work and annoyance to their teachers.

NOT SOON ENOUGH.

In our next issue we will notice the merits of the different candidates. (Republican candidates for the State offices) but will take occasion to state that the entire ticket will be elected by an overwhelming majority.—Items.

What a pity the Items didn't make it known sooner. Why, wonder, didn't the Items publish that bit of information soon enough so that some good Democrat could have sent a copy of the paper to the Democratic State convention, and saved that body of delegates the trouble of bringing out a state ticket. But, alas! the issue that contained that important news was too late. Still, there is one consolation. There is many a slip between the cup and lip. The Items does not take into consideration the fact that Oregon is likely tired of corporations, monopolies, bankers and bondholders ruling our government. David P. Thompson, for instance, who is interested in—so we are told—"one dozen banks," and also that he is willing to put into the boodle $100,000 to secure his own election; as usual there is no lack of funds to carry it has been for twenty years or more, towards central organization; the reins of the government in the hands of a few, and that few the monied power, and that power is the bondholder and banker, who have—as has been clearly proven and demonstrated—no respect for the agricultural or laboring class.

If the voters of Oregon believe in class legislation, if the voters of Oregon desire the control of their rights and liberties to be in the keeping of a party, whose representatives, in our legislative halls, make laws beneficial to the laboring class, provided such laws do not conflict with their own interest, but such laws must not infringe upon the rights or touch the pockets directly or indirectly of the privileged class; if the voters of Oregon, wish every vote they cast to forge another link in the chain that binds them more closely to serfdom with the banker and monopolist for their master. If such is the desire of the voters of Oregon, then we say vote the Republican ticket.

RESULT OF HARRISON'S ADMINISTRATION.

From the New England states, west, the Democratic victories in the recent elections show the result of the Harrison administration, or the consequences of the mistake the citizens of our government made in defeating Grover Cleveland. Cities, counties, and towns that have never been known to go Democratic since their organization, have given large Democratic majorities. The city of Milwaukee gave 5000 majority for the Democratic party. Before the election no one had an idea of such a result. It plainly proves that the voters of our government feel the importance of a change, and by their present action are stamping the seal of condemnation upon the Republican party for corrupt legislation. The people of the United States now comprehend that instead of the Republican rulers legislating in behalf of the laboring class, and the "protection of American industry," they have been legislating to the interest and protection of the "American capitalist," and we believe the voters of the State of Oregon are not an exception, and will look the matter square in the face, and vote the ticket of the party, which, they are now convinced, is the friend and protector of the poor, the government, and opposed to class legislation.

WE publish in this issue the State, and District Democratic ticket. The ticket is a good one. For want of space we cannot this week publish a full statement of the standing and merits of the candidates "but will take occasion to say," that every one of the Ticket should be elected, and be it said to the credit of our ticket, we believe there are none of the candidates selected by our delegates at the State Convention, identifies with any corporation, bank, syndicate, or monopoly.

THE Albany Democrat makes the assertion that the nomination of D. P. Thompson means a "boodle campaign."

"There is nothing in the candidate to recommend him as a suitable one, except his dozen or more banks, whose coffers are well filled with those 'sinews of war,' which have become favorite weapons with the Republican leaders in the absence of a meritorious cause, or worthy candidates. Dave Thompson is a cool, cunning intriguer, destitute of all qualities of statesmanship, or fitness for the office of a staid, honest conservative people. It has been quite frequently said of late, that he has declared his willingness to spend $100,000, if necessary, to secure his election. It remains to be seen whether a whole State can be bought or not."

TO ANY one suffering from melancholia we recommend the resolutions of the Boston Home Market Club. If they want make him laugh it is a hopeless case. This convective of high tariff Republicans resolved March 26th that "the directors believe that in cases like his, for example, which is a product of the farm are but incidental to a more important product, and as a material in manufacturing are fundamental to many great industries, it would be superlatively unwise to take such an article from the free list, where it has been for 18 years, and put a duty on it." To the farmer and the grower and which would, to say the least, endanger the prosperity of interests of far greater importance." The only reason why it would be "superlatively unwise" to put a duty on hides when the duty on iron ore must be maintained, and the duty on wool increased is that the shoe and leather men happen to be very influential with the Massachusetts Republicans.

An Old Pioneer Gone to Rest.

