

The Pace That Tells. In the six day bicycle races the pace tells terribly at the end. Man after man falls out exhausted. The victor waddles wearily over the line. In the business race it's the same. Man after man drops out exhausted. The successful man is often a dyspeptic, unable to enjoy success. When the stomach is diseased there is not enough nutrition assimilated to sustain the body and repair the daily waste of tissues. The result is weakness, tending to collapse. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food by which the body is built up with sound, healthy flesh. "I have taken one bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. W. Wilson, of Yankin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "I had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our baby was teething and was so poor he was almost a skeleton. We gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now he is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity." Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure sick headache.

THOUGHTS AND OPINIONS.

Town Talk: The man with push is too often found working for the man with a pull.

Hear both sides and all will be clear; hear but one, and you will still be in the dark.

The reason some men never change their mind is because they have no mind of their own to change.

When trouble comes with a crisis, think twice before you act. It's sometimes more dangerous to jump than to stay with the train.

We pity the man who never forgets or forgives. The load he has to carry with each succeeding year is enough to make him round-shouldered.

A Delightful Parody.

Sing a song of penitence, A fellow full of rye, Four and twenty serpents Dancing in his eye.

When his eyes were opened, He shouted for his life, Wasn't he a pretty chump To go before his wife?

His hat was in the parlor, Underneath a chair; His boots were in the hallway; His coat was on a chair.

His trousers in the kitchen; His collar on the shelf, But he hadn't any notion Where he was himself.

When the morn was breaking Some one heard him call— His head was in the ice box, Which was the best of all.

Oregon Fossils.

Eastern Oregon seems to be a cemetery for the rarest of animal life in the long ago. The little three-toed horse—father of the equine race—is found in splendid fossil preservation, whole monkeys, parrots, clams, crawfish and many other dwellers of the earth, air and sea, are found in the same stony perfection, mummified in Nature's morgue millions of years before Egypt or her mummified Pharaohs came into existence. Our people will find that grandfather's clock and the old spinning wheel will give way to Oregon fossils in the halls of the wealthy, once they are brought to public attention. Fossil mining in Oregon ought to and will be a source of great profit.—Pacific Miper.

N. L. Chew, assistant auditor of the Treasury for the Postoffice Department, obtained his position partly on account of his name. He spends most of his time in signing warrants, and the shortness of the name is quite a factor. He can and does write it at the rate of about 6,000 times a day. Consequently he can earn more pay for the government than a man with a fine long name like Stanislaus Meloyidov von Augenguggenheimer.

Washington is now the greatest map-making city in the world, an honor formerly held by Geneva, Switzerland. The national capital is turning out more and better maps than any other of the globe and, as a result, the finest cartographers and map engravers in Europe have been attracted to this country.

No matter how much money you may have, if you are poor in character, that means poverty forever.—March Ladies' Home Journal.
