Deputy Sheriff Mothershead is in receipt of a communication from the Sheriff of Lassen County, California, which states that they have been following a man which they took to be Pat Moore, the murderer of George Simpson for whom there is a reward of $1000. A deputy sheriff tracked the man several days through the snow on the mountains and finally captured him. Handcuffing him he started on his return, but the fellow escaped. A description of the man was telephoned to the officers here, but it does not tally with that of Moore. However it does answer and is supposed to be that of a man named Crayton, who with another prisoner escaped from the Canyon City jail about a year ago, where he was confined on a charge of horse-stealing. He is also wanted in Morrow county.