Hon. C. M. Caldwell, late senior partner in the firm of C. M. Caldwell & Son of Burns, Oregon, a Mexican soldier, and one of the earliest settlers in Oregon, after an extended illness of six months, died at his residence in the bosom of his family, April 25, 1896, and was interred with the highest honors that could be given the dead in this section of the country, on Saturday, April 26, on one of the most important anniversary days of the I. O. O. F. of which order he was an esteemed member.

At 2 p. m., after the family took farewell of the remains, it was taken in charge by Harney Lodge No. 77 and borne to the church, where to a crowded audience of relatives, neighbors, friends, and acquaintances Rev. McCart delivered the usual funeral service, interspersed with appropriate musical exercises by the church choir. The assembly paid a last token of respect by filing past the casket and viewing the pale features of him they had known in life.

The Burns Brass Band in honor of the old Mexican soldier preceded the funeral procession. The Odd Fellows in their handsome regalia followed the black-draped hearse with its guard of honor. In kindly remembrance of the man who ever had a smile, a kind word, and ready ear for every child with whom he came in contact, the school children marched two abreast with floral offerings, followed by the carriages of ministers, mourners and friends.

After the grave was filled, at the close of their beautiful ceremonies, the Odd Fellows gave place to the children's decoration of the mound—seven little boys so deposited the several letters (formed of evergreens and fragrant flowers) of the word "Grandpa," and four little girls those of the word "Rest," as to form a cross on the grave, the other children laid their several designs and bouquets so as to surround the cross. The pastor pronounced the benediction and soon silence reigned "round the bivouac of the dead."

A short biographical sketch of the deceased will doubtless be read with interest by the many readers of THE HERALD, to which he was a subscriber for himself family and a non-resident son and daughter, even since its first issue.

Calobill Minnis son of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Caldwell, was born in Botetourt county, Virginia, Sept. 29, 1821.

While emigrating from Missouri with his widowed mother and family to California in 1845 in Bear valley in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Mr. Caldwell, then 21 years of age, was, with several other men in the train, enlisted as a volunteer to serve in the Mexican war in Gen. Fremont's Battalion, by recruiting officer Tom Fallon. They went to Sudor's fort in Sacramento valley, thence down Sacramento river in an open boat and across the bay to the town of Yerba Buena, now the city of San Francisco, then with a population of less than 300.

The volunteers were put aboard the American man-of-war "Portsmouth," and taken to San Jose, where they joined Capt. Hasting's company numbering 80 men, who proceeded to raid the country for supplies. The company when equipped for service joined the Battalion at Monterey, marched down to Santa Barbara and on to Los Angeles. In an effort to convert the volunteers into regulars, at one time, Gen. Fremont won the warmest regards of his men by paying them, each, $25 as part of their pay, out of his private means. In May, 1847, the volunteers were mustered out and scattered over the country, the subject of our sketch in the fall of that year again crossing the plains, employed as one of a guard of 46 men as far as St. Joseph, Mo. married Miss Mary Williamson, the lady who, to-day is widowed by his death, after a union of 42 years.

In 1849 when the gold fever was at its height, he again crossed the plains, and in 1852, went back and returned with his wife and infant son W. H. Caldwell to make his home on the coast, finally locating in Oregon in 1857 in Marion county.

In 1862 served as Justice of the Peace two years in Josephine county; in 1864 as State Senator for that county. In 1865 was one of the seven Democrats (2 in the senate and 5 in the house) that voted "nay" on the 14th and 15th U. S. constitutional amendments, when the legislature was in called session to ratify same.

In 1868 represented Douglas county in the lower house of the Oregon legislature.

Sixteen years ago he united with the I. O. O. F. with whom he was a member in good standing at the time of his death. Out of ten children five reached the years of maturity: Three, with their families, W. H. Caldwell, Mrs. A. A. Stenger, and L. M. Caldwell, are residents in Burns near his late home, and in daily attendance during the past six months of his weary patient suffering. J. B. Caldwell resides in Walsburg, Wash. and Mrs. F. E. Smith, at Yoncalla, Douglas county, Oregon.

Such is the record of prominent events in the long life of a brave soldier, an enterprising citizen, a kind husband and father, and a good neighbor.

Democrat's Magazine.

