COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 6, 1902.

Tolstoi furnishes food for thought when he says that parents will find it more efficacious to furnish their children with good example than with good advice.

There is not a department of the government which does not show the good results of having a young, wise, fearless and energetic man in the White House.

The magnificent reception being accorded the President by the people of New England is significant of the approval the republican administration has created in all parts of the country.

Several democratic papers are electing a republican United States senator just at present. If we remember correctly we have a legislature to attend to that part of the business.—Huntington Herald.

The Salem Sentinel says fame awaits the member of the legislature who devises a tax law for Oregon that will operate with justice to all and at the same time raise sufficient revenue for all purposes.

President Roosevelt, in his speech at Hartford, said: "Fair and square dealing with all men, so that men shall have their rights under the law, that all shall be given an even chance in the struggle for life, as we can best give it."

It is a poor opinion that has to be bolstered up by a bet. A man's yea should be yea and his nay nay. Nothing can possibly be more exasperating to men of well considered views and conservatory expression than the impudent "I'll bet you," so often thrust into their faces by men who are ever ready to back their opinions with money. There is a cocksureness about such men, a claim of infallibility, that is extremely distasteful to those who order their thinking and their expression along rational lines and are willing to concede that they are afflicted with the fallibility common to mankind. It is well enough to seek the truth; well-tempered argument conduces to enlightenment, but it is pure folly to gamble on tenacity of memory or correctness of understanding. These suggestions are merely by the way; there is no charge for this preaching. Nor is there the slightest benefit that the man who delights to bluff and bet will be the least deterred from this objectionable practice by this brief lecture. It is interjected merely to emphasize the fact that it is not necessary to make a wager in order to obtain information.—Lakeview Examiner.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspaper is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medicinal triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, urea and troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a simple bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghams, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and one dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

IS THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR RIGHT?

Many Eastern Oregon papers still continue to criticize the Department of the Interior for withdrawing some 6000 sections of land from settlement, temporarily, until it can be ascertained how much of it is needed for a timber reserve.

The Department took this sudden action to prevent the filing of thousands of timber claims in the territory.

If these claims were taken, as the sworn application states, for the use of the applicant, and no other, then the territory might derive some benefit, but when it is well known that they are only a semi-lawful method of getting the timber into the hands of Eastern speculators, to hold until the development of the other resources of the country makes them of great value, that sort of argument must fail.

The rules governing forest reserves are being rapidly improved as knowledge of the conditions is brought before the Department governing them. The privilege of grazing and lumbering are allowed within these reserves under rules that simply say "thou shalt not destroy." The throwing of all these timbered slopes into the hands of a few, with absolute title, would certainly eventually end grazing upon them by the public, while under the control of the government they will always be open to all the stock they can support, while retaining their power to reproduce the native grasses.

The assurance is given that there will be no effort to place agricultural land desirable for homesteads into the reserve, and we believe these pledges.

The saving from the hands of speculators, and for the benefit of future homesteaders, of the timber in our estimation one of the most timely acts for the good of Oregon that can be credited to this or any other administration.—Dufur Dispatch.

"Suppose we take the tariff off beef, and then suppose the herds of cattle from Mexico and South America are brought in by the hundred thousand. They will find their way to the stock yards, and the butchers will be compelled to bid against the packers then as now. No. The removal of the tariff on live stock and meat would not restore the butchers to business. It might ruin the farmers, but the packers could stand it; for nothing less than organized capital could enter the import meat business with packing houses in foreign countries, refrigerating ships and other expensive equipment. I happen to know that at least one, and I understand two, of the big packing houses have had men looking into the South American field for more than two years. The farmer, as it is, has ample reason to be apprehensive."—Secretary Shaw, at Morrisville, Vt., August 19, 1902.

They talked of this and they talked of that, she through her bonnet and he through his hat; he whispered lies of the genus white, she swallowing them in her new delight. Upon the lever her hand he placed, to guard the auto, and round her waist his arm like a noiseless serpent crawled, and closer to him her form he hauled. He breathed in her ear the usual words that lovers toss to the dicky birds, and she responded in tones so sweet each sugared sentence seemed good to eat. He'd won the prize and his soul was filled with joy till the foam o'er the edges spilled, and she was happy to think she'd caught a handsome fellow who owned an aut, and the jay-birds chattered and rustic cows bawled hoarse hooraws to their fresh sealed vows.

The body of an unknown was found in a small Kansas town recently. In his pockets were $100 in cash and a fine revolver. The coroner took $75 for funeral expenses, the judge fined the corpse $25 for carrying concealed weapons and also took the gun; the local paper published the obituary and got—nothing.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somewhat the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking
