Pretenders to miracles sometimes succeed in their work of deception, duplicity and sin, and sometimes they fail. Those whom God invests with the power to do miracles, in cases when they have a Divine and benevolent purpose never make a failure. Whatever they undertake they perform. After all the flam ing pretensions of the ancient ma gicians to the possession of power to reveal secrets, when Nebuchadnez zar demanded of them to tell him what his dream was that he had forgotten, and the interpretation of it they shrunk from their high claims and meekly responded, Let the king tell his dream and we will show the interpretation of it. But when the king persisted. Tell me the dream and I shall know that you can show me the interpretation, they replied. There is not a man in the earth that can show the king's matter. Here was an ac knowledged failure, and the king became enraged at their lying pretences, and said. If some of our modern lying pretenders were vigorously subjected to the same test, the whole tribe would soon be exposed. It is astonishing that their graceless pretenses should remain quexposed. when the ability to expose them is at hand all the time. How utterly ridiculous their pretenses to reveal things from the spirit world when they can reveal nothing in this world in advance of the mails, dispatches and other ordinary means of communication. If Queen Vic toria would demand of all the spiritrappers, spirit mediums, sooth savers, and all other pretenders to revalation of every sort, to furnish the war news from Italy, in advance of the mails, or the ordinary means of communication, or be put to; death, the world would soon see the their silly claims worth?
