

A New Consumption Cure.

Berlin, April 11.—(Copyrighted 1897 by the Associated Press.) Intense interest has been aroused in medical and other circles here by the announcement of a young physician, Frich Langheld at the international physicians congress at Weisbaden today, that he had discovered a new remedy for tuberculosis, named antimicrobia. Its principal ingredients, it appears, are ozone and cod liver oil, applied by subcutaneous injection. In the experiments of the past five years, he explained, the greatest difficulty to overcome was that of keeping the ozone pure and easily available. Of the 90 cases of tuberculosis he treated in Mondbit hospital during the past year all have been cured. Professors Gerhardt and Senator fully confirmed the foregoing statement.—Statesman.

Too Much Alaska.

A party of Portlanders, who went to Alaska in search of gold nuggets, have returned disheartened and broke. They say that Alaska has not been overrated, but there has been such a whole emigration to that far away land that every position has at least twenty-five applicants, and that the country is crowded with people who have no means and are unable to go ahead or return. The wharves and docks where are tied the vessels bound for the United States are constantly guarded by officers to prevent people who have no money attempting to get back. There will be a lot of suffering before the Alaska boom is over and it is rank foolhardiness for any person to go there without he be provided with money or a permanent position.

Six weeks ago I suffered with a very severe cold; was almost unable to speak. My friends all advised me to consult a physician. Noticing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised in the St. Paul Volks Zeitung I procured a bottle, and after taking it a short while was entirely well. I now most heartily recommend this remedy to anyone suffering with a cold. WM. KEIL, 678 Selby Ave., St. Paul, Minn. For sale by

The first prize will be given to the person who constructs the longest sentence in good English containing no letter of the alphabet more than three times. It is not necessary to use every letter of the alphabet. The other prizes will go in regular order to those competitors whose sentences are next in length. Every competitor whose sentence reaches forty-two letters will receive a paper covered volume containing twelve of Wilkie Collins' novels whether he wins a prize or not. This contest closes April 18, 1896. The prize winners will be announced one week later and the winning sentences published. In case two or more prize-winning sentences are of the same length preference will be given to the best one. Each competitor must construct his own sentence, and no person will be allowed to enter this contest more than once. Sentences cannot be corrected or substituted after they are received. Residents of Omaha are not permitted to compete, directly or indirectly.

RULES FOR THE SENTENCE—(No Others Furnish!)

The length of a sentence is to be measured by the number of letters it contains, but no letter can be used or counted more than three times. No word except "a" or "I" can be used more than once. The sentence must consist of complete words. Signs, figures, abbreviations or contractions, etc., must not be used. The pronoun "I" and the article "a" will be accepted as complete words. Proper nouns cannot be used. Each contestant must indicate by figures at the end of his sentence how many letters it contains.

This remarkably liberal offer is made by the WEEKLY WORLD-HERALD, of which the distinguished ex-congressman, and it is required that each competing sentence be enclosed with one dollar for a year's subscription. The WEEKLY WORLD-HERALD is issued in semi-weekly sections, and hence is nearly as good as a daily. It is the western champion of free silver coinage and the leading family newspaper of Nebraska.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN, is Editor,
