Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. Death of J. E. McCulley.

The Council (Ida.) Advance has this to say of the death of J. E. McCulley, who is well known in this section and who at one time was a prominent business man of Burns:

"J. E. McCulley, proprietor of a saloon and hotel at the mouth of Grouse Creek, 12 miles south of Warren arrived the other day and registered at the Overland. He had been ailing several months, and his condition becoming rapidly worse, he came to Council for treatment. Friday it was seen that his condition had not improved, but no one dreamed the end was only a few hours off. Saturday his condition seemed better, but it was only the beginning of the final change that occurred Sunday evening, April 26, when he passed away. M. W. Addington took charge of the personal effects he had with him, $128.80 in cash and checks and a valuable gold watch, with the photos of two handsome girls on the inside case, but no clue as to who they were or where they might be found, or anything to indicate the whereabouts of friends or relatives. The body was laid to rest in the Keseler cemetery on April 27."

(The deceased was formerly part owner in the Red Front livery barn at this place, and possessed of other property interests in the city. He has many friends in this county who will be sorry to learn of his untimely demise.)

H. Y. Blackwell, the well known cattle buyer, has been an Ontario visitor for several days. Henry has 600 head of choice cattle awaiting shipment at Huntington.—Argus.
