Van Curtis and two brothers, who were returning to Vale from attendance at Circuit Court here, met with an accident Monday, while going down the Smith hill, the other side of Nigger Flat, in which they all received painful injuries. They were driving a pair of bronchos, the line got under the tongue, and the animals became unmanageable and ran away throwing the occupants out among the rocks. Van had his right leg broken above the ankle, the other brothers, Allan and Lou, severe injuries about the body. They were brought back to Burns for treatment and will start for home again tomorrow or Monday.

There are many who wager that Furnish will be the next Governor, and there are others who are equally positive that Chamberlin will be elected; and while politics is now engaging the minds of many, we must not forget our every day requirements, and to do this the question arises where can we get everything we want at the lowest prices. But it is conceded in this that there is only one place where the stock of goods is carried, and where you can buy for the lowest price, the best quality of goods, and from the firm whose name is a guarantee as to quality, price and quantity of goods to select from. The firm we refer to is the "Old Reliable" and Pioneer Store at Huntington, the O. C. Co.

News reached Burns Wednesday of the death, May 6th, of T. M. Seaward, postmaster at Cord and prominent stockman of that section, after a short illness from pneumonia. The deceased was born in Schuyler County, Illinois, in 1836. In 1856 he moved to Missouri where he was married to a sister of Mr. L. B. Springer, of this place. His wife still survives him. He came to Harney County in 1886, locating in Diamond valley and a few years later in Barren valley, where he has since resided. He was the father of nine children, of which five sons and two daughters still survive him: Harrison, Lester, Thomas, John and L. M. Serward; Cassy, wife of Geo. A. Smyth of Diamond, and Anna, wife of Elsie Brown of Burns. The deceased was a veteran of the Civil War.

LOOKS GOOD FOR PUEBLO.

Miners and Capital Finding their Way into the Future Camp of Eastern Oregon.

From present indications the outlook for the Pueblo mining district is very encouraging. The reports of the richness of that section are beginning to find their way to outside mining camps and the influx of miners and mining men of means has already commenced. A party of mining men of Bisbee, Arizona, have gone into that section with a determined effort to thoroughly prospect the country. Another party of miners were in Burns last Saturday enroute to the district to drive a 600 foot tunnel for Sumpter parties, who have a good property there. Regarding the latter the Sumpter American of last week says.

"That the ore deposits of this great region is not confined to narrow limits is receiving more positive proof each day. News now comes from Harney county of a fine piece of mining property there, which, by the way, is owned by one of Sumpter's well known mining operators, T. W. Davidson, and Detroit, Mich., business men. Thursday afternoon William Bevis and S. H. Britton departed on the Whitney train for the Pueblo mountains, Harney county, where the property is located, with a contract to drive 600 feet of tunnel on a ledge that has been worked on by a force of five men for a year and a half.

"Mr. Davidson would communicate nothing in regard to the property when seen Thursday, further than admitting that he was interested in Harney county. He said he had nothing to say, was not given to mining in that manner, and terminated the interview.

When Maurice Fitzgerald, the well known Burns attorney was in this city recently, information was obtained of the property, and also of a Burns merchant, who passed through Sumpter to the Democratic state convention. The property was located by C. W. Confield, and acquired by Mr. Davidson and his Detroit associates about a year and a half ago. A crew of five men have been working there since, developing a large ledge, which assays 15 to 20 percent copper, $12 to $14 in gold and eight to ten ounces of silver. The Burns gentlemen said they were assured by the mining men who had visited the property that there were true fissure veins in the group of the greatest promise, which showed better as a little depth was attained. The walls were well defined, and from every indication, the veins will be found at great depth.

"Before departing Mr. Bevis stated that he and his men would push their contract as rapidly as possible. It is the purpose to finish the 600 feet of tunnel work contracted for early in the season, as he understood the owners were anxious to see if the splendid showing continued. Good reports are expected from this region, which is at least 120 miles from any rail lines, but in the direct route of the proposed Eureka and Eastern road, of which so much has been written of late."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Geiger and daughter, of John Day, were in Burns several days this week. They came to seek treatment for their daughter's eyes from the specialist, Dr. Clark.

The thirtieth annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association will be held in Portland on June 18th. All persons coming to, or born in, the original territory of Oregon prior to February 14th, 1859, without regard to where they now live, are eligible to membership in the association.

The exchanges are telling a good one on the teachers. A school ma'am caught the janitor in a falsehood, whereupon she asked him where he supposed he would go if he "told stories." The janitor replied that wherever he went he expected he'd be making fires for school teachers.

Has Been's Victorious.

It was the Has Been's day out last Sunday when they met and defeated the gay youngsters that pass under the appellation of Red Socks.

The defeated played a creditable game and were up to their usual form in fielding the ball, the cause of their losing the game being the unusual number of safe hits made off their pitcher, with whom it was an "oil day." Sagers pitched about the same game as on the previous Sunday, but was given better support. The fielding errors on both sides were few and the game was really better than the score would indicate. Only seven innings were played as an intertainment was on the program to follow the game.

Among the features of the game were a running catch by Dennis that might have been a three bagger, and two-baggers by Schwartz, Barrows and Sagers. The Has Been's were credited with three double plays, Ankeny, unassisted; Dennis to Cochrane, and Sagers to Schwartz to Cochrane. Several of the Red Socks did exceptionally well in their respective positions, those deserving special mention being Gould at the initial bag, Jameson at second, and Hibbard in center field. Thomas, one of the old-timers, at short did not have many chances, but fielded the position well.

The games now stand, one and one, and the third game, which will probably be played tomorrow afternoon, promises to be unusually interesting, the lads being determined to win "if it lays in the cards." The players and their positions will probably remain the same with a few exceptions.

W. E. Trisch umpired the field, while R. A. Ford called the balls and strikes. George Waters kept the score sheet.
