THE COMING LEGISLATURE.—Every member is interested to know what is coming up before the next legislature, and especially in what that legislature will do with public issues. The Capital Journal, of Salem, will publish every week from now until this body meets strong editorial articles on the reforms that are current, and later will give the fullest reports of its doings. Its editorial discussions are from the standpoint of the people. The Journal seeks no offices or political favors for itself or its friends, and speaks of public matters with a freedom possessed by few newspapers. If you would have an independent newspaper that proposes to publish all the true facts concerning legislation, you should take the Capital Journal at once. Special price, 50 cents for four months. Address, HOFER BROS., Salem, Oregon.

Dissolution Notice.

The firm of J. Durkheimer & Co., consisting of J. Durkheimer, Isaac Baer, M. Durkheimer and S. S. Durkheimer, is this 19th day of November, 1892, dissolved by mutual consent.

Burdette Wolf seems to have a faculty for being in several different places at the same time. A man was seen in the brush near Umatilla by a little boy, who told his father of the occurrence. When the latter went down to investigate the man hastily made his escape. He resembled descriptions of the fugitive murderer, and the authorities have been notified.

With Knife and Pistol.

DANVILLE, Ky., Nov. 16.—James Christman, a farmer living near High Bridge, in Jessamine county north of this city, brutally murdered his neighbor and old friend, George Woods, to day. Woods was quietly at work gathering his corn crop when the words "Your time has come—you have lived long enough" were uttered in his ear and simultaneously a charge of buckshot, fired by Chrisman, struck him in the stomach. Woods fell mortally wounded and his assailant, who proved to be his former friend, rushed from behind a shock of corn and attacked his victim with a bowie knife. Although Woods was in a dying condition he attacked him with the ferocity of a madman and cut his head from his body.

before the other men who were at work in the field were aware of the murder Chrisman had made his escape to the high wooden cliffs of the Kentucky river. Though apparently friendly, Chrisman has borne ill will toward Woods for some time as the result of the murdered man having twitted him over some trivial matter, though Woods afterwards proved he had no malice against Chrisman. The murder to-day, however, is the result of the trouble between the men two years ago.

A posse of citizens of Jessamine, Garrard and Mercer counties are now searching the river cliffs for the murderer, who it is thought has hid in an immense cave near the famous bridge. A number of men are now guarding the entrance to the cave. The people are worked up to a fever heat and if Chrisman is captured to night he will surely stretch hemp before dawn. Woods leaves a wife and several small children. The murderer is a man of family and has had a good name heretofore, though it is said he has shown signs of insanity of late.

The Toledo Weekly Blade.

The most popular and best known weekly newspaper printed in this country is the Toledo Blade. For more than twenty years it has had a circulation of 1000,000 to 2,000,000, going regularly into every state and territory of the union. From fifteen to twentyfive tons of print paper is consumed in each week's edition, and it is regularly mailed to more than half the post-offices in the United States. It is a peculiar fact that the Blade is the only weekly newspaper published that has regular subscribers in all parts of the United States. It is edited with special reference to the wants of all people in all sections. It is also made to interest every member of the family. Besides all the news of the world, it has Serial and Short Stories, Wit and Humor, Poetry, Campfire, Farm, Sunday School Lessons, Young Folks, Poultry, Puzzles, Household, Answers to Correspondents, Etc., Etc. As a special feature for 1893, Mr. Robinson Locke, editor and proprietor of the Blade, has just sailed for Japan, and will contribute a series of illustrated letters on the manners and customs of that peculiar country and its people. These articles will be commenced some time in February or March, and will be worth to the readers of the Blade many times the subscription price. Every reader of this paper is invited to send for a specimen copy. The publishers of the Blade would be glad to send a specimen copy to every reader in this country. Subscription price of the Blade, one dollar a year. Five dollars in cash will be paid to any person sending in a small club of subscribers. Write for agents' terms, giving particulars. Address "The Blade, Toledo, Ohio."

"Darling, don't you think little Johnny resembles you more and more every day?" "Do you think so, dearest?" "Yes, love. If you will notice you will find that he always wants the best in the house, and that he never does what you want him to, and that he is continually overeating and yesterday he kissed the servant." "That will do, Maria."—Brooklyn Eagle.
