SOCKS FOR MCKINLEY.

The New York World furnishes the following:

Samuel D Frew came to this country from Belfast, North Ireland, six years ago. He liked the American climate and the American people, but he could not endure American stockings. He longed for the comfortable, home-knit hosiery of old Ireland. And so finally he wrote to his mother in Ireland to send him some stockings. She was glad to pleas her boy and so she knitted six pair of Irish stockings and sent them to her son.

But she didn't write about them, for she wanted them to be a surprise, and the first young Frew knew of the matter was when a bulky document arrived from the Custom-house. It was as follows:

Samuel D Frew to the Morris European and American Express Company. Custom house brokers and forwarding agents, Dr.
To specific duty on one pound manufactured wool, at 49 1/2 cts. $0.50 To ad-volorem duty on articles valued at $2 at 60 per cent. 1.20 Reinbursements, charges and freight .50
United States bonded storage and labor .50
Cartage, shipping or delivery .21
Postage, &c .25
Custom-House entries, &c .50

Total.....$3.21

Wren Frew looked at the bill he thought the Custom-House was at fault, so he went home and hunted up a tariff book and figured out just what the tariff ought to be. Here is the way he made it:

Ad-volorem duty on articles valued at $2, at 40 per cent. $ .80 Specific duty on 1 pound manufactured wool at 35 cents. .35

Total.....$1.15

Frew went back to the express office indignant at the thought of being so imposed upon and handed the clerk the bill as he made it out.
The clerk looked at it and laughed "Oh that was under the old tariff bill," he said. "This other bill is made out according to Mr. McKin-ley's new tariff laws."

"You won't accept my bill, then?" said Frew.

"No," said the official.
Frew thought for a moment.
Then he called the clerk aside and whispered confidentially.

"You tell that d—d McKinley that he can have my stockings"

The stockings are still at the Custom-house, and after the expiration of the required time they will be sold at public auction same as the Astor dresses were.

Russia's Starving Peasants.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York Recorder writes that while the horizon is black with war clouds, a more subtle and pre-sistent foe has entered the czar's kingdom and is making sad havoc with his people. The failure of the crops is every day increasing the distress of the poorer classes, and many are the harassing tales which are told of the misery they are forced to endure. In some famine-stricken districts the scenes witnessed are beyond discription. Troops of peasants wander from village to village begging piteously and crying "Give us bread, bread."

Four Babies at Once.

Mrs. Bellen, a young woman, average size, and about 20 years of age, wife of James Bellen, foreman in the Alabama Great Southern railroad shops in Birmingham, presented her husband a few day ago with four bouncing babies—three boys and one girl. They are all well developed and are flourishing.
These are Mrs. Bellen's first children and the affair has created extraordinary excitement in the neighborhood. In the shops the "boys" have run Foreman Bellen lively, and ever since the appearance of the quartette he has had to "set up the beer" for them twice a day. It is pretty expensive on the foreman but he is proud over the event, good natured over the fun of the "boys" who want to know when he intends to start a colony, and he cheerfully rushes the growler for them.

Terrible Sufferings for Water.

Guthrie, O. T.—Every courier from Chandler brings a thrilling tale of the sufferings for water. Fully 100 people are more or less seriously ill. Seventy horses have died for lack of water, and hundreds more are suffering terribly. A number of men from Stillwater have founded a town in the Sac and Fox country, calling it Saclahoma, and are already publishing a newspaper.
The law opening that reservation specifies that it shall be a homestead entry, and the Saclahoma men will be compelled to leave, as a town cannot be legally laid out.

Reclamation of Sahara.

12,000,000 Acres of the Sahara desert has been reclaimed by Artesian wells. The French Algeria comprises 184,465 square miles, one one of this is on the Sahara desert.
The total number of wells bored since 1857 is 13,135 and range from 75 feet in depth to 400. These irrigate 12,000,000 acres of land.

An earthquake visited six states in the Mississippi Valley, on Saturday night Sept. 26. Its southern limits was Fashville Tenn.

WELL NAMED.

"I see now why they call them breakers," said the Jersey landlord, as a big wave came up and smashed his bathing house into splinters.—
