A New Mode.

M. Fenwick has a new mode of exterminating squirrels and rats. He mixes calomel with strichnine; the calomel is to salivate in case the poison fails to take effect. Mr. F. claims that by salivating the squirrel he will die for want of food as he cannot eat. This is a little ahead of the Christian Scientists.

Successful Rainmaker.

By preconcerted arrangement between the mayors of the towns of Wellington, Winfield, Arkansas City, South Haven, Caldwell, Hutchinson and Newton, Kansas, a simultaneous bombardment of the heavens began at noon, May 25. Cannon and every explosive within reach was brought into requisition, and hundreds of men and boys with guns blazed away at the skies till 2 p. m., when the clouds opened their reservoirs and drenched the earth, the rain continuing four hours. All the country for some miles beyond the radius of these towns was deluged by the heaviest rain that has fallen in eight counties over which the rain fell are wonderfully improved.

—Sunday school will be re organized next Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m.

—We are not getting any further news of our volunteer cavalry company.

—We read in the Lakeview Examiner, that Frank Lewis will probably be a resident of that town.

—We wonder if the youths of Burns will ever have enterprise enough to organize a base ball club.

—W. R. Graden has completed the survey of the cemetery. Persons desiring to purchase lots can now be accommodated.

—Remember the dance, July 4th, at Brown & Caldwell's Hall. Good floor managers, and music by Till Glazes string band.

—The new Millinery Store of Mrs. Ella Caldwell is receiving its share of patronage. Mrs. Florence Smith, dress maker, is associated with Mrs. Caldwell.

—The town of Burns does not present a very lively appearance since circuit court adjourned. We wish some one would strike a gold mine in close proximity, get up a prize fight, have a foot race, get married, or anything to get up a little push and excitement. The town is blue, the citizens are blue and Lovd Culp is painting the houses blue.

W. W. Cardwell, who has some valuable mining properties in the Willow Springs districts, in Southern Oregon, started from his mine with a load of quartz, and when a little distance from the mine his wagon broke down and he was compelled to unload. A few weeks later he was driving past the place and discovered to his great surprise that some one had located a mining claim on his pile of rock. There was no ledge within several miles of the newly located claim, but the claimant, doubtless, thought he had found something with a cold million in sight —Eugene Guard.

—At the adjourned school meeting last Monday it was found that, according to the late act by our legislature regarding the bonding of school districts for specified purposes, it is necessary that a petition signed by at least 12 legal voters, should be presented to the directors praying a special meeting of the legal voters, called for that purpose. This had not been done consequently no steps could be taken at the time towards bonding the district for an amount sufficient to erect a new school building. The matter of school tax was considered and a tax six and a half mills ordered levied.

—Ira Venator, once a resident of our county, now of Lake, passed through our town a day or two since on his way to Crane Creek to visit his brother A. Venator. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Rose. They met with quite an adventure in crossing the Chewacian river, not knowing its depth, they quickly found themselves in swimming water, fortunately they got out shore without being drowned, but Miss Rose had her trunk of clothing ruined by the water.

Gen. Lee's Pathetic.

Many of the most beautiful and pathetic incidents of the war occurred after it was all over. At a hotel in Washington in 1868, a gentleman whose face I could not remember exactly, though it seemed strangely familiar, introduced himself and asked permission to present me to his mother, a singularly beautiful old lady of queenly and dignified bearing, to whom he said: "Mother, let me present to you Gen. R. E Lee, of the late Confederate army, whose saber thrust gave me this scar on my right cheek and who bears the mark of a wound I gave him." The beautiful old woman threw her arms around my neck and wept on my shoulder. In that tender embrace and in the fervent clasp of the federal officer's hand and mine, we buried the animosities of the war forever.—Toledo Blade.

A Sad Wreck.

The following item under court news in the Portland Telegram has reference to a man of bright attainments, but he has fallen to the depths of degradation through strong drink, J. P. Wager, formerly editor of the East Oregonian, and ex state senator of Umatilla county. "Detective Holsapple last evening arrested J. P. Wager on complaint sworn to before Justice McDevitt by C. Donoghue, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. Wager gave Donoghue a check bearing the forged signature of George H. Moffet. He was arraigned before Justice McDevitt this morning, and waiving examination, was held to answer to the grand jury under $200 bonds. In default of bonds, Wager was committed to county jail."

Locating the Line.

The Pendleton-Canyon City telephone line is beginning to take shape and form. Two carloads of poles have been received, and two more are on the road. This morning a force left Pendleton under charge of J. P. Mitchell to locate the line clear through to Canyon City, and active construction will follow. The benefits that will be derived from the completion of this enterprise will be many and varied, and its promoters are entitled to the thanks and hearty encouragement of citizens. It will increase Pendleton's trade from the Long Creek and John Day sections, by reason of affording easy communication, and stockmen in that region intend to do business with our banks just as soon as the line is finished.—East Oregonian.
