Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Of all men the liar is the most miserable. The thief likes a thief. The robber fellowships with robbers. The drinking man flocks with drinking men. The gossip associates with the gossip, but even the liar hates the liar and will have as little to do with him as possible. Fact.

Mrs. Clara Marsden, grand worthy matron of the O. E. S. arrived in Canyon City early this week from her home in Burns, taking her departure at once for the Willamette valley where she goes to visit lodges in that part of the state.—Canyon City Eagle.

Clarence Woldenberg had the misfortune last Saturday evening to fall and break his left arm just above the wrist. Some boys in a neighboring yard were snow balling him when in his efforts to dodge a ball slipped and fell with the above result. The fracture was reduced the following day and he is now out with his arm in a sling.

A man was afraid of thunder and crawled into a hollow log as a place of safety, says a truthful exchange. The thunder roared and the rain poured down in torrents. The log began to swell and the poor fellow was wedged in. Pastime began passing before him. Suddenly he remembered that he had not paid his newspaper subscription, and he felt so small he was able to back right out.

A couple of girls became infatuated with the idea of heads photographed coquettishly stuck through a torn newspaper and visited a photographer for that purpose. However when the pictures were finished, they were horrified to behold what they had before failed to notice. The paper through which they stuck their heads was a Chicago sheet, and just beneath their smiling faces was a display advertisement of a clothing firm, which announced: "Our pants are lined in the seat."—Ex

Some time ago the editor of the Eugene Register advertised that he had found an article made of black elastic web, which looked too small for a belt and too large for a sleeve holder, which the owner could have by calling at the Register office. No fee for notice was attached. The next Sunday a young lady came and asked for the article. The editor blushed deeply, but stepping to the wall took it from the nail where he had hung it, and handed it to her. She thanked him, slipped the web over her Bible and proceeded on her way to Sunday School with a look of sweet peace that is known only to those who live pure lives and have their names written in the Lamb's Book of life.—Roseburg Plaindealer.

Some Woman's Way.

Jim Smith's Gem: (Not our Jim) Every girl wants to marry. She is thoroughly satisfied that a man is necessary to the proper development of a woman's life. Her ideal usually is tall with classical features, and the frame of an Achilles. He must be brave, yet gentle; a Chesterfield in manners, a Dewey in penetration, a Winston Churchill in ambition. In thought and speech he must be as unsullied as Schiller or Goethe; withal he must be strong and brave; a lion among men, a knight among ladies. But for fear she might die an old maid she will take most any lath-framed youth with mouse-colored hair and bat wing ears that comes along, smoking a coffin nail cigarette that smells worse than a burning rubber boot, and thus waste her precious life trying to love one she never admired.
