The dead carcass of animals that died during the past winter, and in near this town, since the spring weather has set in are now giving notice of their whereabouts in a way that is anything but pleasant. We—the citizens—of Burns should have seen to it, and moved or had the dead cattle and horses some distance from town, so as to be rid of this offensive stench that we are now compelled to endure.

The Burns Hotel under the management of the present proprietor, E. K. Taylor, is gaining ground rapidly and is now the leading hotel of Burns. The dining room, sitting room and parlor, are getting a neat coat of paint. Mr. Taylor spares no pains in trying to please and accommodate his patrons, also, provides his table with all the market affords. We do not hesitate to recommend the Burns Hotel to the public.

It is a toss-up between Burns and Harney, as to which has the most neglected burial grounds. Citizens in both places appear to remember the "City of the Dead," only when space is claimed by some new victim of the grim Destroyer. These cemeteries could both be put in neat order by a half-day's work, if every idle man in town were to pitch in some cool morning for that purpose. Mr. HERALD has several times suggested that all who have or expect to have an interest in the cemeteries go and locate suitable lots, before the present confusion in the older one makes the trouble of removals he let the horses go, and they went,

FRED LUNABURG, J. H. PRATT.

Notice. The last volume issued of Alden's Manifesto is fully up to the high standard of the preceding volumes, and readers will be pleased to learn of the rapid progress the work is now making; strong financial allies have recently been secured in the publishing department, two large printing offices are now at work upon it, and the publication is to be hastened to completion with all the speed that abundant resources and energy can give it. People have wondered how a work of such superior merit and magnitude, and so handsomely and thoroughly put up—a rival of the Britannica, Johnson, Appleton and the rest—could be published at all, at prices so remarkably low, and searchers for knowledge, as well as the publishers, are to be congratulated upon the new promise of success. A 40 volume Cyclopaedia, including an Unabridged Dictionary of language, large type, several thousand illustrations, all for $30.00, and even that in such easy installments as one pleases to ask, almost, is a great thing for the public. Specimen pages sent free to any applicant, by the publisher, John B. Alden, New York, Chicago, and Atlanta.

Notice. Notice is hereby given that after this date, April 29th, the charge by THE HERALD for final proof publications, will be $7.50, and for timber culture and contest cases, $10. The regular and established prices of all places where land offices are located. W. C. BYRD & SON.

Surveying The Line. As an indication that the Baker City street railway and motor company means business it may be said that Surveyor Voigt and assistants were in the field yesterday surveying the proposed street railway line down Main street to Center, thence to the depot. This move does away with the belief that the company was only practicing a bluff game as so many were, want to imagine and settles beyond question the fact that Baker City is to have a sure enough street railway, which is indeed pleasant to contemplate.—Bedrock Democrat.

Notice. The only person authorized to transact business for the undersigned, is J. Nat. Hudson, attorney-at-law, Harney, who will make settlement with all parties indebted to them, between dates May 1 and May 15, 1890.—This includes all subscriptions prior to Nov. 23, 1889, advertising and job work accounts prior to March 1, 1890, due the EAST OREGON HERALD.

D. L. & N. GRACE. Burns, Oregon, April 28th 1890.

Go to Tupper's. Horse shoes, nails, and all kinds of wrought iron worked into shape to suit the public. Horseshoeing and other blacksmithing done on quick time at Tupper's.

"Texas" Bar. "Our Father, 'Tex' make haste, 'Who art.' 'Come, boys, take a taste, 'in heaven.' 'Jeusalem, that's a good, 'Hallowed be.' But that's what I understand, 'The name.' That 'Tex' of whisky kept the 'Tex'.

"The kingdom come." This we heard, and that's the way. 'Thy will.' Till to satisfy our own curiosity, 'Be done.' And as we are not given to vertice 'Up.' 'On earth.' We expect as men of renown, 'Amen.' That 'Tex' has the best whisky 'in town'.