The "White House," to most people means a flat, two-story, unpretentious white house, as the view generally given of it shows the severely plain north front; but there are many other views of the home of our Presidents, and we are indebted to Democrat's Family Magazine for laying them before us. The Magazine number of Democrat's Family Magazine takes you to Washington and shows you the "White house" from every point of view, as well as its charming surroundings. The seventeen beautiful illustrations will give you a better idea of the nation's Executive Mansion than you could possibly gain by a personal visit; and never before has it been so fully and beautifully illustrated.

This feature alone will make the May number of Democrat's Family Magazine have a phenomenal sale; and those who are so fortunate as to possess it, will find in it a fund of information and amusement, containing, as it does, nearly two hundred illustrations, embellishing such articles as "A May Festival in Florence," "Transformations of a Butterfly," "The Stellar Universe," "The Fables of the Plains," "Modeling in Glass," "Kindergarten Work and Play for Home," etc. Besides, in this number Ella Wheeler Wilcox commences an intensely interesting story; and two oil pictures, "I Won't" and "I Will," make it doubly attractive. Published by W. Jennings Democrat, 15 East 14th St., New York.

The imperial palace, twenty miles west of St. Petersburg, has been burned down by nihilists. Seven persons perished in the flames.

The Providence Telegram says that in the year 1848, William F. Andrews, a master mason of Providence, stamped his initials on a copper cent, sent it out to the world, in other words put it in circulation. But Mr. Andrews always hoped to have it back. Not long since, while taking some change, he found his coin back again. After forty years of wandering it had returned, and he would not take hundreds of dollars for it.

State News.

—The largest number of prisoners, 330 in the history of the Oregon penitentiary are now confined therein.

—The Oregonian says that H. M. Donaldson, a politician of the democratic persuasion, is in Portland. This is rather hard on an aspirant for joint senator for Baker and Malheur counties on the Republican ticket.

—Natural gas has been found in Warrenton, a suburb of Astoria. A man by the name of Harrison was sinking a well, and at a depth of 149 ft. a flow of gas drove the workmen away, when the flame ignited, burned brightly five feet high. Capitalists propose to sink more wells, believing that a stronger flow will be secured at a greater depth.

—J. D. Combs, of John Day, has matched the race-horse, "Jordan," against "Brown Dick," owned by Haywood, of the South Fork, for a purse of $200.00 a side. The race will come off the 7th of June on the Mount Vernon race course. Considerable interest will be manifested in this race as both horses are well known in Grant county and bear the name of swift steeds. —Canyon City News.

—A train wreck occurred at Union recently, which in the matter of financial loss to the company will be very serious. Two heavy freight engines were thrown from the track by the spreading of a rail, and piled one on top of the other along side the track. Several freight cars up for several yards. The two engines and firemen of the front engine jumped. The fireman of the second engine could not escape from the cab but very fortunately got through without serious injury. One of the engines is almost buried out of sight in the mud. Assistant Superintendent Parry went to the scene with a wrecking crew and constructed a temporary track around the wreck.—B. R. D.

—The Lewisburg correspondent of the Salem Statesman says: Grandmother Lewis, in her 83d year, while returning from the spring with her pail of water, picked up an Indian arrow head that is quite a relic. It is black flint interspersed with quartz, pearl and emerald, and under the microscope exhibits a roseate hue of exquisite beauty. The Molalla Indians forty years ago told the whites of a rock south of Mt. Hood, in the mountains, that shown with such intense brightness as to excite superstition in the savage breast to such an extent that they feared to approach the sparkling luminary. There is not much credulity to be attached to Indian tradition, but if the stone from which this arrow head was extracted could be located, gems of great value might be found.

Miss Highup—"It's perfectly scandalous! Did you hear about Miss De Pink?"
Miss Tiptop—"No. What has she done?"
"Oh, the most unmodest thing imaginable! She's let all the world know she is crazy to get married by going and joining a cookery school."—New York Weekly.

Additional Items.

—Judge Shields held a call term of court, Monday, April 28th.

—Henderson Elliott, R. N. Miller, Harvey Elliott and J. Wrisley, Silver creek, were in town last Monday and Tuesday, on land business.

—The spring term of school in district No. 3 Polson creek will begin on Monday May 5th Miss Rose Hembree teacher.

—There will be preaching on Silver creek, at the school house, Saturday afternoon of May 3d at 4 o'clock p. m. by Rev. McCart.
