NEWS IN GENERAL

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

"Hands Up!"

BUFFALO, February 17.—Leroy Harris, alias John H. Hart, accused of postoffice robbery, performed a remarkable feat this afternoon in holding up the whole Court-room. Hart asked permission to go to the lavatory. Returning he electrified the Commissioner and all in the room by levelling a revolver and crying: "Hands up!" Everybody put up their hands.

Hart walked to the door, keeping his gun pointed toward the astonished Court and passed out, locking the door and taking the key.

Marshal Watts jumped to the window and fired three shots to attract the attention of others, yelling lustily.

Finally the janitor was aroused, who opened the door and released the captives. The prisoner was out of sight.—The Bee.

A funny incident, accompanied by a witty retort, was enjoyed the other day as the crowd was surging out of one of the theaters. In front a party of gentlemen was a man with his coat collar turned up about his ears. "Why there is B—," said one of the party. "He doesn't seem to see us; I guess I'll wake him up." At the same time, and without stopping to think, he stepped forward and hit the bundled up individual a terrific slap on the back. The man turned around as he received the blow and disclosed to the astonished eyes of the hilarious gentlemen the face of a total stranger. He hesitated a moment before the calm and inquiring gaze of the man in front, and then, stepping forward, said: "I beg your pardon, sir; but, to tell the truth, I took you for another man."

"I am," was the quiet reply.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

We Seldom See.

A darkey who is not fond of water-melons.

A girl too young to be thinking about the boys.

A woman who can kindle a fire without using coal oil.

A lawyer who hasn't a hankering after political life.

A drummer who doesn't carry on half a dozen flirtations on his route.

A merchant who has not recently made a big cut in the prices of his goods.

A pastor who does not leave his flock to the mercy of satan while he takes a vacation every mid-summer.

A man who can walk the floor at midnight to soothe a crying baby and not lose his temper.

A farmer who don't think town people are bonded together for the express purpose of robbing him.

A person keeping their promise who has looked at all the goods in a store and then goes out saying they will come back to morrow and buy.

"Wasn't that young Mr. Tiff who left the house as I came in?" asked the judge of his eldest daughter.

"Yes papa."

"Did I not issue an injunction against his coming here any more?"

"Yes papa; but mamma has granted a supersedeas pending an appeal."—Judge.

IT PAYS THE BEST AND IS THE SAFEST INVESTMENT I EVER MADE.

There are single retail shoe stores in our large cities which sell 2,000 pairs of shoes a day, making a net profit of $250,000 a year. We sell shoes for less than this price, the clear profit of our ladies', misses' and childrens' shoes is at least ten cents a pair, and on our mens' and boys' shoes 15 cents a pair. We shall establish shoe stores in each of the fifty largest cities of the U. S., and they will sell only 500 pairs of shoes a day they will earn $225,000 a year. We should be able to pay a yearly dividend of $5.25 a share, or over 50 per cent a year on the investment. We sell the stock at $10 a share. The price must inevitably be much more than $10 a share. No stock has ever been sold at less than this price, which is its par value. It is non-assessable. Incorporated, Capital $1,000,000. We have over 1,000 stockholders, and the number is increasing daily. Some of the principal stockholders are: T. S. Walling, N. Y.; L. J. Potter, Boston; N. A. Reed, Jr., Chicago; J. B. Campbell, Chicago; W. M. Kavanaugh, Little Rock, Ark.; L. H. Rich, Chicago; J. P. Turner, Phila.; L. Harding, N. Y.; E. J. Payne, Battle Creek, Mich.; P. P. Hollette, Arcade, N. Y.
Write for a prospectus containing the names of our stockholders, etc., or send an order for stock, enclosing cashier's check, cash or money order. Orders taken for one or more shares. Price, $10 a share.
