We are having regular March squalls, "squalls, or blizzards." Something similar to our town election yesterday.

The Herald considers itself honored when censured by the republican party for standing by its own democratic conviction of right.

Many firms who now think there is nothing in advertising will think different in a few years, if they will only watch the success of the firms that do advertise.

The O. C. Company Huntington Oregon have a full stock of everything in the mercantile line. Send in your orders by mail, parcel or wagon load. They will certainly give satisfaction.

One would think to hear some parties talk in Burns, that there is no other place of importance on earth, that the pleasure of the political factions "of this town" must be consulted regardless of the wishes or good of the party elsewhere.

The town election held here yesterday resulted in the election of the following named officers: For Mayor, Capt. H. Kelky; For Treasurer, Irwin Geer; For Recorder, J. C. Welcome; For Councilmen: J. W. Ashford, L. M. Brown, L. M. Caldwell, and P. F. Stenger.

Benjamin Eggleston, of Ashland, has a hen that has established a nest in the center of his flower garden in the most conspicuous part of his front yard and deposits an egg regularly every day except Sunday. If any one can show another case of such a perfect typical christian training in the lower animals, they should report at once to this office.—Ashland Record.

H. B. Hendricks and J. H. Dierkes special agents for the N. Y. Life Insurance Company are working Burns this week.

"O wad some power the giftie gie us, To see ourselves as others see us! And foolish notion."—Burns. And so says the Burns critic.

We have heard on the street from one or two who claim to be democrats that the Democratic Municipal Convention was a half-breed convention. The editor of this paper attended and took part in it and we personally know that none but democrats were there. The meeting was called by the Secretary of the Democratic County Central Committee, and notices posted over his signature inviting all democrats to attend. Moreover every man on the ticket nominated has been prominently identified with the interests of Burns in the county seat fight.

We are informed that the convention, held in the hall above the Herald office, on the afternoon of Feb. 23d, is branded by some parties, "The Grace and Miller convention." In speaking of the aforesaid gentlemen, we presume they should certainly have a right to express their political opinion on any question, whether it be a question of advisability of holding a convention or some other of like nature. The responsibility of that meeting rests on the shoulders of the Herald office, J. Nat. Hudson, Geo. S. Sizemore, and a few more Democrats, and it is certainly no disgrace to a democratic convention, to have its advocates the gentlemen named, for let their faults and mistakes be what they may, it certainly cannot be denied that they are Democrats and will stand by their party first and always.

Harney's Funeral Services. The Supreme Court of the State sounded the death knell of Harney's county seat aspirations.

Around the final resting place of our dear departed sister (Harney) assembled the mourners to perform the last solemn duties of respect to the departed dear one. The first solemn exclamation, of the Eulogist, was "Harney was a great old gal."

The response from the brethren was "you bet" the solemnity of this occasion inspires one to make a few appropriate remarks. We presume the earth will continue to revolve; the sun will rise and set as usual, his radiant splendor will still be admired, and his growing qualities appreciated.

Strangers will come to Harney valley, and will not know that our dear departed sister, ever existed as a temporary county seat.

And we brethren who mourn her loss will, ere many years, follow our sister to the land of eternal silence. In the coming years of good times, and prosperity of Harney county, no one will concern himself about our joys or sorrows.

We will now commit our sister's remains to her political grave, there to rest until Gabriel, with one foot on Stearns Mountain and the other in Snake river, declares that times shall be no more. The skin of a yearling "Slick ear" was then deposited in the grave. The Eulogist continued "this skin is an emblem of innocences, and the badge of our order, which is more ancient than Rome, and more honorable than the Supreme court of Oregon. The Eulogist taking a sprig of sagebrush, said: "This beautiful sprig of evergreen sage-brush, which has often marked the last resting place of the untutored Piate, is an emblem of our undying faith in our order. By it we are reminded that we have a never-dying principle of greenness in our natures unknown to our race and color. Yet through the power of our Divine Master we hope to out-ride our sister, Burns, and that our departed sister and all our beloved "dupes" will bloom in eternal greenness beyond the western skies, to the melting breezes of the "Tropex." The following ode was sung.

"Solemn strikes the funeral note, We lost our county seat with the blank vote; And while we journey here below, We are sad and why not so? We've lain our Harney down to rest, Under the sod near Bird's Nest, There to rest where she's interred, To rise again when Gates trump is heard. After the benediction the procession adjourned to the saloon for the drinks.

A Horse Thief. Wichita, Kan., Feb. 14.—In the midst of a revival meeting in a church at Hazelton, Wednesday, the congregation was thrown into a commotion by the entrance of the sheriff and the arrest of Jack Pool, one of the exhorters, on a charge of horse-stealing. Pool suffered himself to be led to the door, where he pulled a revolver and began firing. He hit the sheriff in the right hand. The officer returned the shots with his left, but Pool managed to escape and has not been recaptured. Pool came from Missouri a few months ago, and soon took a leading part in church work. Three months ago he disappeared for a month and, at the same time some valuable thoroughbred horses disappeared from the Hazelton stock farm. The horses were traced to Missouri. It is said there is ample evidence to show that he stole them, and that he has served a term in the Missouri penitentiary.—East Oregonian.

A Bad Man in Jail. Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 5.—David M. Daniels is here in jail, the two chief witnesses against him being a woman, who was supposed to be his wife, and her 17-year-old daughter. Joseph Evans, a well-known man is the precursor, charging that Daniels has a wife and family in Wales.

At the hearing the woman testified she was the wife of Charles Evans of Pittsburg, Pa., and that Daniels, who boarded with them, had induced her to elope and come to Uniontown. Some time ago she discovered that Daniels was having improper relations with her daughter and the latter confessed to this at the hearing.

Daniels was remanded to jail to await trial on three charges. Since being in Uniontown he has been an exhorter at church services. He got behind in his accounts with the Metropolitan Insurance Company and his brothers in the church indorsed a note for him for $50, which, when due, they had to pay.

Twenty nine states have passed laws restricting the sale of cigarettes. Still the cigarette business increases yearly in extent and profit.

At a prize fight in Seattle a short time ago, one of those brave fellows knocked another out so far, that he has not yet returned to claim his share of the gate money. We guess his part of the "ever needy" will go to the missionary fund.

Rain-in-the-face, who is now at the head of the hostile tribes, is one of the bravest Indians in the west, as well as one of the worst. He is the reputed slayer of Custer, though that distinction has been claimed by Spotted Tail and several other braves. He is said to be absolutely devoid of fear.

Senator Blackman is perhaps the most unassuming member of the senate, but his work is very manifest. He modestly says: We democrats are not in it. Then too, I am a new senator, and will keep my mouth shut this session; but, my dear boy, two years hence we democrats will not be so few, and then you'll see the moss fly.

Senator Blackman is alive to the interests of his section, and his constituents can rest assured that he will look after his district, even though it is larger than the state of Massachusetts.—Oregonian.
