Police court.—Bill Woods fined $20 for fast driving.

Dr. Boyd is now located at Drewsey. Success doctor.

Attention is called to the ad. of R. C. Geer in this issue.

County court next Monday, circuit court the 18th.

Notice the card of N. Brown, Real Estate agent, in this issue.

David and William Shirk were in town three or four days last week.

We are informed that Harney expects to have a flouring mill in operation by the time the next crop matures.

Send in your orders for baby buggies, plates, prices and terms, at Mrs. E. S. Sweek's Millinery Store, Gage Sisters Managers.

Found.—On the public highway, 5 miles south of Burns, a fur cap. Call at Herald office, pay charges and get your property.

Go to Tex's he keeps a quiet orderly saloon. If you desire anything in the liquor line he keeps the best brands, and the boss cigars.

Attention is directed to the change in W. N. Jorgenson's advertisement. Call and examine his stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Two grav wolves followed the calves of S. Lamshire nearly to the house door, one day last week, so anxious were they for a dinner of veal.

D. I. Asbury, editor of the Grant County News, paid us a visit, last week. He remained in town a couple of days.

Our blacksmith, Adolph Tucker, lost a valuable cow last week. She fed on something poison which caused her death.

The Burns school is going to give a number of entertainments during court week, the object is to purchase a school bell with the proceeds. A small admittance fee will be charged.

You have used that old tin boiler long enough, and your wife has been annoyed wash days with the old leaky thing; don't suffer it any longer. Call on Ralph Geer, he will make you a new one cheap.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between John Robinson and Wm. Mynatt, barbers, has been dissolved. Mynatt is now in the lower story of the N. Brown building, opposite J. Durkheimer & Co.

We were told, last Saturday, that E. B. Hanley is buying steers suitable for shipment. That is what puts money in the country. Sell your steers; of what profit is it to the stock raiser to hold his steers after they reach the age of 3 years. Sell them to the first man that comes along, with money, that wishes to buy.

Thos. Dodson, stock inspector, returned last Thursday from a tour of inspection. He reports sheep in fine condition. Very little scab and shepherds happy over the prospect for a good crop of lambs, and a fair price for wool. The number of sheep in the county 41,293, average crop of wool 6lbs to the sheep, making 247,758 lbs at 20cts, a pound, $49,551 60.

We call attention to the notice, "It Costs You Nothing," of the American Farmer, an illustrated magazine. Every rancher should, if possible, take advantage of this liberal offer of the HERALD. If our subscribers who are in arrears wish to pay up and advance one year's subscription, we will send to his address, this excellent Farmer's Magazine FREE, or to any new cash subscriptions given us the same offer is made. Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper. The HERALD will compare favorably with any local paper in the State, and besides you get free one of the best farmer's journals, printed in the United States.

From Van. VAN, April 23, 1891. The farmers here are busy putting in grain and wishing for rain.

The post office is ready for business, the mail carrier, D. M. Miller, will make his first trip Saturday, the 25th inst., to be supplied from Drewsey.

The la grippe is beginning to loosen its hold on the people here.

The truth of the saying that "trouble never comes singly" has been verified in the family of August Miller, they buried their infant daughter the 17th of this month, the mother has been very sick for some time and last Sunday evening the oldest child, a boy, aged 4 years, was kicked on the head by a horse; the skull was fractured and the attending physicians, Ashford & Boyd, think his recovery almost impossible. The mother and child have been moved to the residence of Mr. A. J. Allphin where they can receive better care.

M. A. B.

"Would You?" Would you sell yourself for a drink, boys. A drink from the poisonous cup? For a taste of the gleaming wine, boys. Would you yield your manhood up? Would you bind yourselves with a chain, boys. And rivet the fetters fast? Would you bolt your prison doors, boys. Preventing escape at last? Would you wreck your health, boys. Those blessings God has given? Would you ruin your lives, boys. And blast your hopes of heaven? Would you dig with your own hands your grave, boys. And willingly cast yourselves in? Would you die a besotted wretch, boys. In poverty, sorrow and sin? Ah, no! a thousand times no, boys. You were born for a noble end; In you are our country's hopes, boys. Her honor the boys must defend. Then join the great temperance band, boys. And pledge yourselves against rum; Stand firm as a rock on your pledge, boys. And fight till the foe is overcome. DAISY.

