ARE WEARY OF WAITING.

Secretary Hitchcock May Pass Oregon In Irrigation Plans.

A late Washington dispatch to the Oregonian, which we give space below, confirms what was said in an article taken from the same paper last week.

Although the plans and other data regarding the Silvies River project were forwarded to the state irrigation committee some two weeks ago, the papers are evidently being held up there as ample time has elapsed for them to have reached the hands of the Government officials, but they may yet arrive in time for official notice before any action is taken on other projects. The dispatch referred to above is as follows:

"As soon as Congress adjourns and Senators and Representatives are well away from Washington, Secretary Hitchcock will take steps looking to apportioning among the Western States the irrigation work first to be undertaken under the general law passed last session. Until that time no public announcement as to choice will be made, as the Secretary has determined that political interference will not be tolerated with regard to this great work, but that only such projects as are, on their face, most attractive and promising, shall be considered and followed out."

The chance for Oregon securing one of the first works is fast ebbing away. Since the irrigation convention held about seven weeks ago, the Geological Survey has heard nothing as to local projects from the special committee, and is somewhat at a loss to understand the apparent lack of interest in the work on the part of the Oregon people. Already the survey has submitted to Secretary Hitchcock the records with regard to a number of projects that are recommended more or less strongly, but none in Oregon.

The survey officials here have been waiting for the irrigation committee, which was chosen to advise the department as to the most favored localities in Oregon, in order that the wishes of the people might be carried out as nearly as possible. If this report is not soon made, the survey will not have time, before the Secretary announces his choice, to inspect and report upon the site of proposed works in Oregon, and the state will have to take a second choice, and possibly wait for a year or more, until sufficient funds have accumulated in the Treasury to cover the cost of the favored Oregon scheme.

In the meantime, nothing has been done with regard to the Deschutes withdrawal under the Carey act, upon which a report was submitted some weeks ago. Unfortunately, the Geological Survey knows more about this locality than any other, but, with private enterprise holding right of way and there being no disposition to uproot vested rights in this vicinity, some other site must be chosen. If Oregon is not on the first list of works to be constructed, the most it can expect next Summer will be detailed examination of several projects which are reported upon by the local committee, if such report is ever made.

Both houses of the state legislature have passed the library bill, which was amended so as to apply only to Multnomah county, instead of to all the counties.

The birthday of President McKinley was observed Tuesday by the leading men of the Nation at a banquet at Canton, Ohio. President Roosevelt headed a notable gathering and delivered an eloquent eulogy on his predecessor.

A bill relative to Road Supervisors, has passed the lower house of the state legislature. The act changes the time that Road Supervisors shall begin their duties from June to January. It also cuts out penalties for failure of any elected or appointed Supervisor to qualify. The bill further provides that appointments to vacancies may be made at any time by the County Court.

Newt Hoover came up from Lawen yesterday, and is today fixing up his bonds as stock-inspector, to which position he was appointed at the recent meeting of the county court. He says his first trip will take him in a few days to the southern part of the county, where a disease is said to exist among sheep. Stock in his neighborhood he says are in good condition.

A report has been current in Burns the past few days to the effect that W. D. Hanley of this place, M. K. Parsons, of Salt Lake and C. E. S. Wood, of Portland, have purchased all the Pacific Live Stock Company's property in Oregon, consideration said to be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. However we are unable at this time to confirm the report.

Harney County, the last week experienced another sudden change of the elements that go to make up our weather. The mild chinook of last week was this week changed into a blizzard that would compare favorably with a western Kansas and Nebraska zephyr, accompanied by snow in sufficient quantity to make the pedestrian forget his earlier teaching whenever a snow drift was run against.

Cards were received here Sunday announcing the marriage of Benjamin D. McIntyre to Miss Violet Cecilia Say, January 21, 1903, at the St. Michael's Cathedral, Boise, Idaho. Mr. McIntyre is well known in this county, particularly in Burns, where he resided for a number of years, and where he still holds property interests. We join his many friends here in wishing him and bride all the happiness of a long and happy wedded life.

In case the Oregon legislature cannot agree upon a U. S. senator and they want a good man, there are several in Prineville that could be recommended that would not be adverse to assuming the senatorial toga. Not as they are aspirants, but would discommodate themselves to see Oregon and the dear people represented well.—Prineville Review.

Under the same conditions, there are probably two or three men in Burns, who would be willing to sacrifice their present business to heed a call from the people.

Lee Caldwell is in receipt of the monthly report of the scholarship of his son, Johnnie, who is attending the Academy in Pendleton. The report is an excellent showing, and is proof that Master Johnnie, is availing himself of the opportunity, and putting forth his best efforts to fit himself for future life's work. His standing is as follows: spelling, 90; reading, 85; penmanship, 85; grammar, 99; word analysis, 98; written arithmetic, 94; mental arithmetic, 95; history, 100; composition, 92; physiology, 95; instrumental music, 90; vocal music, 88—average 92½.

Reduction prices make business. N. Brown & Sons will continue low prices for some time yet.

Still No Senator.

The present week has brought no change in the senatorial situation, at least as viewed from long range. The vote is nearly the same as last week. It is as follows:

Monday—Jan. 26—Fulton, 21;

Geer, 13; Wood, 14; scattering, 18; absent and paired, 24.

Tuesday—Fulton, 32; Geer, 17;

Wood, 17; scattering, 21; absent, 3.

Wednesday—Fulton, 33; Geer,

16; Wood, 17; scattering, 20.

Thursday and Friday—Same as Wednesday.
