A Mr. Stone from Grand Ronde valley is among the citizens of Harney valley looking for a location. He expresses himself as being pleased with our locality.

Heavy frost along the line of Poison Creek last Monday night, killing some of the tender vegetables and damaging all others somewhat. Barley will hardly recover from the frost shock of the 3rd inst. having by hard struggle just begun to show itself recovering from the severe wound inflicted by jack frost of several weeks ago.

If the highway authorities think that those who live next to the Culp lane, are the only ones directly interested in a road that will guarantee passage over same without swamping, we would respectfully suggest that they converse about this matter with the citizens of Lawen and other localities south of this road, as well as north, who have occasion to travel same, and we think they will find three out of every four expressing themselves in terms that may be understood that it is absolutely necessary that it be repaired. Since it is a fact that this particular piece of road is a matter of record, for over five years, and is the will of the majority of the citizens who aid in building the public highways of Harney county that its speedy improvement be affected, therefore in view of the will of the majority of the citizens who feel the need of a good road in the Culp lane, we hesitate not to call the attention of that body whom the people placed in office to carry out their will, to give the matter herein considered their attention in the light of the rule do unto others as you would be done by.

J. C. Johnson, of Burns, who came here some time ago with his sheep, had them shorn at Taylor's corral, and then sold them at $2 for yearling wethers and $2.65 for 2 year-olds.
