Vanderbilt Wedding Feast.

When coffee and cigarettes were permissible the venerable Bishop Littlejohn got on his legs. He is known as something of a farceur in civil life.

He said that he had had the honor of baptizing Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, but that was not the purport of his remarks. He arose simply to introduce Sir Julian Pauncefoot, the Ambassador from a great and friendly nation, upon whom he called to propose the health of the bride and groom.

Sir Julian was greeted with great applause as he stood up, handsomer, frosier than ever.

He dwelt at some length upon the honor and history of the Marlboroughs and then paid a brilliant compliment to the last young lady to adorn it. "Another golden link," he said, "has been welded to bind England and America together."

The Bishop of the diocese was as happy as he always is.

"How long do you suppose it takes to marry a man and woman by our ritual?" he asked. "Seven minutes only," he replied, for no body seemed to know, "yet when I told this to man once who wanted to catch a train he said: 'See here, I'll pay you extra if you do it in six.'"

The Bishop added that he had the greatest respect for the Duke of Marlborough because he agreed with him that the American form of wedding service according to the Anglican church was too short. As the Duke had to wait twenty minutes for his bride and the musical programme took a half hour more, this was considered a good joke.

The Duke of Marlborough then arose to reply to everyone and everything. He speaks awfully well and from the heart.

He thanked chance and every one else in America for his meeting with his wife. He referred to her a half dozen times as his better half, his bride and everything else except his Duchess. At last he wound up by saying that he was glad that the worst half of the match—meaning himself—was so much smaller than his better half.

He got round upon round of cheers for his very clever and fortunate speech, which only subsided when his cousin, the Hon. Ivor Guest, got up to propose the health of the bridesmaids.

These ladies, he said, in effect, are most bewildering today in their exquisite toilets, the design for which must be accredited to our hostess, Mrs. Vanderbilt. Yet in spite of the dresses, to my British mind, the finest things of all are the bridesmaids themselves!

Uproarious applause greeted this sally until Col. William Jay slowly got out of his chair to propose the health of the ushers who had officiated so wisely and well at the church.

"I cannot," said the Colonel, "attribute the gentlemen's fine appearance today to Mrs. Vanderbilt's taste or ingenuity. I suppose they are so well dressed because they can't help it. It comes to them naturally, like measles and other things."

This ended the speech-making. The Duchess of Marlborough retired to change her toilet for the trip to Oakdale. In the meantime her bridesmaids had collected a fine lot of rice and old slippers, and as none of them had ever had the pleasure of pelting a Duchess before they took great fun in assaulting her and the Duke with their amiable missiles.—New York Herald.

How to Prevent Croup.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious.

America's Great Danger

AN ENGLISH COMMENTARY.

Said an eminent English scientist recently: "The danger that confronts the great American people to-day is not the possible adoption of a wrong financial policy for the nation, or the spread of socialism, or the increase of corruption among public men. If these are bad enough, to be sure, but they are as nothing compared to the terrible national disease—I had almost said national crime—of overwork. The mad rush for wealth is set at a killing pace, and thousands fall by the way every year."

You are likely to be one of the victims! How do we know? Because it is the exception to find a man or woman of adult age in perfect health. Nervous Disorders are spreading with fearful rapidity. Among the symptoms are—Backache, Biliousness, Cold Flands and Feet, Dizziness, Hot Flashes, Fluttering Sensation, Fainting, Headache, Hysteria, Irritability of the Heart, Melancholy, Failing Memory, Palpitation, Rheumatism, Short Breath, Sleeplessness, Nervous Dyspepsia, Sexual Debility, Fits, etc. Rev. C. A. CARROLL, pastor First Baptist Church, Yellow Springs, O., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for the past six months. I find it acts like a charm on the whole nervous system. I have not found its equal in giving immediate relief. Dr. Miles' little Nerve and Liver Pills only need a trial and they will recommend themselves to be the best pills in the market."

"For five years I have suffered from Nervous Prostration, I was unable to work or sleep. The first dose of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine gave me relief, and one thousand dollars would not cover the good it has done me."—JOHN MINCKER, Youngstown, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is unequalled in curing Nervous Diseases. It contains no opiates or dangerous drugs. Sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
