WEDNESDAY JANUARY 29 1876

W. C. ELLIOT — — — — Editor

Some people seem at last to have grasped the idea that Forsaker is planning an attempt to cut McKinley off from his base of supplies.

Mr. Harrison's friends say he bases his expectations of again being nominated for President upon the hope of a deadlock in the St. Louis convention. The old gentleman is wise enough, however, to base his hopes of happiness upon wedlock.

The McKinleyites are dividing up the patronage of the next administration with the idiotic confidence of those who make a practice of counting chickens before they are hatched.

If you don't believe the republicans are thoroughly harmonious just study up a bit on the U. S. Senate and the republican legislatures now in session.

The Morton boom is being pushed for revenue—to the pushers—only.

Gilliam, the originator of "the tattooed man" in caricature, is dead. He was part owner of Judge. His artistic ability was unquestioned, but so much can hardly be said of his good taste.

There's money in political "recollections," if they are made viciously personal. At least, John Sherman is getting considerable money out of that kind.

Jim Corbett has taken to talking about fighting again, in order to increase the attendance at his show.

The English ought to feel much relieved to know that the Venezuelans are not really thirsting for British gore.

The difference between Warner Miller and Boss Platt is that the former is booming Gov. Morton for keeps.

Now that Col. Cockerill has again killed the Queen of Korea, will he kindly allow her to stay dead?

If Miss Clara Barton gets a personal interview with the Sultan of Turkey he will probably be sorry he ever said a word against the Red Cross Society aiding the Armenians.

Recent utterances of college professors show the need of a department of common sense in our educational institutions.

In providing for six instead of two delegates to the national convention from the District of Columbia, the democratic national committee just tripped the trouble for democracy of the District of Columbia.

The relatives of the New York man who died while two physicians quarreled at his bedside, about the best method of treating him, ought to have somebody arrested for murder.

If we defy England in other matters why should we obey her orders as to our financial system?

It would be interesting to know if anybody, except the proof readers, read those four pages published by the New York Herald in connection with the report of the committee that investigated those idiotic charges made by Lord Dunraven.

Perhaps Mr. Harrison postponed his marriage until spring so as to get it nearer the St. Louis convention.

The people of this country are perfectly willing to leave President Cleveland free to deal with the question of recognizing the belligerency of the Cubans, knowing that he has all the information obtainable and believing that he will do the proper thing at the proper time.

Bismarck has caught the "recollection fever" and is writing a book.

Thomas B. Reed is keeping quiet these days, but his competitors for that nomination know that he hasn't thrown up the sponge.

Good advice: Never leave the house on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Several years ago I was taken with a severe attack of flux. I was sick in bed about ten days and could get nothing to relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured me and has been a household remedy with us ever since. J C Marlow, Decaturville, Mo. For sale by all druggists.

Its Value Recognized by Physician.

As a rule I am opposed to proprietary medicines. Still I value a good one, especially when such is the source of relief from pain. As a topical [external] application I have found Chamberlain's Pain Balm the best remedy I have ever used for neuralgia of any kind. I have conscientiously recommended it to many persons. William Horne, M. D., Janesville, Wis. Sold by all druggists.
