Incidents of the Opening.

Lewiston, Nov. 19.—The first man to make a legal filing on reservation land at this office yesterday was Stephen Hassar. He presented the powers of attorney from three old soldiers, Captain Tamblin, Colonel Hammell and W. C. Human. These are promoters of the township of Nez Perces.

Jacob Pippingier, of LeLand, was winner in an exciting race with a valuable farm for a stake. He worked upon the land until one minute after 12 o'clock. He had relays of saddle horses and rode more than 40 miles over a rugged trail in two hours and 20 minutes. He passed envious neighbors and excited strangers in his mad ride and filed without a hitch.

A party who staked off mineral claims on the Clearwater tried to reach Lewiston in a scow with oars to propel it. The craft wrouded 19 miles from here and the men were compelled to wade out through the icy water waist deep and walk to town.

A party from this city, with Editor Alfred of the Tribune at the head, received a pointer that some 20 Indian allotment had been cancelled in a body near Sweetwater. This company repaired to the scene in a body and met at a rendezvous to distribute fine quarter sections among themselves. Before the preliminaries were complete, a horseman appeared from behind a knole with a rifle revolved ready for use. The stranger looked much like an ideal desperado and when he came up he waved his hand and said: This land is claimed. If one of you — — sets foot upon it I will pump you full of holes.

Word came of a demonstration by an organized company that drove a weaker party from land that was claimed by both parties. The stronger party threatened to hang a man whom they called a clame jumper. This trouble was on cottonwood creek.—Idho Statesmen.

Claims Seattle Land.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 16.—King County is in a fair way to lose land and property valued at $250,000. By the provisions of a will made in 1861, Marie Simens, daughter of a native of Helga Borge, Norway, has lain claim to what is known as the County Farm. The tract borders on the southern city limits, and is valued at $1000 per acre. It has a hospital and other improvements to the extent of $1000,000.

Originally this land belonged to Hans Olsen, who acquired proerty under the assumed name of John Thompson, as he had deserted from the English navy. Being a single man and without a relative, Olsen wrote a will in the shape of a letter to his sweetheart in far-off Norway, bequeathing to her the land in question. There was nothing recorded here to show what disposition had been made of the pro-

erty, so in time it was taken possession of in the name of King County. The growth of the city has made the land valuable, and now Miss Simens' daughter seeks to recover the property, having employed a prominent Portland attorney to push her claim.—Call.

One the leading features in Harper's Magazine, at the close of this year and the begining of the next, will be a novel by William Alack. The title of the story, Briseis, is taken from its heroine, a Greek masden who is first introduced to the reader among the hills of Aberdeenshire. It is a tale which has long occupied the thought of the novelist, and into which he has put some of his best work. Each of its six monthly parts will be illustrated from drawings made in Scotland and London by the well-known New York artist, W. T. Smedley.

With its Greek heroine, British background, and American illustration, Briseis will offer the first instalment of its attractions, drawn from sources as various but not conflicting, in the December number of Harper's.

How to Prevent Croup.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious.

Makes the Blood Pure

This is the secret of the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this: "I am so glad to write that I am now in perfect health and it is all because Hood's Sarsaparilla made my blood pure. My health broke down with troubles peculiar to women, my nervous system was shattered and I had to take my bed. The physician said there was little hope for me. A neighbor told of wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and I decided to try it. When I had taken 3 bottles, I could sit up and now I am perfectly well and strong."

Hood's Sarsaparilla has done all this for me." Mrs. C. F. FADERER, La Platta City, Colorado.
