THE HERALD sincerely wishes them happiness and prosperity.

We have a religious communication from an old and dear friend whose good will and friendship we highly prize: We dislike very much to disappoint him but we cannot publish the communication, because a year or two since, we got ourselves in a muddle for the publication of doctrinal religious communication, and we published at that time a notice that we would in future refuse to publish such matter. We hope our friend will be satisfied with this explanation and excuse us.

As the is a matter of importance to come before the entire membership of the First Baptist Church of Burns a full membership attendance is hereby requested on Saturday Dec. 21 at 2 p. m. This notice appeared in the last issue of the News and a local following it saying that copies of the notice were given the Times and HERALD prior to 11 a m Wednesday. The local so far as the HERALD is concerned is an intentional falsehood or a very blind mistake. Mr. Grace came into our office Thursday noon after our week's issue was off and in the post office and gave us the foregoing notice and remarked at the time that he was not in time for the week's issue, but we could publish the notice in the next issue as the time of the meeting was on the 21st, and he further stated that it was not likely it would be published in the issue of the News of the 12th. These are the facts in the matter. We are perfectly willing to publish church notices, etc. and think we have always been willing to aid in church matters, though if any of the good brothers, feel it to their duty, to give us the "black eye" we shan't run after them, but we do not care to be put before the public in a false light.

Jas. Campbell, come near being responsible for quite an amount of hay, caused by himself setting fire. Timely aid was all that saved him.

Mr. Campbell had 40 or 50 head of sheep poisoned with alkali. To prevent this sheep men should give their herds plenty of salt just before moving them to the valley.
