THE FOURTH.

The Celebration the Largest Ever Held in Burns.

The day opened in all its glory. Not a cloud dotted the sky. A light breeze from the southeast tended to keep the atmosphere at a bearable temperature. The first peep of old Sol above the horizon was heralded by the boom of anvils, announcing to the still slumbering population the commencement of the celebration of the 125th anniversary of American liberty. The large crowd of people had been gathering for several days, and it was estimated that at least two thirds of the entire population of the county was in attendance. It was a peaceable crowd no disturbance marring the good time they came to enjoy.

About 11 o'clock, Marshall of the day, A. W. Gowan succeeded in forming the procession which consisted of the Band, liberty cars, fire department, floats, Indians on horseback, and civilians in carriages forming a line nearly a mile in length. Miss Pearl Lewis was Goddess of Liberty and Miss Dora Caldwell, Angel of Peace. Following the parade the crowd was directed to the pavilion at the Fair grounds where the exercises of the forenoon were to be held. After music by the Band and reading of the Declaration of Independence, Atty Thornton Williams, orator of the day, was introduced and delivered an eloquent address.

The barbecue arranged and prepared by James Smith was the attraction at the noon hour and was partaken of by a large number of people.

In the afternoon after a few minor events came the baseball game, of the married men vs. the single men.

THE GAME.

It was a ball game, often read and talked about but not so often seen. To start with it was an ideal baseball day, the people were all there, an enthusiastic crowd, and they witness a game never before seen in Burns.

The fun started in the first inning, with the single men at the bat. Waters got a pass and was thrown out at second, Luckey who assayed to do the twirling for the single men, and who for years was connected with the local team at Prineville, a gentlemanly and all around good fellow and who has an eye for pleasing the ladies, smashed out a single scoring later, which ended the run getting for this inning. They scored another in the third, two in the fifth but could do nothing more until the ninth when with three men on bases, Sagers hit over center field for three bases scoring three men but getting out himself on trying to stretch the hit into a home run. Sagers took Luckey's place in the box in the eighth and was found easier than the latter.

The Benedicts did no business until the third, when with Mothershead safely anchored on first they succeeded in scoring him on a safe and a couple of sacrifice hits. Mothershead scored again in the fifth; Biggs in the sixth. In the seventh there was more fun than a darky picnic in a water melon patch. With Schwartz on second and Barrows on first, Dennis hit a long high fly to right near a group of vehicles. The young gentleman who roamed this territory, muffed, it was a hard catch and was partly excusable. This was followed by a wild throw to the home plate to catch Dennis who was making rapid strides for home. Three scores. Two more was made in the ninth and the game was won, with one out and two men on bases. Barrows pitched a good game and received excellent support behind the bat.

Umpire W. E. Trisch deserves special mention for his fair and impartial decisions.

The score by innings.
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Married men 0 1 0 1 1 3 0 2-8
Single men 1 0 1 0 2 0 0 3-7