School Report. Average Department. "Girls," 6.5. "Boys," 9. Average standing of the A. and B. classes in the Burns school, for the week ending April 27, 1891, Miss ROBERTS, Principal.

The United States of Columbia. In 1892 the world will celebrate, at Chicago, the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America.

For 400 years the misnomer America has been tolerated. It is true that many learned persons have tried to dissect the name and envelope it in a halo of appropriate originality, but their dissertations have been in vain, and they have been compelled to acknowledge its humble and inappropriate origin.

What more appropriate act could the people of the United States do, at the coming Worlds Fair, than to do justice to the immortal genius of Columbus, by rechristening the continent of North America, and calling it Columbia. There, in the presence of representatives of the entire civilized world, should the United States do itself lasting honor—by doing justice to the man whose genius has so enlarged the possibilities of the human race—by giving to this continent the beautiful and appropriate name—Columbia.

It is both fitting, and right after 400 years of injustice to one of the greatest benefactors the world has ever known that the great republic, which has grown, as it were out of the very soil of the land he discovered, should do justice to him, by calling this continent after his name.

The present name bears no affinity whatever to the heroic self-sacrifice of the real discoverer; it is meaningless to the student of history; it does not even possess the merit of having originated here. It is simply the result of a hearty christening, by an ambitious bookseller, who wished to distinguish the land his book described, and selected a name without regard to propriety and right.

When the nations of the world shall assemble at Chicago to celebrate the crowning glory of Columbus' life, that event can be made doubly memorial by doing justice to that great man, whose life was such an example of patience and sublime hope, as has never been equaled by any other great names of history, and whose last days were made most bitter and wretched by the basest ingratitude imaginable. A close study of the life and character of this remarkable man would convince any one that he was not to be swerved from his purpose. He may be said to have had the whole world against him yet he patiently worked and waited until ultimately success crowned his efforts. He seemed to be inspired. The patience and perseverance with which he pursued the one idea of his life, amid discouragements that would have utterly overwhelmed one less determined, show that he had a firm trust in divine providence, and his success proves that faith is not vain.

Columbus' success after 18 years of patient waiting brought forth abundant fruit. His ideas were proven to be true; and the doctrine that he taught—that the earth is a globe—which was not only ridiculed, but denounced as blasphemy to God, and upon which he based his hopes of success, was clearly established at a later day; but Columbus' voyage of discovery was the beginning or turning point from the false and ignorant notions of science and religion to the true and rational ideas that have since prevailed.

What magnificent results have followed that discovery! He made it possible for the establishment of the world has ever known. Here science has made its greatest achievements. Here christianity has flourished and prospered without the false shields of fanaticism and bigotry, which made it the curse of the Middle Ages.

Columbus' belief "that he was divinely called to carry the true faith into the uttermost parts of the earth" has certainly been more than realized.

The coming celebration of the greatest event in history, will be witnessed and participated in by people from every part of the world, and the crowning glory of that celebration should be the restitution of tardy justice, in giving to this continent a name that will appropriately distinguish it, and also honor to one of the noblest of men.

The press of the country should agitate this question and make its success not only possible, but assured.

May it be the happy privilege of the present and future generations of this great republic to speak and write the name, United States of Columbia, and let the untutored youth of our land be taught not only to reverence the principles of our government, but to honor that great man, whose name shall then be inseparably linked with its destiny. GEORGE L. STOKY.

Gods blessing to humanity—So says an Oregon Pioneer Ninety Years Old. Forest Grove, Or., March 19—I have used the Oregon Kidney Tea and obtained immediate relief. It is God's blessing to humanity. I take pleasure in commending it to the afflicted. I am now nearly ninety years old, came to Oregon in 1842 in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company, and since I began using the Oregon Kidney tea I enjoy good health. DAVID MUNROE
